VOL. 35 No. 49 | Four Sections | Lancaster Farming, Saturday, October 20, 1990 | 50¢ Per Copy | $15.00 Per Year

Maryland Has Top National 4-H Dairy Judge

MADISON, WI — Two Maryland team members earned higher scores in national 4-H dairy cattle judging competition on Oct. 2 at Madison, Wis., than they did eight days earlier in a regional contest at Harrisburg. These scores were high enough to boost the Maryland team to a fourth-place finish.

Amy Brown, 19, of Roxbury (Howard County) placed first in the national 4-H dairy cattle judging contest at Madison. She had been tenth in the overall standings among 67 individuals from 17 states at Harrisburg.

Mike Conner, 16, of Chester Harbor (Queen Anne's County) was 21st in the Harrisburg contest as the alternate Maryland team member. He qualified as a regular team member at Madison by placing 18th in the overall standings.

There were 148 participants from 36 states and the Canadian providence of Ontario in the national contest. It was part of the 36th annual National 4-H Dairy Conference, held in conjunction with the World Dairy Expo.

Amy Brown's individual championship in this year's national contest contrasts with her sixth-place finish among senior contestants in the state 4-H dairy cattle judging contest, held Sept. 1 during the Maryland State Fair in Timonium.

On her way to the overall national championship at Madison, Amy placed third in Jersey

National FFA Honors Garden Spot's Erosion Control Project

Part 1 of 2

Editor's note: Many FFA programs in various high schools are taking a more active role in studying and applying soil conservation technology and practices to farming.

Recently, Garden Spot High School in New Holland, Lancaster Co., was honored as eastern regional finalist in a national FFA program to promote conservation practices.

In this first of a two-part series, Lancaster Farming takes a look at what more than 100 FFA students did as part of the award-winning project.

TERRE HILL (Lancaster Co.) — A lot of planning, fund-raising, hard work, and cutting through bureaucratic red tape has catapulted Garden Spot High School's Grassland FFA chapter into national prominence.

In November, the National FFA Foundation will announce the winner of the Building Our American Communities (BOAC) national award, which recognizes FFA chapters that have applied conservation practices to a particular project. Garden Spot recently captured the eastern region finalist and could win the national competition at the National FFA Convention in November.

Garden Spot's four-year long BOAC effort involved the study of — and ways to repair — erosion of farmland along a Black Creek streambed. The project was spearheaded by the efforts of advisor Robert Lauffer, ag science instructor at Garden Spot, and former project chair Shelly Ogline, Garden Spot junior and president of the Grassland FFA, and Shawn Eberly, Garden Spot senior and the current FFA BOAC chairperson. The project helped students understand the problems of erosion and what efforts could be taken to control it.

The Garden Spot project was begun in 1986 and groundbreaking began in August 1989. About $11,000 — $4,000 from the Grassland FFA Chapter and the rest from contributions from agencies and industry — was spent on the project. Major work on the project was completed last August.

Dairymen, Inc. Honors Long-Time Members, Quality Producers

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

FREDERICK, Md. — Longtime members and producers of top-quality milk were honored by the Middle Atlantic division of Dairymen, Inc., during its annual awards luncheon October 12 at the Holiday Inn. Certificates were presented by quality committee chairman Myron Wilhide.

Seven memberships were awarded plaques for half and quarter-century contracts with Dairymen and the division's predecessor, Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers.

Honored for 50 years of continuous membership were Darrell and Virginia Wolf, Middletown; Vincent and Daniel Frock, Westminster; Honeyview Farms, Mary Stonesifer, Westminster; and John and Donna Yoder, Long Green.

Recipients of 25-year membership plaques were Glenn and Jeanne Beard, Mt. Airy; Laverne, Norma, Brian, and Mark Bupp, Brogue, Pennsylvania; John and Thomas Cole, Hampstead; and Crawford and Elaine Galt, Chestertown.

Awards for upholding Dairymen's standards of outstanding quality milk were presented to 27 memberships at the cooperative's three levels of quality honors. The division's monthly Honor Roll, established in 1964, requires that members ship the entire month and meet the following standards: standard plate count less than 5,000,

Communicators Elect Officers

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—At the annual meeting of the Northeast Farm Communicators Association held recently in conjunction with the Eastern Milk Producers media banquet, Everett Newswanger, managing editor, Lancaster Farming, was elected president. Other officers elected and on the executive committee include: Jerry Reed, New York Beef Industry Council, 1st vice president; Jeff Stewart, Ag Radio Network, 2nd vice president; Chris Kimball-Peterson, K-P Ag Relations, secretary/historian; Vanna Guldenschuh, New England Farmer, treasurer; and Tony Schlesier, Eastern Milk Producers, past president.

This farm communicators association includes members from Maine to Pennsylvania and serves as a resource of farm information to fellow professionals in the general news and communications field.

New Penn State President Meets Ag Advisory Council

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

READING (Berks Co.) — "In my presidency, I want us to be sure that as we develop better research programs, we serve the people with increasing skill and we don't neglect the undergrauate programs."

This statement was made by Dr. Joab Thomas, the new president of Penn State University, as he met with the University's Agricultural Council on the Berks campus last week.

"We must continue to provide the very best in teaching environments on all of our campuses so that no shadow from research programs is cast on the teaching we provide for students," Thomas said. "I also want us to be sure we maintain high standards.

"One thing I've learned in going back into the classroom is that students are not working quite as hard as they once did," he said. "We find a deterioration of standards in every element of our society. At the same time, we have left our accademic standards to be lowered, in some places more than others. I'm pleased to find I have not found as much deterioration of standards at Penn State as I have found at some other places."

Dean Lamb Hood introduced Thomas, an Alabama native with Harvard degrees in plant biology. Hood said this background provides the linkage so critical to Thomas's relationship with agriculture.

Thomas has held faculty and adminstrative positions before becoming chancellor. He was also president of the University of Albama for five years. During a sabbatical, Thomas joined the plant pathology department at North Caralona State University. On September 1, Thomas became president of Penn State University.

"My philosophy agrees completly with the land grant philosophy," Thomas said. "Programs are oriented to people and people interact in a vital way.

"Pennsylvania agriculture is impressive to me," Thomas said. "Farm production and food processing are amoung the finest in the nation. Forestry services and horticulture likewise are very high on the agenda.

"My grandfather was a big-time farmer in that time and also in forestry. Maybe that is why the land grant philosophy is so compatible with my own. With my father, I almost grew up as a son of the land in a strong farming tradition," Thomas said.

Thomas said the knowledge gained through biotechnology has

N.Y. & Phila. Frozen Eggs

Oct. 16, 1990

The market tone ranged steady to firm. Trading activity was tempered by the higher prices. Buyers and sellers were both cautious and closely watching further market developments. Raw materials were irregularly available and most further processors adjusted schedules as necessary. Floor stocks were sufficient to satisfy current buyer needs.

National Egg Market

Wednesday, October 17, 1990

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE: The market tone was generally steady although underlying sentiment was becoming cautious. Demand was irregular but mostly moderate. Light retail promotional activity attracted the best interest. Supplies were irregularly available with large eggs moving into the longest position. Breakers were increasingly cautious and limited both receipts and schedules to actual needs.

Eastern PA & NJ Poultry

Ask the Old Farmer: We heard that years ago people added milk to whitewash to keep it from cracking and being washed away by the weather Could you tell me what proportion of milk to add? E B, O

Mix enough unslaked lime into a gallon of sweet milk to make it thicker than cream, stir in a teacup of turpentine, and put on at once with a paint brush It will stick to smooth wood

Home Hints: A mixture of lemon juice and salt will remove rust stains from clothing

OLD FARMER'S WEATHER FORECAST

New England: Most of this week is rainy, but warm This month's average of 59° F is 4° above the norm Clearing and cold for week's end

Greater New York-New Jersey: First scattered showers throughout the region, then clear and pleasant before becoming partly cloudy and cool

Middle Atlantic Coastal: The week is off to a rainy start, but after that it's clear sailing, sunny and warm Some clouds appear on Sunday

Piedmont & Southeast Coastal: No complaints this week, just lovely weather, clear and warm A few showers and a cooling trend end the week

OPINION

Farmer's View Must Be Heard

In Pennsylvania, more and more issues are emerging in the area of solid waste and its use. But one basic point seems to be forgotten. All of our efforts to deal with pesticides, solid waste, septage from septic tanks, sludge from wastewater treatment plants, and all of the other throwaways are really efforts to protect our groundwater.

A Pennsylvania committee to address groundwater public policy has been assembled. This committee is a joint effort by Cooperative Extension, the Soil and Water Conservation Society, The Freshwater Foundation, and the League of Women Voters. According to Guy Temple, extension agent, Union County, the goal is to provide citizens and public officials with timely, relevant information from credible, scientific sources about groundwater quality problems, policy alternatives, and their consequences.

Almost every aspect of the rural groundwater quality issue breaks with tradition. Compared with soil erosion and surface water quality, groundwater quality problems and solutions are more complex and scientifically uncertain. Because most rural land uses represent contamination threats, stakeholders in the groundwater issue run the gamut from farmers to homeowners to municipal water suppliers. Perhaps the issue's most important feature is that human health is the primary force driving demands for policy change. Concerns over adverse human health effects from drinking contaminated groundwater have added intensity and urgency to the issue and is bringing it to the forefront of environmental policy-making at federal, state, and local levels.

Making public policy choices about groundwater quality presents an enormous challenge. This challenge can be met if we work to inform the policy debate. While physical and technological information about groundwater problems and solutions is intergral to this educational process, we must remember to focus on the key management variables — the policies and instutions that influence human choices about technologies and practices that affect groundwater quality.

And in all the discussions, the farmer's view must also be heard.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Pick and Store Apples

Whether you grow apples or just like to eat them, it's important to store them properly.

Cool apples will keep longer. Ideally, they should be stored at 33°F, at 90 percent humidity, and in dim light or darkness.

Now as to picking, it's a good practice to store the fruit in shade as it is picked, then allow it to stand in the orchard overnight to cool. Then, place the apples in storage early in the morning before the temperature rises too much.

If you leave apples in a packing shed or in piles under the tree for one week, you'll shorten their storage life by about five weeks. So, keep apples cool, maintain good air circulation during storage, and your apples should keep a long time.

To Plan Winter Weed Control In Alfalfa

As the alfalfa plant slows down and prepares to go into dormancy, other plant populations in that same field can be increasing in vigor and growth. These are the winter annual weeds: chickweed, shepherds purse, yellow rocket and some grassy weeds which overwinter. All are in their young stages of growth.

You'll not see crop injury now, but wait until that first cutting comes off next May. Those same little weeds all will have flowered and set seed by that time. Not only do yield losses occur but field curing problems and lower hay quality results.

Fall applied herbicide(s) will largely eliminate the costly winter weed problem. The Agronomy Guide lists a number of effective materials. Follow label instructions for application rates.

To Check Ventilation Equipment For Winter

Exhaust fans in dairy and poultry houses have a heavy ventilation job to do. They remove moisture and dust, and in many cases run almost continually from October to April.

To make your ventilation system ready for winter, several items may need attention. The fan blades, motor enclosures and louvered shutters need cleaned frequently. Loose belts are common on belt driven fans. Fan output varies directly with fan speed. A 10 percent loss in R.P.M.'s of the fan means a 10 percent loss in air delivery.

Check the thermostat for accuracy by hanging a thermometer beside it for easy comparison. Be sure the sensing element is clean and free from dust.

To Be Aware Of Evergreen Needle Drop

Don't push the panic button if some of your evergreens are dropping their needles this fall. It's normal for pines, spruce and similar evergreens to drop one year's growth of needles this time of year.

The needles you see falling are those nearest the center of the tree. The younger, green needles are at the ends of the branches. Scotch pines will lose their 3-year-old needles... while red pine drops its 4-year-old needles.

During this period of shedding, the trees may look like they're dead or dying, but as soon as a hard wind or rain hits them, the old needles will fall to the ground and the tree will look normal again.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHEN WE WEARY GOD
October 21, 1990

Background Scripture: Isaiah 7. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 43:1-7.

Nothing sounds more impossible than that human beings should have the power to make God weary. But that's what Isaiah says: "Hear then, O house of David! Is it too little for you to weary men, that you weary my God also?" (7:13). Isaiah does not mean that God is physically exhausted, but that his patience is. God was "tired" of Judah's lack of faith in him.

It is difficult for us to imagine God with a patience that can be exhausted. This is directly contrary to our understanding of God. We must remember, however, that Isaiah is interpreting God in human terms. He is imputing to God the same mortal limits that we all have. It is like saying, "If I were God, I'd certainly be fed up with Ahaz and his kingdom." But, of course, we are not God, no matter how often we may forget that all-important fact.

A MATTER OF TRUST

Although it is not likely that Ahaz and the people of Judah actually wearied God, their response to him must have been very displeasing (to use once more a human term!). Their lack of trust in him resulted in a breakdown in their relationship with him. So, when they "wearied" God, as Isaiah put it, they were the ones who suffered from that disruption of the relationship.

What was it about Ahaz and the people of Judah that damaged this relationship? Essentially, it was a lack of trust. Perhaps that is not apparent when we first read this chapter. We can sympathize with the people of Judah. The teaming-up of Syria with their Israelite cousins certainly was a legitimate reason for concern. But Isaiah does not say that they were simply "concerned"; he says: "When the house of David was told, 'Syria is in league with Ephraim,' his (Ahaz) heart and the heart of his people shook as the trees of the forest shake before the wind" (7:2).

"ASK A SIGN!"

It was one thing for them to be concerned, but something else to be terrified out of their minds. Their terror was an overreaction that could only mean they did not trust God to save them, despite the fact that with his help they had already repulsed these untied armies. They were disregarding the help he had already given them.

"Ask a sign of the Lord your God; let it be as deep as Sheol or high as heaven" (7:10), God challenged Ahaz. Ahaz's refusal to ask a sign of God indicated that he really didn't believe the sign would be granted. So to save both himself and God of this embarrassment, he refused.

And that's the way it will always be when our ultimate trust is in ourselves, not the Lord.

Everything you liked about the 485 tractor is now in the new 495.

495 Tractor (42 PTO hp/31.3 kW)

And you get a lot more, too. Including new transmission options (like a synchronized shuttle shift and creeper speeds) and easier, faster shifting between gears. Exceptional visibility. And loaders improved for better visibility and serviceability. All to make the work go easier and faster.

Best of all, the new Case International 495 tractor promises the same durability and reliability you've come to expect from the 485. So you get the performance you're accustomed to, year after year.

See the new Case International 495 tractor today.

What's the difference between these two nutrient-rich calf formulas?

Milk Replacer $23.80 per calf. Whole Milk $49 per calf.

About $25 per calf.*

Improved Agway Blue Label and Maxi Care™ milk replacers can cut your calf feeding costs by more than 50%.

At these prices, feeding your calves whole milk doesn't make a whole lot of sense. The average calf consumes about 350 lbs of whole milk at a cost of about $49 per calf. While a calf raised on milk replacer can be fed for just 68 cents per lb and needs only 35 lbs of milk replacer to equal the nutritional value of 350 lbs. of whole milk Improved Agway Blue Label is an economical, superior choice for calf raisers And both Blue Label and Maxi Care contain the patented Land-O-Lakes ingredient, Glymaxene, to help reduce scours

For more details, contact your local Agway store or Farm Enterprise salesperson

75¢ OFF Regular Price

Keystone Announces Scholarships

SHOEMAKERSVILLE (Berks Co.)— Keystone Farm Credit, ACA announces the availability of two $500 scholarships toward the higher education of students planning to pursue careers in agriculture.

Keystone, serving the financial needs of agriculture and rural residents in the 15-county southeastern Pennsylvania area, will award one scholarship in each of its two regions.

Region I is comprised of Chester, Delaware, Lancaster, Lebanon, and Lower Dauphin counties. Upper Dauphin, Berks, Bucks, Carbon, Lehigh, Monroe, Montgomery, Northampton, Philadelphia, Pike and Schuylkill are in Region II.

An applicant's parent(s) or guardian(s) must reside in one of the above counties. Applicants must be high school seniors planning to attend a four-year college on a full-time basis with agriculture or agribusiness as the major emphasis of study.

Notification of the availability of the scholarships is being sent to the administrators of the secondary schools in the 15-county area. Keystone Farm Credit, ACA also intends to reach as many of the private schools in the area as possible; scholarships are not limited to the public school systems.

Anyone whose educational institution was not contacted should not consider himself or herself excluded from requesting an application form. Contact Keystone Farm Credit, ACA, Attention Carol M. Mercner, P.O. Box 687, Avondale, PA 19311, (215) 268-3865.

Low-Interest Tech Loans Available

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania farmers who want to employ new technology on the farm can fund projects through low-interest loans from the Department of Agriculture, Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff said recently.

The Agricultural Technology Loan Program (ATLP) will accept applications from Oct. 15 until Dec. 31.

"Pennsylvania farms are small businesses that generate jobs and economic activity," Wolff said. "These loans are economic development tools for rural areas."

Matching loans of up to $50,000 are available at an interest rate one-half of the federal discount rate. Last year's loan rate was 3.5 percent.

Farmers demonstrating the greatest need and proposing the most innovative use of technology will be awarded the low-cost loans for projects that will increase productivity or provide entry into new product areas, Wolff said.

Farm Print Benefits March Of Dimes

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Division of the March of Dimes is presenting this limited edition print by Bruce Johnson entitled "August Afternoon, Lancaster". Bruce Johnson, AWS, is a renowned area artist. The print depicts a beautiful Lancaster County dairy farm scene. There are only 250 limited edition prints available, and each watercolor is 11½ "x17¾ ". The unframed print is expertly reproduced on 90 lb., 100% rag, Beckett Buckeye limited cover stock, with smooth finish. The paper's neutral pH maintains its color over time. The print is sold in a protective plastic sleeve. To reserve your print, either call the March of Dimes at 397-6131, or go to the Lancaster Office at 1025 Maple Avenue in Lancaster. Each copy is $85 plus PA sales tax. Sales of the print will benefit the Lancaster County March of Dimes in its Campaign for Healthier Babies.

Middle-Atlantic Division Holds Annual Meeting

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

FREDERICK, Md. — Despite months of work toward a 1990 Farm Bill by congressional committees and representatives on Capitol Hill, legislation governing the dairy industry will ultimately be budget driven, says the president of Dairymen, Inc.

"They're talking now about a five-cent assessment per hundredweight for fiscal 1990, and a ten-cent assessment for the four following years," said Ray Moss Tucker, president of the southeast's largest dairy cooperative Tucker addressed the annual meeting of the dairy cooperative's Middle Atlantic Division, held October 12 at the Frederick Holiday Inn. Dairymen, Inc., is headquartered in Louisville, Kentucky, with division offices at Sykesville.

The Finchville, Kentucky, dairy farmer noted that a ten-cent per hundredweight assessment on milk would equal $150 million per year deducted from dairy farmer milk checks.

"We'll ask the Secretary to do a study of alternatives to the ten-cents," he added. "Our concern is that if no alternatives are found, the assessment could become permanent."

The current round of GATT talks on international trade should also be of great concern to dairy farmers, he warned. While Secretary of Agriculture Clayton Yuetter previously told ag leaders he would not trade one commodity off for another, it "looks like he's willing to give up Section 22 (import protection) in dairy, and that would not be favorable to American dairy farmers."

A current round of hearings on the federal order system is "strictly political" in Tucker's opinion, with the Justice Department involved and aiming at doing away with the order system. Of some 80 expected proposals, only 10 have yet been presented after several hearings. That leaves a backup which could result in a prolonged final hearing, scheduled during November in Texas. Several southeast region cooperatives, including Dairymen, Inc., are working together through a joint fund to participate in the hearing process.

Tucker reviewed Dairymen's decision last November to close some processing plants and cover costs over the next ten months. That financial adjustment period is now complete. In addition, the cooperative cut operating costs by $3 million.

Division president Fred Butler, speaking briefly on Dairymen restructing, told Middle-Atlantic members that the cooperative is in good financial condition and that "tough decisions" had been made. Competitive pay prices for member-producers, he said, is the focus for the coming year.

Butler, a dairy farmer from Inwood, West Virginia, expressed concern over the inability of the nation's leadership in Washington to have "the backbone to reduce deficit spending by cutting costs."

"America is too strong to be so weak," he cautioned.

Commending members for the quality of milk they are producing for the market, Butler asked them to continue their "good work." Farming, he added, has become everybody's business, and everyone, farmers included, want safe, wholesome food, clean air and water. But the public percection of what is acceptable is what is changing.

A promotion presentation by Jim Williamson, Southeast United Dairy Industry Association, updated Dairymen members on the use of the "local" ten cents of the 15-cent advertising checkoff. Also addressing the gathering was division Young Dairymen winner Michael Herring, Uniontown. Herring, and his wife Debbie will represent the division at the cooperative's Young Dairymen contest during the annual meeting, December 13 and 14, in Nashville, Tennessee.

Board committee reports to the Middle Atlantic division membership were presented by membership chairman Jesse Burall, Monrovia, hauling chairman Harold Martin, Oxford, Pennsylvania, and supply chairman, Marlin Martin, Smithsburg.

Harry W. Hummel, Grantsville R2, was honored on his retirement as director from District #11. Five directors were ratified by the membership to serve three-year terms on the division board. They are: Jesse Burall, Monrovia; District #4, Joyce Bupp, Seven Valleys, Pa., District #7, William Jackson, New Salem, Pa., District #11, Marlin Martin, Smithsburg, District #12, and Paul Waybright, Gettysburg, District #13.

Fisher Sees Chinese Agriculture

CANTON, Peoples Republic of China — Imagine 700 acres of wheat at harvest time. Now imagine no combines. Grab your sickle and head out into the field. That wouldn't work, you'd be harvesting until next spring. But what if you were surrounded by countless people, each with a sickle in his hand? That would work, if you had enough people. It wouldn't be particularly efficient, but it would work.

In the People's Republic of China, where a majority of the agricultural production is done "the old-fashioned way," the term "labor shortage" is probably not in their vocabulary. In fact, it's quite the opposite situation, according to Steve Fisher, of Oley, Pennsylvania, who recently returned from a tour of Chinese agriculture.

Fisher, who serves on the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Forage and Grassland Council, says the technology for increased mechanization is there, but because of the abundance of people, hand labor is an important part of the economy.

"Mechanization isn't the direction they want to go yet," he explains. "There are more than a billion people in China, and approximately 80 percent of them are involved in agriculture. If they were to extensively mechanize their farming operations, a lot of people would be out of work."

The wheat fields he saw being harvested were in the western province of Xinjiang, and were very large, he says, 600 or 700 acres. "They were filled with people, cutting the wheat with sickles, tying sheaves and making shocks."

Fisher was in China as part of a grassland management delegation with People to People International, an organization founded in 1956 by President Dwight D. Eishenhower. Its Citizen Ambassador Program allows Americans to visit and interact with people of other nations, promoting understanding and good will between people from different cultures.

Fisher's participation was made possible through sponsorship by FMC Corporation. He holds the distinction of being a "Master Sales Representative" for the ag chemical company, his employer for the past 18 years. John Steffel, FMC's regional sales manager, saw the trip as a great learning opportunity for Fisher, on both personal and professional levels.

"I wasn't representing FMC in any official capacity," Fisher explains, "but when the leaders of the Chinese delegation discovered I worked for them, they went out of their way to treat me right. FMC does a lot of business in China, and the Chinese hold the company in very high regard."

China is a very large country with a diverse heritage and many different climates. Expecting the agriculture to be the same throughout would be like walking onto a dairy farm in Vermont and assuming that all American agriculture is similar, he says.

The agriculture in the area around Bejing provided examples of a wide variety of cultivated crops, he says. Vegetables, grain, and fruit are all raised in the productive soil. Many different techniques are utilized to help maximize production, including intercropping, double-cropping, no-till and elaborate ditch irrigation systems.

The quality of the crop was quite impressive, he says, especially when you consider that it's all done with manual labor. They do have small tractors, which are the same everywhere, but they are not used in the field, mostly just to "drag wagons around. They're really not much more than a glorified garden tractor," he comments.

It was very difficult from Inner Mongolia, Fisher says, where the nomadic Mongol plainsmen grazed large herds of sheep, goats, cattle, horses and camels. "They have vast herds of horses," he says. "They raise them both for transportation and as a food source."

The grazing management is very labor intensive as well, he says. During the spring and summer, the Mongol herders are constantly on the move, herding the cattle continuously to avoid overgrazing. Fences are nowhere to be seen. While on the move, they live in little tents called "yurts."

Their winter months are spent in communities referred to as "collectives," he says. They have small horses ("not much bigger than what we'd call a pony") and dogs to help move the animals where they want them.

Cultivated forage crops are somewhat rare, Fisher says, but what he did see was sometimes quite different from what you would see in the United States. They grow a high-protein legume called "stylosanhus," which is similar to alfalfa, "but much stemmier," he says. "They feed it green. I think if they were to dry it, it wouldn't be very palatable; it would be like feeding sticks."

When the plant is mature they can get five cuttings a year, and it is often interplanted with lychee trees. These trees yield a small, sweet fruit — a lychee nut — that is very popular in China. "They're very good to eat," Fisher says. "I don't know why they're not more popular over here."

An excellent vegetable crop grows between Canton and Hong Kong.

Other forages he saw were "elephant grass," and a crop they call "Mexican corn," which tassels like conventional corn but does not produce a viable ear. "The ears will produce seeds, but the nutrition of the crop is in the stalk," Fisher explains. "It naturally produces multiple cuttings like sugargrass."

One problem he observed with the cultivated forages was that the soil was often quite acidic, and he saw no lime being applied. "It seems to me they're attacking the problem backward," he notes. "Rather than trying to change the acidity of the soil they're trying to develop legumes that are tolerant to high acidity.

"That's probably because of the lack of mechanization, but I'm sure it will end up costing them production," he adds.

It's kind of ironic, he says, that many of the forage crops seen in the United States today were originally brought over from that area of the world in the 1920s and '30s. And today, improved strains of some of the same crops are being brought back.

"A lot of what was brought out of China to improve rangelands in the U.S. and Canada are now going back again," he says. "We've been able to improve on these crops with selection and breeding. It's gone full circle."

Deer Issue At Forefront Of Meeting

BRUSH VALLEY (Indiana Co.) — The Indiana County Farmers Association (ICFA) voted recently to take a tough stand on the growing problem of white-tailed deer damage in the area.

The ICFA, which represents 422 farms and agribusinesses, officially adopted a policy recommending that the Pennsylvania Farmers Association (PFA) initiate a class action suit on behalf of the state's farmers against the Pennsylvania Game Commission for the purpose of recovering crop damage done by wildlife, especially deer.

The recommendation, made during the association's annual meeting in Brush Valley, is part of a package of proposals to be forwarded to the PFA for possible legislative action by the larger statewide group of farmers.

At least one farmer at the meeting expressed a concern that the threat of a lawsuit might dampen what he felt was a new spirit of cooperation from the Game Commission in trying to conhtrol the state's deer population.

The commission has announced some farmland may be designated "hot spots," which have excessive deer herds and which may be targeted for extended hunting seasons after the regular seasons are over.

But Brad Neal, vice president of the ICFA, said he personally believed the Game Commission was not doing all it could to reduce deer numbers, and agreed with the suggestion the class action suit might convince the Game Commission of the farmers' resolve to reduce crop damage.

Ted Godshall, public information officer for the Game Commission, said from his Harrisburg office that the state will offer 800,000 antlerless deer licenses across the state for the regular three-day season Dec. 10-12, but if a sufficient number of deer are not harvested, the commission's executive director may authorize an extended doe season. The possible extended season could be later in December or sometime in January, Godshall said.

The extra season might be held statewide, only in certain regions or just on the farmlands designated "hot spots."

To qualify their property for the extended hunting season, Godshall said farmers must contact the Game Commission by Oct. 15. Game protectors will inspect the property, verify crop damage, and possibly designate the land as a hot spot.

The farmers will be given special signs which must be posted on the property before the regular deer season begins, alerting hunters that they may be able to return to that same property later in the winter if the season is extended.

Also, in order to qualify, farmers must agree to sign up for the Game Commissioners safety zone program — which opens their

Amy also won the $500 Lawrence O. Colebank scholarship award for being high overall individual in 4-H dairy cattle judging at Madison. This award is given annually by the American Guernsey Cattle Club of Reynoldsburg, Ohio.

Mike Conner was fifth in Ayrshire cattle judging, 13th in reasons, 15th in Guernseys, and 23rd in Brown Swiss judging. He had been fourth in the state contest on Sept. 1.

Blair Hill, 16, of Lisbon (Howard County) placed 20th in the overall standings at Madison. He was 14th in reasons, 26th in Guernsey judging, 28th in Holsteins, and 30th in Ayrshire judging.

Raymond "Chip" Long, 18, of Graceham (Frederick County) was the alternate Maryland team member at Madison. He placed 28th in the overall standings, eighth in Jersey cattle judging and 29th in Holsteins.

The Maryland team placed second in reasons, second in Guernsey cattle judging, fourth in Jerseys, fourth in Ayrshires, sixth in Holsteins, and ninth in Brown Swiss classes.

Coaching Maryland 4-H dairy cattle judging teams for the ninth consecutive year is Dr. J. Lee Majeskie of Calverton (Prince George's County), a dairy herd management specialist for the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service.

Maryland teams have won the national 4-H dairy cattle judging contest 25 times in the 70-year history of the event — including 1989 — a record unmatched by any other state. Dr. Majeskie has coached two of Maryland's national champion teams.

Previous national 4-H dairy cattle judging champions from Maryland include William L. Swift III of Shepperd (Baltimore County) in 1985; Michael J. Allen of Jefferson in 1981 and Ronnie Kling of Taneytown in 1974, both from Frederick County.

Also Barbara Whipp of Gaithersburg (Montgomery County) in 1965 and Dottie Grove of Hagerstown (Washington County) in 1961.

Wolff Chairs NASDA

RICHMOND, Va. — Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Boyd E. Wolff has been elected chairman of the Northeastern Region of the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NASDA) during the organization's 75th anniversary meeting here.

Wolff replaces August Shumacher Jr., who resigned as Massachusetts Commissioner of Food and Agriculture to join the World Bank.

Wolff, who serves as chairman of NASDA's Dairy Food and Drug Committee, was also elected to serve on NASDA's Board of Directors.

"Today's agricultural marketing crosses state lines as if they don't exist, so an organization like NASDA serves important functions helping state regulators communicate and coordinate activities," Wolff said. "I'm honored to serve with this organization."

To attain the Excellence award level, a member must meet the Honor Roll standards every month of the year, as well as score 99 or 100 points on inspections.

Gold level quality awards went to six Dairymen division members, who met Honor Roll standards each month and attained inspection scores of 92 and up. Recipients of the Gold Award were Millard and Nancy Kefauver, Jr., Keedysville; Robert Mays, New Freedom, Pennsylvania; W. Wiley and J. Walter Rutledge, Jarrettsville; Ernest and Miriam Slabaugh, Myersdale, Pennsylvania; Douglas and Rose Smith, Street; and Dorothy and Richard Strickhouser, Taneytown.

Members recognized at the Silver quality level quality for the Honor Roll 11 months, with a standard plate of less than 50,000 on the off month. Receiving Silver certificates were Sterling Alban, Manchester; Barnesdale Farm, Gary Derr, Mt. Airy; Mark and Donna Garber, Waynesboro; Ray and Roer Garber, Chambersburg;

39 Earn ADC's Quality Premium Award

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.)— Thirty-nine members of Atlantic Dairy Cooperative have earned the cooperative's 1990 Quality Premium Award, which recognizes superior quality milk production.

The award is presented to members who qualify for either the 10-cent or 20-cent per hundredweight quality milk bonus all 12 months of the fiscal year. A plaque will be awarded to each winner at local and district meetings either this fall or next spring.

Begun in 1987, Atlantic's two-tier quality premium program provides a financial incentive to members to produce milk of the highest quality. Members must meet a series of seven quality standards to obtain the bonus.

During the 1989-1990 fiscal year, $2.2 million was paid out in quality bonuses on more than 1.6 billion pounds of milk. On the average, 46.5 percent of members earned the extra payments. Of this 31.4 percent received the 10-cent premium, and 15.1 percent received the 20-cent premium.

"A great deal of credit and congratulations goes to our members for their hard work in producing a good, wholesome, quality product," said Don M. Breiner, quality and field services manager.

According to Breiner, the percentage of members receiving the quality bonus has grown from 38.6 percent in 1987 to this year's average of 46.5 percent.

"It takes a commitment to do the job right and to pay attention to detail," Breiner said of earning the premium. "We are proud of these members."

District 1: Harold Halteman, Telford; and David W. Wurster, Ottsville.

Testing: What's Good For Dairyman Is Good For Dairy Testing

BOB ORMSBY
Pa. DHIA Director Member Education

The AM/PM type testing plans are not new to Pennsylvania DHIA. Their popularity has increased steadily since their inception.

Briefly, AM/PM means that one milking is not supervised during the regular test day activities. All milking times for that day are recorded and a complex formula is applied to the milk, fat and protein data to represent the missed milking.

Due largely to the tightening dairy economy and increased demand for time, DHIA members across the state have adopted AM/PM testing as the program of choice.

Approximately 44 percent of the 6,100 herds on test in Pennsylvania are enrolled in one of the A/P programs. Why is it growing in popularity?

I can identify three reasons; it is convenient, economical and accurate.

CONVENIENT

Let's take a look at convenience.

Each month, the supervisor makes one visit to the farm and "monitors" one milking. Milkweights, samples and other herd management data are all collected during the one milking visit. At the conclusion of the milking, the supervisor cleans up his equipment, packs up and is on his way, leaving the dairyman free to get back to his busy schedule.

Compare that to leaving the equipment and returning to monitor the next milking to record milkweights and collect samples from the same cows.

The A/P factors can accurately determine each cow's production from the one milking each month.

Many dairymen experience a slower pace on test day because of the "testing" routine and they have welcomed the single visit alternative.

With the factors calculated, the members receive the same management information as those who purchase 2X DHI records.

For 3X herds, the A/P program requires two visits to the farm by the supervisor, still eliminating one milking.

ECONOMICAL

Now for the economical advantage. That is fairly obvious.

Labor means wages. The supervisor fees are reduced to the member because of the one visit, but he is freed to do another herd that day, increasing the number of herds that can be serviced.

Of course, there are programs where the supervisor does not have to stay at all, but for an "official" A/P test he is required. That also leaves the responsibilities of the equipment and samples to the supervisor, making him well worth the wages.

The Pa. DHIA supervisor is a trained professional and the increased opportunity to test more herds is a viable incentive for top notch supervisors.

ACCURATE

The third point is accuracy.

Several research studies to determine accuracy of A/P factoring have proven that the AM/PM program is just as accurate as the conventional 2X DHI herds.

Some of the studies were done in herds where the cows were milked with computerized equipment that recorded each cow's production to the 10th of a pound, every milking.

With 98 percent accuracy, under these conditions, A/P testing is indeed a reasonable alternative to 2X or 3X testing.

The key to the whole process is the alternating of the monitored milking from a morning milking one month to an evening milking the next.

In any given lactation, half of the tests should represent evening and the other half morning milkings. This is necessary to accomodate herds that milk on something different than a 12-hour schedule, cows that vary from morning to night and component tests that vary.

While on accuracy, I must note the quality of the milk sample.

With A/P testing, the vial is on the farm once, filled completely, and is representative of that milking.

With 2X herds, it is difficult to predict variations in the amount of milk from one milking to another, thus permitting the possibility of not getting a proportionate sample of the two milkings. This is alleviated with the A/P program.

Also, the single milking sample is refrigerated after milking and stays there until tested at the lab. This eliminates virutally all problems that could possibly arise with increased handling.

Pa. DHIA has an outstanding record for sample quality, so that should never be a factor in choosing a type of testing program. It just reinforces the accuracy of A/P testing.

AM/PM testing is official in the sense that the supervised A/P records are used by the USDA for sire summaries, and the members must follow the rules and regulations governing official type programs.

However, A/P is also incorporated into the "unofficial" type programs; owner-sampler and PRIME, where the records are

National Register Names Lancaster Tobacco Buildings

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Eighteen tobacco warehouses in Lancaster have been named to the "National Register of Historic Places," the nation's official record of buildings, structures, sites, districts, and objects deemed worthy of preservation by the U.S. Department of the Interior.

According to Dr. Brent D. Glass, executive director of the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission (PHMC), the commonwealth's official history agency, the following properties in Lancaster were entered in the National Register for their historic/architectural significance:

- American/Consolidated Tobacco Companies, 820-830 N. Prince St.
- Basch and Fisher Tobacco Warehouse, 348 New Holland Ave.
- Jacob Bowman Tobacco Warehouse, 226-230 E. Grant St.
- John Brimmer Tobacco Warehouse, 226 N. Prince St.
- Eisenlohr-Bayuk Tobacco Warehouse, N. Water St. at W. Liberty St.
- Jacob Frey Tobacco Warehouse, 210 W. Grant St.
- Henry Friedman Tobacco Warehouse, 309-11 Harrisburg Ave.
- Harrisburg Ave. Tobacco Historic District, Harrisburg Ave. at N. Mulberry St.
- B.B. Martin Tobacco Warehouse, 422-28 N. Water St.
- Edward McGovern Tobacco Warehouse, 302-04 N. Plum St.
- David Miller Tobacco Warehouse, 512 N. Market St.
- J.B. Milleysack Cigar Factory, 820 Columbia Ave.
- N. Shippen Tobacco Ave Historic District, N. Shippen St.
- R.K. Schnader and Sons, 437-39 W. Grant St.
- L.G. Sherman Tobacco Warehouse, 602 E. Marion St.
- Slater Cigar Co. 625-26 28 Columbia Ave.
- Teller Brothers, Reed Tobacco Historic District, N. Prince St., 200 block.

Established by the National Preservation Act of 1966, the "National Register of Historic Places" safeguards designated properties from federally funded or assisted projects which may endanger them.

Brenda Barrett, director of the PHMC's Bureau for Historic Preservation, which administers the statewide preservation program, said that listing in the National Register also makes owners who rehabilitate certified historic commercial properties eligible for federal tax benefits. To date, more than $500 million in federal tax incentives have been granted to property owners since the program's inception.

Limousin Numbers Jump

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. — "Increasing numbers continue to reflect the growing acceptance the Limousin breed is experiencing in the pasture, in the feedlot, and on the rail," said Dr. Wayne Vanderwert, executive vice president for the North American Limousin Foundation (NALF).

The statistics Vanderwert alludes to are the registration numbers for Limousin after the recently ended 1990 fiscal year. In sum, the 72,230 Limousin registered in 1990 — 21.5 percent more than last year — mark the fourth consecutive year of record growth for the breed. This year's heady statistics rocketed ahead of the already strong growth posted in 1988 with an increase of 9.7 percent and in 1989 with an increase of 11.9 percent.

According to Vanderwert, the numbers mean all the more if considered alongside total numbers in the seedstock arena and in the total beef industry.

USDA figures indicate the nation's beef industry hit the peak of its last expansion cycle in 1982 with an inventory of approximately 115 million head, the first time in history the peak of a current cycle did not exceed the previous one. Since 1982, inventory numbers have declined 13 percent to around 100 million head.

During the same period of time, according to the National Association of Livestock records, total registrations of the 15 largest beef breeds in the U.S. have declined 16.7 percent.

"Through this period of industrial contraction, total industry and seedstock, Limousin has increased its registration by 69.6 percent," said Vanderwert. "Limousin is without question the fastest growing beef breed during that period of time when we consider breeds registering 30,000 head or more annually.

"We've been talking about the impact concentration has had on the rest of the industry," he said. "When we look at the breed figures for the last eight years, I think it becomes apparent purebreeds are also being impacted by the same forces. Concentration in the breed business is under way and will continue at an accelerated pace."

For the last nine years, Limousin has been the fifth largest breed in the U.S. Depending on the figures released by other breeds as their 1990 fiscal years come to an end, Vanderwert speculates Limousin may be the fourth largest breed, based on annual registrations.

Vanderwert said, "The really exciting thing to limousin breeders is that the breed's expansion can be explained in real-world economic terms rather than as an industrial fad."

There is no question increasing consumer demand for leanness and increasing commercial demands for growth and performance helped open the door of expansion for the Limousin breed through the last decade.

"In the future, consumers and the commercial industry will place even more pressure on those production areas," said Vanderwert.

land to public hunting — and agree to allow the commission to publicize the location of the property.

Godshall said he had not been tracking the number of statewide requests to have land designated as hot spots. But in Ligonier, acting Game Commission information education supervisor Matt Hough said as of the first of October, about 60 requests have been received from farmers in the southwest region of the state.

According to Godshall, the state's whitetail population is about 1.5 million, and in 50 of the state's 67 counties, the deer population exceeds the Game Commission's goals in amounts ranging from 5 percent to 185 percent.

"Deer are very prolific," Godshall said. "They have a reproduction rate of 40 to 50 percent each year."

Mature does give birth each year, and have twins about 80 percent of the time. Triplets are almost as common as single births, he added.

The state's deer population has grown significantly because of nearly 10 years of mild winters and because many antlerless licenses have remained unsold in recent seasons. Lower deer mortality rates are also the result of hunters spending less time in the field than they used to, and because more land is closed to public hunting.

In an update on national legislative issues, Ted Kuchuck, the U.S. Congressional spokesman for the 4th District, briefed the farmers on recent efforts to apply capital tax gains provisions to agriculture.

"A lot of farmers wind up at retirement time finding they don't have as much income as they counted on," Kuchuck said. He said that many farmers need desperately to save tax dollars on land, timber, breeding stock, and machinery depreciation.

Senate Bill 2744 would aid farmers by providing capital gains tax provisions for capital assets held more than one year, he said. Under the proposed legislation, such assets would be taxed at a lower rate, perhaps 15 percent instead of 28 percent.

"Many farmers sell their land to finance retirement, and have to pay 28 percent right off the top," Kuchuck said.

In an update on House Resolution 4640, the Comprehensive American Wetlands Act of 1990, Kuchuck said farmers would benefit from proposals to completely exempt any prior converted wetlands from any permit or mitigation process.

Under the legislation, the Soil Conservation Service would have to notify farmers of the existence of any wetlands on their property, and the Department of the Interior would be able to buy wetlands from willing sellers, thereby giving the government the responsibility of caring for the wetlands and saving the farmer from having to pay taxes on the unusable land.

A minimum size of one acre would be required to designate a wetland, and the responsibility of designating wetlands would be shifted to the SCS, he said.

Although U.S. Rep. Joseph Kolter's 4th District is primarily an urban and industrial area, Kuchuck said the congressman is behind the farmers on four out of six national legislative issues now being debated.

Stan Fabin, of Indiana, was recognized for his eight years of service to the association, including his past four years as president.

Fabin and David Bork, Homer City, are leaving the board of directors. Elected to fill their posts were Marion Center-area farmers Wayne Black and Dan Griffith. Dan George, Homer City, was re-elected to another three-year term on the board.

More than 100 people attended the 32nd annual meeting of the Indiana County Farmers Association in Brush Valley on Sept. 26. Ed Nehrig of Homer City, left, received a letter of commendation from the American Farm Bureau for recruiting five new members into the local organization last year. Casey Neese, the 12-year-old son of William and Charleen Neese of Penn Run, was congratulated on winning the statewide tractor safety poster contest for students in his age group sponsored by the PFA's Women's Committee. Third from left is outgoing ICFA president Stan Fabir, Indiana, and at right is ICFA secretary Helen McMillen, Marion Center.

PHA Jr Nominations, 1993 Futurity Deadlines Near

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Nominations are being accepted for the 1993 Keystone Holstein Futurity for 3-year-olds, according to officials with the Pennsylvania Holstein Association (PHA).

The Keystone Hosltein 3-year-old Futurity is a project of PHA to stimulate interest in breeding and developing outstanding registered Holsteins for both structure type and production of milk and milk components.

The 1993 futurity offers a guaranteed purse of $500 to the winner.

In order to be eligible, three payments are required for each animal that competes. There is no limit on the number of heifer calves nominated by a breeder.

The rules and the conditions of the futurity are set by PHA.

• ELIBILITY: Any registered Holstein female born in Pennsylvania between Sept. 1, 1989 and August 30, 1990.

• FEES: First payment of $3 is due Dec. 1; second payment of $11 is due Sept. 30, 1991; third and final payment of $20 is due Sept. 30, 1992.

• PURSE: All futurity monies shall be used only for futurity purposes. The purse in this event will be divided with 50 percent or at least $500 being awarded to the first place animal. The remainder is to be divided among the other participants with percentages varying according to the number of exhibitors.

• REFUNDS: All nomination fees are committed to the purse. No refunds will be made whether an animal competes or eligibility is discontinued.

• MAINTAINING ELIGIBILITY: Eligibility after an animal has been nominated is maintained by making subsequent payments on due dates as specified. Owner will be notified when payment is due. Failure to make the next payment cancels eligibility.

• SALE OF ELIGIBLE ANIMALS: any animal sold after being nominated initially will remain eligible, and the new owner will be responsible for maintaining subsequent payments.

The PHA will not be responsible for any accident or injury in connection with the show.

Entry forms are available from the PHA at 839 Benner Pike, State College, 16801.

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — November 1 is the deadline for all Pennsylvania Junior Holstein members to apply for the 1990 Junior All-Pennsylvania recognition.

Those eligible are junior members who successfully showed at a district, regional or state show.

To apply, fill out the application and include a picture of your animal, along with a complete show record of your animal's placings. A panel of judges will evaluate each class and name a recipient of an All-Pa. junior member, a reserve placing and an honorable mention recipient.

For more information, contact the Pennsylvania Holstein Association at 839 Benner Pike, State College, 16801 or call (814) - 234 - 0364.

used exclusively for herd management purposes.

For AM/PM records to be used by breed associations for pedigrees and by USDA for PTA's, the test day milking intervals must be monitored by an approved interval timer. Watch this column for a description of the timers and the two AM/PM timer programs; DHI-APT and DHIR-APT.

Keep in mind, there is no universally best DHI program, because the best program is the one that meets your needs. By buying a program that meets your needs as opposed to one someone else says is the best, you get the most value from the money you spend on a testing program.

"Farming is a big investment..."

Time is valuable. An equipment breakdown in the field, delayed supplies, or sudden weather changes mean lost dollars, without quick reaction. Our GE mobile radio system gives us greater control and coordination over our operation. It's a farmer's friend."

Roger C. Garber
James M. Garber & Sons

With harvest season in full swing, your farm and equipment need to be operating at full potential. That's why more farmers are turning to General Electric Mobile Radio Systems. They provide quick, cost effective communications from home or field. It's like having another "farm hand" to help with the chores.

Dramatics Characterize KILE Beef Shows

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Simmental, Polled Hereford and Limousin beef breeding shows of the 1990 Keystone International Livestock Exposition (KILE) proved dramatic for several exhibitors.

Among the highlights of the events, was deciding the Pennsylvania Capital Futurity prior to the start of the Simmental show.

Grand champion heifer and bull premium was $1,500. Reserve titles brought a premium of $750 and $400 was paid to each class winner.

The champion futurity heifer belonged to Alissa Cowell, of Frosty Springs Farms, in Waynesburg. Cowell's heifer was born Jan. 13 and was sired by Kingpin.

The champion bull was owned by Circle S Farm, in Deshler, Ohio. Born Sept. 15, 1989, the bull — Circle S Tracker — was sired by Papillon.

Showing the reserve grand champion futurity heifer was Messick Farms of Middletown. The Messick heifer MF Miss Triumph was born March 16 and sired by Triumph.

Reserve champion bull title went to another Triumph-sired March birth, Hilltop Ace. Ace is owned by Ackerman's Simmentals in Meadville.

Entered in the futurity were 19 breeders representing five states. Judges were Don Boggs of South Dakota State University, Dan Eversole of Virginia Polytechnic and State University, and Tom Turner of Ohio State University.

In the regular KILE Simmental show, 18-year-old Tim Seedorf's entries captured both the top heifer and bull titles.

Taking reserve heifer of the Simmental's was Simme Valley Sivler Fox, owned by Jeanne and Ken White of Simmel Valley Farm, N.Y.

In the Polled Hereford show, entries from Kings Row Farms, in Asbury, N.J., took both the grand champion heifer and bull titles.

Relatively new to the beef breeding business, the 400-acre Kings Row Farms is owned by John, Jim and Frank Rocco. According to Jim, the beef business is more of a "hobby." Managers of a development company, the Roccos entered into the beef breeding business about 4 years ago, he said.

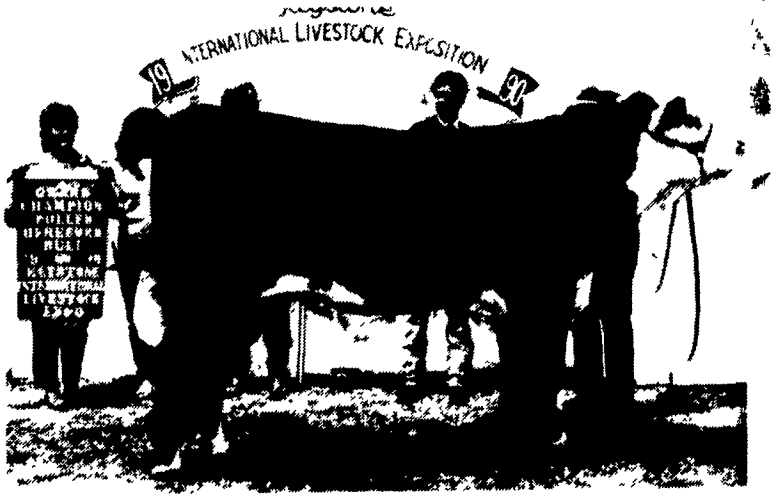
The judge selects this winter calf to be the 1990 grand champion Limousin female of KILE. Representatives of Circle L Farm, Ohio, stand with the calf.



The grand champion Polled Hereford bull is selected. Members of the Rocco family of Kings Row Farm accept the banner.

For the past year, the farm's management has been done by Peter Lohr. Kings Row Farms also won the title of premier breeder and premier exhibitor.

The reserve champion bull was jointly owned by Circle L Limousins and J&L Talsma, while the reserve grand champion female was owned by Green Pasture and Fairlane farms.

Hafer Will Address Grange

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania State Grange expects more than 1,000 Grangers from across the state at its annual state convention, which opens at the West Chester Inn in Chester County October 21 and runs through October 26.

Gubernatorial candidate Barbara Hafer, state auditor general, will address the Grange's delegate body at 3:45 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 24, and will be available for questions following her address.

U.S. Congressman Richard Schulze (R-5) is scheduled to speak to Grangers at 3:20 p.m. Monday, Oct. 22.

Pennsylvania's Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff will speak to the Grange at 2:15 p.m. Oct. 23 and will attend the All Granger Banquet that evening.

The keynote speaker at the All Granger Banquet will be Dr. Stanley Evan Curtis, the newly-appointed head of the department of dairy and animal science for Penn State's College of Agriculture. He is expected to speak on "Science in Times of Plenty."

"Those attending this year's Grange convention can expect a number of important issues to be voted on by the delegate body and addressed by the various speakers," said William H. Ringler, state Master of the Pennsylvania State Grange.

For additional information or reservations for the banquet, please contact Julie Franklin at (800) 552-3865.

Members Hear Management Update

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

FREDERICK, Md. — Dairymen division manager Boyd Cook got both members' amusement and attention as he opened his annual report to the Middle-Atlantic membership gathered October 12 at the Holiday Inn.

"As we look back on the last year, it clearly has been both excellent - and not so good," said Cook.

Pay prices to dairy producers were the highest in history, topping $16 a hundredweight in January and February, with spring prices $3 over support and $2 over the prior year.

As raw milk prices escalated, however, the cooperative's processing plants were unable to pass the increases through to the marketplace, resulting in losses. Excess plant closings and the associated costs were written off over a ten-month period ending in August with the close of the co-op's fiscal year. Member pay prices are expected to improve substantially with that write-off period past, Cook added.

He reviewed several producer programs aimed at improving quality and production management for the market needs. The Middle Atlantic division membership earned an average of 30-cents per hundred through the processor-funded fall incentive program, the highest average of any of Dairymen, Inc.'s 11 divisions. September is expected to average a similar payout to division members.

Rapidly escalating fuel costs are impacting milk hauling and a rate increase has been recommended, advised the division manager. Hauling routes and pick-ups will be carefully scrutinized to keep hauling, the division's largest marketing expense, as efficient as possible.

Cook predicted that component pricing will become a part of the Federal Order 4 payment program within a year. Protein tests are to be run monthly on the division's producers to aid in breeding selection decisions toward the future.

"We see increased emphasis by consumer groups concerned about the safety of our food supply," Cook reminded Dairymen members. He predicted that the drug residue issue will continue and need to be recognized by farmers, their vets, and their cooperatives. "Anti-biotechnology and animal rights issues will also have an impact. By working together, all of us can work to minimize the impact of these emotional press-generating issues."

Contrary to most years, the Minnesota-Wisconsin price series is dropping in the fall, due to recent drops of over 30-cents per pound for non-fat dry milk and 22-cents per pound for cheese. Cheese buyers, said Cook, actively built inventory in the spring flush, with those inventories now depressing raw milk prices.

"It is doubly important for dairy farmers to work together to maximize returns," emphasized Cook, of the unseasonable raw milk price drops. "Our MACMMA group will do everything possible to help RCMA become a viable marketing agency in the Federal Order 2 (New York) market, because weakness in that market will have a negative impact on MACMMA's ability to bargain for fair market prices in our marketing area."

Dairymen regional sales manager David Jones reviewed briefly the adjustments made by Dairymen, Inc., in restructuring and streamling its operations.

"Those included a write-down of unprofitable processing operation, restructing division operations, surplus property disposition, establishing a surplus balancing pool and developing a new raw milk marketing plan," Jones explained. "These adjustments and more were made so that Dairymen could better compete in a changing market environment.

Production has begun to rebound, and, along with a strong inventory of powdered milk, significantly reduced amounts of supplemental milk Dairymen needed to move into the region to supply its markets.

Jones predicted a continuance of the trend toward fewer but larger dairy farm. Likewise, processing plants have gone from 3,836 in 1964 to approximately 600 in 1988.

"This has concentrated the marketing power of processors in this country into the hand of a few large corporations, yet producers have failed to counter balance this strength with fewer and larger cooperatives," said the regional manager.

Reviewing changes in the dairy industry, Jones noted that cooperatives geared toward handling the surpluses of the 1960s and '70s were caught with excess capacity in more recent years. Those with little or no investment, said Jones, found themselves in "high cotton" in a deficit market.

Even in a deficit market, he warned, producers must organize to counter the "enormous power" of today's large processors. He compared the over-order premiums obtained through MACMMA in Order 4 with the marketing area of North and South Carolina, where there is less cooperative strength.

"If dairy farmers are going to be able to effectively bargain for the highest prices for their milk, they must have alternatives. Your processing and manufacturing facilities have given you those alternatives," Jones concluded.

KILE Sheep Display High Quality, Depth

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — "Lots of the sheep here are competitive nationally," judge Dan Strahl said of the Montadale, Southdown and Oxford sheep he judged at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition October 5.

"The Montadales, for example, should do well in the Montadale show in Louisville in November," he continued. Strahl chose two rams shown by Keith Crome of Paris, Illinois as the champion and reserve champion rams of the Montadale show. Crome also showed the reserve champion ewe, while champion ewe honors went to Maureen M. Hess of Hudson, New York. Hess was named Premier Exhibitor and Premier Breeder in the Montadale division.

Strahl raises Suffolks and Hampshires near Greenfield, Indiana. During a break in the judging, he recommended the closely-shaved Southdowns as being good for children getting started in sheep showing. "You don't have to be an expert to show them. They are prepared by washing and shearing, and they're ready to show."

W.G. Carpenter and Son of Jefferson, Maryland took home most of the honors in the Southdown show. They showed the champion ram, the champion ewe and the champion sale lamb, and were named Premier Exhibitor and Premier Breeder. F.R. Farms of Marlinton, West Virginia, showed the reserve champion ram, while Nick Smith of Jeromesville, Ohio, had the reserve champion ewe.

In the Oxford division of KILE, held in the Farm Show Complex, Gerald Thoma of Kensington, Ohio, showed the champion ram and reserve champion ewe, and received Premier Exhibitor and Premier Breeder honors. Amy Eshelman, Sinking Spring, showed the champion ewe and reserve champion ram.

Cheviot, Hampshire And Shropshire

Henry Kuykendall of Ration Maker Cheviots, Asheboro, North Carolina, showed both the champion ram and champion ewe in the Cheviot show. The reserve champion ram was shown by Erdenheim Farm, Layefette Hill. Mike Koehler of Schnecksville had the reserve champion ewe and was named Premier Exhibitor and Premier Breeder.

In the Hampshire show, Vernon Deal and family of Navarre, Ohio took home the blue ribbon for their spring ram lamb. Christine Baxter of Marlinton, West Virginia, showed the grand champion ewe, a yearling. Reserve champion ram honors went to Tim and Sarah Fleener, Robesonia. The Fleeners were also the Premier Exhibitors and Premier Breeders of the show. Price Stock Farm of Westminster, Maryland showed the reserve champion ewe.

Wey Shropshires of Kutztown had the champion ram and reserve champion ewe and took home Premier Exhibitor and Premier Breeder honors. Peter D'Ambra, Jefferson, Maryland, showed the champion ewe and the reserve champion ram.

Albert Wilson, Jr. of Rural Retreat, Virginia, judged the Cheviots, Hampshires and Shropshires.

Sire Power Scholarship Program

TUNKHANNOCK (Wyoming Co.) — The respective Boards of Directors for Sire Power's Membership Sales Divisions - Northeast, Maryland, and West Virginia - have announced the continuation of a scholarship program.

This program was implemented in order to help deserving youth living in our membership area continue their college education. A total of fifteen $500.00 scholarships (ten for the Northeast Sales Division, four in the Maryland Sales Division, and one in the West Virginia Sales Division) will be made available, and will be awarded at the 1990 Sire Power Annual Meeting scheduled for January 23, 1991.

The eligibility requirements for these scholarships are as follows:

1. The applicant must be an incoming college sophomore, junior, or senior during the year of application.

2. The applicant's parents or guardians, or the applicant himself must be an active member in one of Sire Power's membership sales areas.

3. The scholarship must be applied to the student's continued education in an agricultural related field.

4. Previous scholarship award winners will remain eligible during subsequent award years.

The continuing education of our youth in agriculture is very important to the Sire Power organization, it's Board of Directors, and management. With this scholarship program, we would like to make this continued education possible for young people of farm families in Sire Power's membership areas.

To receive a scholarship application, interested students should contact the respective sales and service director for their membership sales division. Deadline to submit applications is October 15, 1990.

U.S. Agriculturalists Can Overcome Increasing Obstacles

JUDY PATTON
Centre Co. Correspondents

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.)— Soaring energy prices, trade barriers, and adverse publicity can be overcome by U.S. agriculturalists, according to speakers at the recent Penn Ag Industries convention held at Toftrees Resort in State College.

Among the speakers, John Block, former U.S. Secretary of Agriculture and now president of the American Wholesale Grocers Association, said elimination of trade barriers is essential to the expansion of U.S. agricultural trade.

Getting the European Economic Community to reduce farm subsidies would not only open up more markets for the U.S., but also would discourage developing countries from adopting the same policy in the future, he said.

Block said he feels these subsidies, which are the subject of the current GATT negotiations, perpetuate inefficient food production systems in addition to establishing unfair competition in world food markets.

Potential ag product market expansion exists in Japan, which still refuses U.S. rice; the U.S.S.R., which needs fertilizer, chemicals, and food processing equipment; and Cuba, which is losing Soviet financial support.

Also, Block predicts that a U.S.-Mexico free trade agreement, like the one the U.S. has with Canada, will be signed within the next three years. He and many other ag policy advisors are pushing for favored nation status for the Soviet Union, which would make it easier for them to buy U.S. goods.

"The threat of war (with Iraq) can have a bigger impact on U.S. agriculture than the 1990 Farm Bill," Block said. Because Iraq was a good trade partner and oil provider, Block said the U.S. should and will "make a deal" with Saddam Hussein rather than go to war.

Further on the subject, Block said he feels this crisis has had a positive effect in joining Soviet and U.S. power to prevent future aggression.

On the food safety issue, Block said there will always be a "no-growth element" in society which opposes new technology because of unfounded fears, but the public's desire to maintain large supplies of cheap food will outweigh these fears to allow new technological products to be marketed.

"Chemical opponents want to put the worm back in my apple," said Dr. Earl Butz, U.S. Secretary of Agriculture from 1971 to 1976 and dean emeritus of agriculture at Purdue University.

Illustrating the point that without using chemicals commercially-sold apples would be smaller, wormier and less tasty, he said agriculturalists need to educate consumers that the benefits of using new technology are far greater than any risks involved.

A person would have to eat 10 bushels of alar-treated apples a day to risk getting cancer, he said, yet misinformed consumer advocates almost ruined the U.S. apple industry with the alar scare.

"The biggest danger to U.S. agriculture is that we quit taking risks," warned Butz. He said consumers must understand that paying only 12 percent of their income for food, including prepared and fast foods, allows them to buy many luxuries.

Butz said efficient food production and free trade are essential for world peace. "We can't build a peaceful world with hungry people," he said.

Farmers are often accused of contributing to the "greenhouse effect" (global warming) as well as producing unsafe food. But University of Virginia climatologist Dr. Pat Michaels explained how Congressional testimony about the impact of human activity on the climate had been distorted in the media to blame carbon dioxide and other emissions for the 1988 drought.

"The earth is not headed toward an apocolypse from global warming," Michaels said. He showed how an increase in low-level clouds above have heavily populated areas counteract the effect of heat coming through the damaged ozone layer in the atmosphere.

"Daily high temperatures (in the northern hemisphere) are now at the lowest average in this decade, and ultraviolet radiation has gone down," Michaels said. These facts, in addition to an increase in the precipitation average, flatly contradict the greenhouse effect theory, he said. This theory predicts disastrous warming of an average of 16 degrees Celcius in the northern hemisphere by the year 2040 with severe drought.

In discussing potential U.S. agricultural markets in former communist countries and the Soviet Union, three speakers depicted backward systems which will progress very slowly.

Former ambassador to the U.S.S.R., Arthur Hartman said the Soviet Union is grappling with going from arbitrary government price setting to market-related pricing. He largely blamed poor pricing for the current shortage of domestic consumer goods.

In a recent trip to the Soviet Union, Hartman said he observed a severe shortage of bread in spite of a bumper wheat crop. Part of the problem is poor transportation and food processing systems. He said the government may have to revert to more centralization for a while to restore economic order before continuing toward free enterprise.

According to Dr. Ted Buila, ag educator from the University of Southern Illinois, and Dr. Louis Moore, Penn State ag economist, both Yugoslavia and Poland have returned most of the land to private owners. But farming is still largely at a subsistence level on 25-acre or smaller farms.

Dr. Buila saw a farm woman hand-broadcasting hybrid seed, and Dr. Moore showed fields laid out in strips running the wrong way.

According to the professors, these observations indicate a start in adopting new technology, but the need for education, modern equipment, efficient transportation, and sanitary food handling hinders progress.

About 40 percent of Yugoslavians work both on farms and in cities, and all women work, Dr. Buila said. He and other U.S. ag educators are helping to modernize agriculture in eastern Europe to fill domestic needs and develop world markets.

Keynote speaker Bernard Kalb predicted constant turmoil in the Middle East for the next century as Arabs seek higher economic and social status in the world. Furthermore, he blamed the U.S. mind set of backing Iraq to block Iranian expansion for the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait.

Because the U.S. ambassador to Iraq told Saddam Hussein the U.S. had "no opinion on Arab-Arab conflicts," Kalb said Hussein thought the U.S. would not respond to the invasion.

In face of high energy prices from continuous Middle East conflicts, Arthur Hartman said he feels the U.S. should come up with an energy policy which decreases dependence on foreign oil and stick to it.

Gov. Casey Meets With Animal Health Commission

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)— Gov. Robert P. Casey told the Animal Health Commission that its work is helping to meet the administration's goal of strengthening the agricultural industry in Pennsylvania.

"I thank you for all your fine work with this body, because as you know animal health is crucial to the health of our leading industry and this is one of the goals we set for agriculture four years ago," Gov. Casey said.

"There is a strong alliance between this administration and the Animal Health Commission and that will be more important during the implementation phase of what you recommend," he said.

Gov. Casey made his comments during a meeting with the commission in the Capitol.

Pennsylvania's Animal Health Commission was created in December 1988. The commission develops policy on all animal health, research, diagnostic, and indemnity programs in the state. It also advises the Department of Agriculture on animal health research funding.

Three veterinarians and six farmers serve on the commission, along with the secretaries of agriculture and health and four members of the General Assembly.

Members of the Animal Health Commission are: Boyd E. Wolff (Chairman), secretary of agriculture; N. Mark Richards, secretary of health; Edward W. Helfrick, majority chairman, Senate Agriculture Committee; Patrick Stapleton, minority chairman, Senate Agriculture Committee; Samuel Morris, majority chairman, House Agriculture Committee; Kenneth Brandt, minority chairman, House Agriculture Committee; Dr. Robert Graybill (Lancaster County); Dr. Sherbyn Ostrich (Berks County); Dr. John Enck (Cumberland County); Dennis Wolff (Columbia County); Lynn Henninger (Dauphin County); Kent Strock (Cumberland County); Robert T. Gabel (Perry County); Scott McNamara (Crawford County); and Chris D. Kimmel (Armstrong County).

Lebo Takes Home Top Steer Honors

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Nicole Lebo, 17, took home the top awards from the Franklin County Market Steer Show and Sale, October 13.

Lebo, a senior at Greencastle-Antrim High School, was named champion fitter. Later in the show, her 1,280-pound heavyweight received grand champion honors. It sold that evening for $2.20 per pound to Hoss's Steak and Sea House of Chambersburg.

Champion showman was David Sheiss of Chambersburg.

Darren Meyers, a freshman at Indiana University, showed the reserve champion steer, a 1,185-pound light heavyweight. Hagerstown Block Company purchased Darren's steer for $1.45 per pound, and donated the animal to the Emmanuel Children's Home of Maugansville, Md.

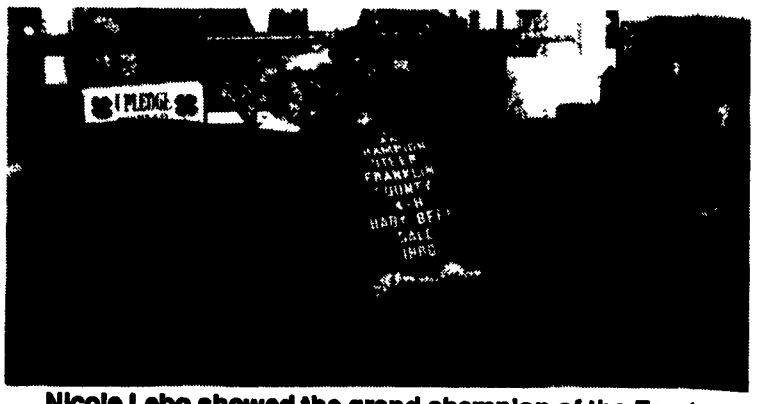
John Hausner of The Plains, Virginia, officiated at the show. He is the manager of an 800-acre purebred Angus farm.

Auctioneer for the sale was Lyle Reed of McConnellsburg. Greencastle Livestock Market owner Jeff Craig donated his facilities for the show and sale.

The sale averaged $1.32 per pound on 18 head, including one companion steer. Average weight was 1,208 pounds.

Results in the fitting and showing portion of the show follow.

Darren Meyer's reserve grand champion champion steer sold for $1.45 per pound to Hagerstown Block Company. The 1,185-pound steer will be donated to the Emmanuel Children's Home of Maugansville, MD. With Darren, are Richard Loudin, left, of the Emmanuel Children's Home, and Harold Derbin, who is retired from Hagerstown Block.



Nicole Lebo showed the grand champion of the Franklin County 4-H Market Steer Show. The 1,280-pound steer sold to Hoss's Steak and Sea House for $2.20 per pound. Behind the steer is Rocky Rhodes, center plate specialist at Hoss's, with his son, Bobby.

Garden Spot's Erosion Control Project

Reroute section

During school, about 100 FFA students from Garden Spot, together with contractors and other agencies who donated time and equipment, helped reroute a 350-foot section of the Black Creek. The creek, which runs through the Harold Wentzel Farm in Terre Hill, created erosion problems for the farm.

To help stop streambed erosion, the creek was literally cut short — rerouted to a 150-foot section — and a farm equipment/cattle crossing section was built. Shot rock — irregular-size shards of blasted limestone purchased from Martin's Limestone — was hand-placed by FFA members from Garden Spot.

Permanent fencing will be installed at a later date, according to Robert Lauffer, ag science instructor at Garden Spot and advisor to the project. Next spring, additional fill, final grading, seeding, and tree planting near the creek will complete the project.

The primary weapon in the battle for erosion control was keeping the cattle out using fencing, according to Lauffer. Later on, willow trees — just like the trees planted 10 years ago on a similar project on the nearby Hoover Farm — will be planted near the stream bank to further control erosion.

But something had to be done about the erosion problem on the Wentzel farm, said Lauffer. 'Tom (Wentzel) was a graduate of our FFA program and understood what we were trying to accomplish and was cooperative.'

Erosion problem

"We had finished work on the upstream side on the Edward Hoover farm," said Lauffer. "We worked there on a BOAC project, planting trees and various things." But something had to be done about the erosion problem on the Wentzel farm, said Lauffer. "Tom (Wentzel) was a graduate of our FFA program and understood what we were trying to accomplish and was cooperative."

Lauffer said that the location was important. "The Black Creek, from its headwaters to its confluence with the Little Muddy, is all in the Eastern Lancaster County School district," he said. "So we felt like maybe, if we can do a little bit at a time, over the next X-number of years, we can start having a real impact on that stream." The Black Creek is an eventual tributary to the Conestoga River, which eventually connects to the Chesapeake Bay.

To help stop streambed erosion, the creek was literally cut short — rerouted to a 150-foot section — and a farm equipment/cattle crossing section was built.

The Lancaster Co. Conservation District helped fund the project, as well as the Adult Farmer Program of Eastern Lancaster County. Don Robinson, of the Adult Farmer Program, laid out the channel specifications, slope, drainage, and other factors. Other agencies that made contributions include the Adamstown Rod and Gun Club, Chesapeake Bay Foundation, the Penn Dutch Sportsmens' Association, and the townships of Brecknock and East Earl.

In 1986, applications were placed with the Army Corps of Engineers, the Department of Environmental Resources (DER), and the Pennsylvania Fish Commission. Three years later, in August of 1989, groundbreaking began.

Field trips

"We went out at different periods of the day," said Shawn Eberly, a senior, now BOAC chair, about the start of the project. "We took field trips out there for our class time."

Trackhoe equipment funded by donations by Brubacher Excavating changed the channel course. After the channel was appropriately filled, Martin's Limestone brought shot rock to the site. Using a skid loader, students moved the rocks from the pile onto the creek. There, they hand-placed the rock along the stream bank.

Permanent fencing to keep cattle out of Black Creek was installed on the Ed Hoover side of the bridge, upstream from the Wentzel site. The Northeast Lancaster Co. Rod and Gun Club donated about $550 for this effort. Using railroad ties for steps, a cattle crossing was erected by the students. The banks were sloped and seeded and a temporary fence was placed around the seeded area to keep the cattle out.

'The primary weapon is really keeping the cattle out,' said Lauffer.

The excavating of the new channel was completed in late October 1989. Riprap was laid for equipment crossings adjacent to the cattle crossing. Special fencing will be placed on the Wentzel site at a later date, in addition to fencing to allow the cattle to move to the other side of the stream at the crossing.

Cattle control

The emphasis is being placed on cattle control, a prime culprit in stream bank erosion.

"I learned a lot about how things erode," said Eberly. "I guess the biggest thing I learned is how the cows affected the erosion process and how fast everything changed in the environment over a period of time, with the sloping and the techniques we used."

"The primary weapon is really keeping the cattle out," said Lauffer. "But the grass helps a great deal."

"The biggest improvement we made is to put this permanent fence across," said Phil Ogline, chairman of the Garden Spot agriscience cluster. "It keeps the cows out of this stream. I feel that is one of our major accomplishments."

Note: Next week Lancaster Farming looks into what the Garden Spot BOAC Project will do for the students and the community. We'll also profile some of those involved with the program.

Shawn Eberly, Garden Spot senior and FFA BOAC chairperson, stands next to the shot rock placed on the Black Creek streambed, a major effort of the FFA BOAC Project.

Project advisor Robert Lauffer, right, describes the course of the riprap making up an equipment crossing at the Black Creek BOAC project. Dr. Phil Ogline, chairman of the Garden Spot agriscience cluster, crouches at the edge of the railroad ties used for the cattle crossing.

Shelly Ogline, president of the Grassland FFA and former chairperson of the project, left, shows the temporary fencing placed along the creek along with Shawn Eberly, current BOAC chairperson. Permanent fencing will be installed at the same location next year.

Wheat Reduction Set At 15 Percent

LEESPORT (Berks Co.)— The U.S. Department of Agriculture intends to require a 15 percent acreage reduction for the 1991 wheat crop, according to Donald E. Lutz, chairman of the Berks County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

"Other provisions of the 1991 wheat program will be announced as soon as they become available," Lutz said. Knowledge of how much land will be idled will help producers plan for the coming year, he said.

USDA plans to continue the Export Enhancement Program in 1991 to make sure America wheat remains competitive in world markets according to Lutz. The program is available in 41 countries.

Under the 1990 wheat program, farmers had the option of choosing a 5 percent acreage reduction or the modified acreage reduction program which enabled them to increase their wheat plantings.

"Final provisions of the 1991 program will be announced soon after the 1990 farm bill is enacted," the ASCS official said.

TRY THESE DOEBLER'S HYBRIDS

by Willard Jones

I'm Willard Jones, Doebler's sales manager, taking the conservative approach.

I'm conservative when it comes to investing money. Or buying seed corn.

So I buy certificates of deposit. And I think real estate for a long term investment. It's a matter of limiting my risk.

Same principle holds for seed corn. Best low risk buys, in my mind, are hybrids that always finish among the leaders. In wet weather or dry. Hot weather or cold. On deep or shallow soils.

Like Doebler's Extra Performance hybrids with mile long printouts of test results made right here in the East.

And never under estimate old favorites like Doebler 75X. That old super champ is driving the competition crazy.

Low risk buys for 1991

DOEBLER 84XP, 118 days. Whopping 218.7 bu. in Rutgers South Jersey trials last year, 209.9 bu. in Ephrata, PA strip test. Excellent standup and disease resistance.

DOEBLER 75X, 113 days. Pa's all time corn champ still shelling big. 1989 best, 197.5 bu. Placed 1st, 2nd and 3rd in early strip tests this fall. Only 1% lodging.

DOEBLER 66XP, 103 days. Off and running with a 1st, two 2nds and two 3rds in our first 1990 tests. 17.5 bu. better than 65X in Doebler trials. Super standup. Super vigor.

DOEBLER 57XP, 97 days. Combine this baby. It shelled out 184.2 bushels last fall at Newtown, PA; 151.9 in New York and 185.5 in Ohio. Sturdy. Super oomph.

DOEBLER 45XP, 90 days. This super single sizzles. A 165.25 bu. average in Cornell's 1989 trials. Five 1sts and four 2nds in 10 NY strip tests, with 160.4 bu. tops.

been "terrific," particulary in the area of moleclar biology. Through biotechnology, powerful research tools have been developed, but none of us know yet just how powerful they are.

"We don't know how powerful the research tools are that we have before us," Thomas said. "We have gone through a decade where we have been scared of them — worried to death we may create a monster. Worried that we would go in and mess with genetic structures and some kind of thing would crawl out of the laboratory and eat up all our corn and perhaps our feet at the same time.

"We are now begining to find there are indeed tremendous gains that can come to us through biotechnology, and we are just beginning in a big way. And we are going to use the resources of the university to give the college of agriculture the opportunity to capitalize more on biotechnology. I am hopeful we can make better use of our biotechnology center," Thomas said.

On the subject of funding for the university, Thomas said he has been in a "track meet" between State College and Harrisburg during the first five weeks of his presidency. "We need to find ways to increase the funding the Pennsylvania State University gets from the commonwealth," Thomas said. "Most people in the commonwealth want to see this happen, but we haven't taken the necessary steps to fill the gap."

Thomas said, "Pennsylvania is 47th out of 50 states in public support for higher education. We have seen erosion in the federal support for agricultural education and state erosion for support of higher education," Thomas said. "I believe in the representative form of government. If we articulate to the people of Pennsylvania what we do for them as a university, people of Pennsylvania will not tolorate being 47th. They will in fact talk to their legislators and the legislators will vote the way they think their people want them to vote.

"And we need to tell them how we want them to vote for assistance to the university. It will take grass roots support. It will not happen by my track meets to Harrisburg, but by continious help from the people."

Thomas said he was impressed with the beauty and the vitality of the Berks campus. This campus is within 50 miles of 90 percent of Pennsylvania's food industry. The new agriculture department provides the first two years of every agricultural program that is available at Penn State. Students can come to Berks, not only from the immediate environment, but from anywhere, even out of state.

The PSU Ag Advisory Council has a representative from each major organization and segment of agriculture and meets regularly with university officials to provide dialog between the representative organizations and the university.

$3.00 per bu. for corn, $8.00 for yellow soybeans, $12 for white soybeans, $3.20 for speltz if they are non toxic. We can't get near enough for the big demand. Farmers proved it is much better for their livestock. Therefore they will pay the difference to get it. The demand is much greater than the supply, which makes the prices.

You need to send only about 5 ounces of beans or grain to the broker in Ohio for the toxin text. No charge.

Now if other people's livestock do so much better on non-toxic feed, why shouldn't yours also? Many are using our Nutri Carb, the best product to pull toxins out of the soil that we know of. Now their livestock do better. Problems go away. Some say the cows are in almost perfect health. It takes less feed to make a pound of milk, meat and eggs.

Apply Nutri Carb in the fall for non-toxic crops to be more sure of reaching the qualification next year. It does not dissipate. It lasts for years, making it economical, and you richer and a better contributor for healthy mankind. Are you smart enough to know a good thing when you see it? Or would you rather cry the blues about farming? Ask for a lot of literature, Send 50¢ to prove you are really interested. Stamps OK.

Corn Test Plots Harvested

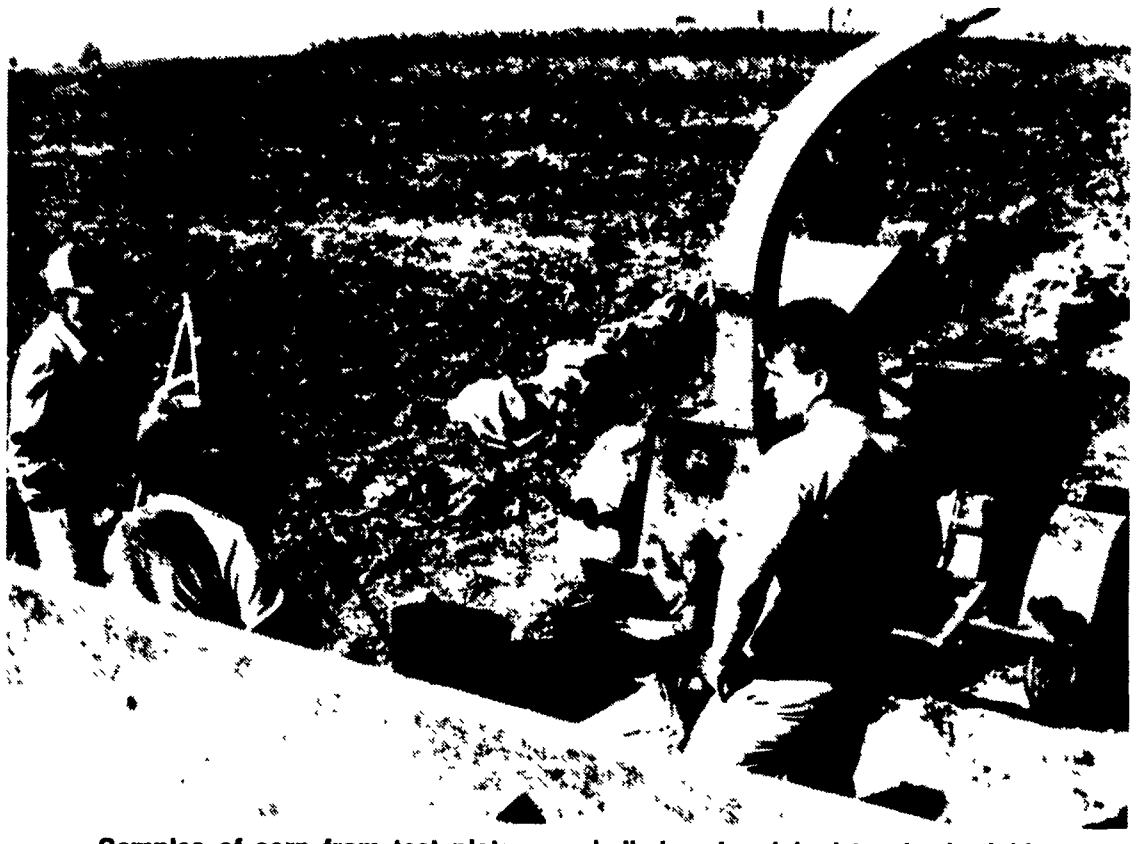
SMOKETOWN (Lancaster Co.) — A series of 210 test plots representing hybrid corn varieties with potential for production in southeast Pennsylvania were harvested on site Monday.

The test plots are part of the ongoing effort by P. L. Rohrer and AgriPro to develop varieties that will produce well east of the corn belt and compare varities from other competitive sources.

Dr. Frank Loeffel, senior corn breeder, Brookston, Indiana, said that since Pennsylvania has different growing conditions than out west, AgriPro brings varities into the state test plots that show potential for use here.

"We can use a fuller season variety here than what we can usually grow in the central corn belt," Loeffel said. "But you have more desease pressure here such as gray leaf spot, anthracnose (stalk rot), and rust."

The Rohrer/AgriPro test plots have been grown each year since 1979.



Samples of corn from test plots are shelled and weighed to check yields.

"I'm telling you, mister - this was a dead herd! But six months on the Fertrell feeding program and we have better health, higher production and fewer vet bills. I wish we'd been on Fertrell ten years ago!"

Moridge grain dryers operate at up to half the per bushel cost of some dryers. Since the 1960's fuel conscience European farmers have preferred the Moridge dryer economy. On American farms and at country elevators Moridge has handled the drying because of its reliability and low investment-low labor costs. Now there's an even bigger reason to dry with Moridge—fuel economy.

Lewis Gardner Re-Elected President Of Eastern Milk

SYRACUSE, N.Y.— Dairy farmer Lewis Gardner of Galeton has been re-elected president of Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative.

The unanimous vote by the board of directors took place in Syracuse, N.Y., following Eastern's annual business and delegate meetings Sept. 27-28.

Also elected were:

- Timothy Bryant of Pawlet, VT, vice president.
- Edwin Schoen of Phelps, NY, secretary.
- George E. Mesick Jr. of South Schodack, NY, treasurer.
- Harold W. Bailey of Roaring Spring, assistant secretary-treasurer.

President Gardner, an Eastern member for six years, was first elected to the board in 1987. He served as vice president for a year before being elected to his first term as president in 1989.

As president, he represents about 2,800 farm families in nine states. As a director, he represents about 200 farmers in a district that encompasses all or parts of 18 counties in northwestern Pennsylvania.

Gardner and his wife, Lois, purchased their 100-acre Potter County farm in 1978. They milk about 45 cows out of a herd of 90 Holsteins. They rent another 150 tillable acres, growing mostly alfalfa and corn. Their teenage sons all help on the farm -- Lewis III, Lee Thomas and Levi Earl.

Vice President Bryant operates a 315-acre farm with his wife, Nancy, and their children, Laura Jean, 17, Timothy Jr., 16, and Robert Stephen, 12. They have a herd of 175 Holsteins, including 85 milking cows. Bryant, who is a 1970 graduate of the University of Vermont, purchased the farm in Pawlet in 1972 after working in partnership with his father and brother on a farm in Manchester, Vt. He became a member and then president of Northern Farms Cooperative, and joined Eastern's board of directors in November 1984 when Northern merged with Eastern. He represents about 190 farmers in a district covering the northeastern half of Vermont, the southern half of Vermont and a slice of New York State. Bryant also is former chairman of the Council of Northeast Farmer Cooperatives.

Secretary Schoen succeeds C. Lee Greenwalt to the position. Greenwalt, who operates a 110-cow dairy in Lawrenceville, retired after serving over nine years on the board. Schoen, who served as assistant secretary-treasurer for two years, represents about 190 farm families in a district covering part of the central, southern tier and western regions of New York. A member of Eastern since 1970, he began farming in 1965 after getting an associate's degree from Cornell. In 1982 he became partners with John Stephan, also of Phelps, and since then the farm has grown from 72 to 400 acres. They milk 85 Holstein cows. Schoen and his wife, Jean, are also active in another business, Schoen-Wyffels Homes Inc., which markets log homes. The couple has three daughters (Heather, 23, Kari, 22, and Tricia, 19).

Lewis Gardner

Treasurer Mesick begins his second term in office. He represents about 190 farmers in a district that cuts a diagonal swath from the St. Lawrence River to the Mohawk Valley and the Capital District and into the eastern part of Massachusetts. Mesick operates an 800-acre farm, milking 150 Holsteins, in the southern end of Rensselaer County. He also raises buffalo. Mesick has lived all his life on the family farm which has been associated with Eastern since 1941. In 1949 he went into partnership with his father; in 1960 he and his wife, Gerry, took over the operation, and in 1987 they formed a partnership with their son, David. The Mesicks have another son, James, who also works on the farm, and three daughters. Mesick has served on the Farm Credit Advisory Board, the Milk Promotion Service Inc. board, the board of the New England Dairy and Food Council, and the National Buffalo Association board.

Assistant Secretary-Treasurer Bailey starts his first term as an officer of the board. An Eastern member since 1966, Bailey operates a 138-acre farm in partnership with his brother, Bernard. They milk 90 cows out of a herd of 180 Holsteins. Elected to the board in 1988, Bailey represents some 190 farmers in a district stretching through central Pennsylvania into the northwestern part of Maryland. He is an active member of the Pennsylvania Tractor Pullers Association. Bailey and his wife, Linda, have four children -- Robert, 18; Diane, 17; Paul, 14; and Mark, 12.

Eastern is a Syracuse-based dairy co-op with a high concentration of member farmers in Pennsylvania, New York and Vermont. The co-op also serves members in Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and New Jersey.

4-H Leaders Recognized

WILLIAMSPORT (Lycoming Co.) — The annual 4-H Recognition Night was held October 9, 1990 at the Clarkstown Firehall.

At the dinner, members, leaders, and friends of 4-H donors were recognized. Thirty first-year leaders were honored. Lois Beaver of Chippewa Acres was recognized for serving five years as a 4-H Leader. Other leaders and their years of service were: 10 years - Nancy DeWire, Green Valley 4-H Club; Donald Hill, Little Muncy Creek 4-H Club; Ida Sholder, Lyco Warriors 4-H Club; MerriAnn Way, Fairfield 4-H Club; Beverly Berger, Little Muncy Creek and Marian Lovell, of the Bottle Run Club are 15-year leaders and Alice Girven, of Little Muncy Creek has served 25 years.

Members who were honored included those who participated in toastmaster's public speaking team contests, fashion revue, demonstrations and who served as first-year teen leaders. Those submitting blue forms were also recognized.

The new county council officers were introduced: Bill Klees, president; Christie DeMorat, vice president; Krissy Girven, secretary; Yvonne Guillaume, treasurer; and Christie DeMorat and Melanie Eck, representatives to 4-H Advisory Board.

Outstanding 4-H'ers for 1990 were Yvonne Guillaume and Brady Crist, both of Cogan House. Bill Klees received the James Nicholson Citizenship Award and was honored for his service as Lycoming County 4-H ambassador.

A presentation on Japan was made by the 1989 4-H exchangees: Heidi Walls, Shannon Vermeulen, Krissy Girvin, and Heather McCaslin.

Successful Dairy Reproduction Continues To Evade Researchers

GEORGE F.W. HAENLEIN
Extension Dairy Specialist
University of Delaware

If asked what the hardest job on the dairy farm is, most dairy managers would answer reproduction, which is not what the uninitiated might expect.

After all, reproduction is synonymous with sex, and it should be fun, even for animals, and therefore not much problem.

In the olden days you took the cow or heifer to a bull or you had them running together already.

Most of the time, that settled the matter. The bull knew what and when and how; not much else was needed, except to watch for the occurrence of disease or to take precautionary measures making certain the bull was contained by stronger fences.

Today, few farms keep bulls around and for good reasons: the best genetic improvement is available only on an A.I. (artificial insemination) basis and reproductive diseases are stopped from spreading.

Now, thawed semen from frozen storage can be placed into a cow's uterus by a trained person any time and with relatively little cost. It sounds like a perfect solution to a complicated process. And so it seemed 50 years ago when the success story of A.I. in dairy cattle breeding began.

Genetically speaking, it is still a tremendous success story half a century later. But reproductively speaking, it is far from a perfect solution to a complicated process and far from a success.

While we have made tremendous strides forward to find better genetic bulls, proof them and use them worldwide to increase our cows' milk-producing abilities to unheard-of heights, we have made little progress in getting our cows settled.

The rate of conception then was about 70%; it is still only about 70%.

Even though we have succeeded in eliminating the interference of many reproductive diseases through A.I., we have not increased our conception rate significantly at all.

Why? I think it is our inability to smell and read body language of cows as well as bulls do.

We have tried to interpret signs of estrus and told our employees to observe, observe, and observe, so we do not miss cows in estrus.

The fact is that not only our employees but we, too, miss at least one out of four cows.

In part it may be that they are "bashful," to which we give the euphemistic excuse of "silent heat."

Or it may be we have imposed on our cows the need to feed so much more because of high production that during the day when we are around cows concentrate more on feeding (i.e., no time for sex!)

Or on those hot summer days cows wait for the cooler nighttime to show signs of estrus when we are not around to observe.

Whatever the reasons, and there are many, the bottom line is that a bull knew better than we do when and which cows are in estrus.

By replacing A.I. for a bull in our breeding programs we have slowly realized that there is more involved in obtaining good conception rates than just to place semen into a cow's uterus. And it really ends up to be the hardest job to do well on the dairy farm.

The monthly Journal of Dairy Science is one of the best sources of the latest research information on many dairy topics, especially reproduction. In the July 1990 issue are several very promising new results: "Double insemination and hormone treatment for repeat breeders" from Kansas State University and the University of California; "Androgenized heifers to detect estrus" from Colorado State University; "Conception rates after uterus or horn inseminations" from University Wisconsin and Pennsylvania, etc.

And what are the promises of science to solve the hardest job challenge on the dairy farm?

It is not as easy as we thought to just replace the bull.

Using androgenized heifers, i.e., heifers treated with male sex hormones to make them act, smell and read body language like bulls, is a solution to miss fewer cows in estrus.

In the Colorado work, significantly more cows were detected in estrus this way.

It has been estimated that the loss from faulty estrus detection ranges from $123 to $205 per dairy cow/year, and this times the 10 million dairy cows in the United States underlines the importance of more research in this area.

However, proposing androgenized heifers as part of improving our reproductive efficiency on the dairy farm is really admitting defeat that we are unable to replace what an actual bull can smell and see in estrus detection.

The work from Wisconsin and Pennsylvania tries to get deposited semen closer to meeting delivered ova, i.e., the bull deposits semen outside the cervix, traditional A.I. practice has been inside the cervix. However, 6,000 cows using 12 highly trained technicians were studied for alternative sites of semen deposits and x-ray techniques confirmed the actual location.

The very interesting results produced new enigmas and challenges: No significant differences existed in conception rates between uterus (69.5%) and horn (70.8%) inseminations; while highly significant differences were found between technicians despite their intensive training and screening to create equal inseminating ability between technicians; and finally significant differences in percent conception were also noted between the three months of study, June, July and August, regardless of site of insemination, being 74.3, 67.4, 66.8%

fiberdome SILO CHUTE
made with fiberglass, the material of the future
— and proven in the past —
The Fiberdome chute is designed and engineered to be installed on most types of silos. Its structure allows it to withstand the toughest beating the weather elements or silo unloading systems can possibly dish out.
The chute is constructed in full 7 1/2' sections to minimize the number of joints. Connecting joints have a 2 1/2" tongue and groove design to keep feed in and water out. The large ribbed construction adds stability and strength.
Fiberglass is durable, corrosion-proof, attractive and translucent, allowing sunlight to pass through. Sunlight quickly dries interior moisture in the chute. The hard gleaming gelcote surface will remain for many years.

Successful Reproduction

Lastly, the Kansas and California study using repeat breeders indicated that around 20% of all dairy cows are in this category for various reasons, costing, an average, $385 per lactation!

In five entire dairy herds in California and one in Kansas, the simultaneous treatment with gonadotropin-releasing hormone to A.I. resulted in significantly higher conception rates by an average 7 percentage points, while double A.I. (12 to 16 hours apart) did not have better conception rates.

However, timing of A.I. and type and time of hormone treatment relative to onset of estrus--whenever that is-- or ovulation remain factors in need of much more studies before we can truly claim to have solved the hardest job on the dairy farm, reproduction, and improve profitability in this critical area.

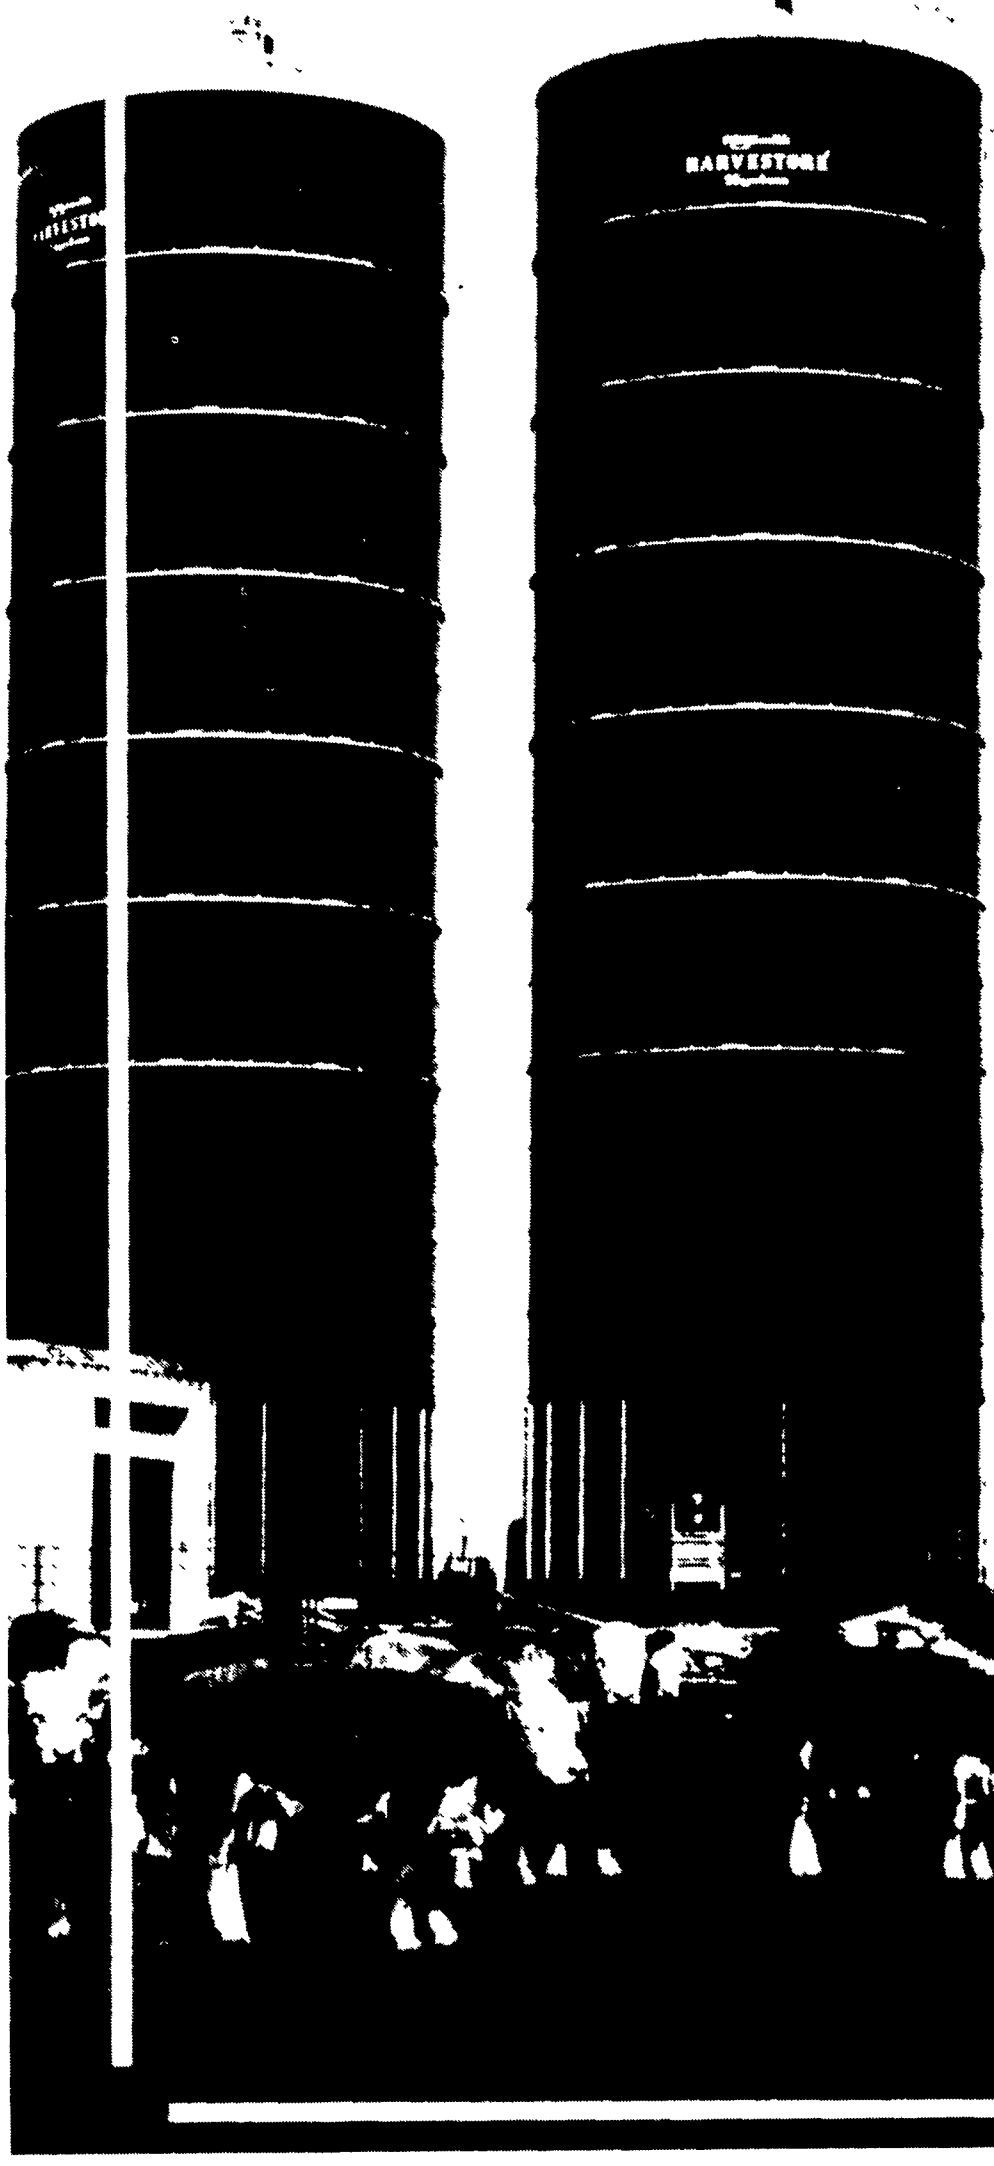
High-Moisture Grain



Harvest Earlier:

If your livestock feed is corn, it reaches full maturity and nutritional value when the kernel is between 24 and 28% moisture. Field losses are maintained at 26-28% moisture content. Beyond that stage, the longer the crop remains in the field, the higher the potential field losses.

The Added Value of High-Moisture Grain:

High-moisture grain has shown itself to be up to 10% more efficient than dry corn in producing beef gains; up to 8% more efficient than conventional grind- and- mix dry corn ration in producing hog gains; and up to 5% more efficient than dry corn in producing milk.*

Reduce Storage Losses:

High-moisture grain stored inside a Harvestore® structure is protected from insects, rats and mice, while dry matter losses associated with fermentation is reduced to 3 or 4%... even when grain is stored for a relatively long time.

* References available on request.

NEW AND PRE-OWNED STRUCTURES AVAILABLE FOR IMMEDIATE ERECTION!

The results you may achieve with your Harvestore® System depend primarily upon your management skills and may vary from successful results achieved by others. Any application to a particular farming operation requires the advice of qualified experts and is subject to limitations of good management, weather and other conditions present at the individual location.

Apple Butter Inn Opens Window To The Past

Carolyn Hilsdon Gilles
Crawford Co. Correspondent

SLIPPERY ROCK (Butler Co.)— Traveling southeast on PA Route 173, near Slippery Rock just beyond the Applewood Lane entrance to Applewood Meadows, the Applebutter Inn catches the eye. By day, travelers notice the carefully landscaped grounds and a one-room schoolhouse across the driveway. By night, the inn appears inviting and warm with a candle glowing from each window.

The original six-room farmhouse, built by Michael Christley in 1844 on land granted to encourage westward settlement, was built of bricks formed and fired on the premises. The Christley family and the family of Plenty Wheaton Steele were its only inhabitants until the mid-seventies when Gary and Sandra McKnight, born and raised in the Slippery Rock area, bought the then-vacant house and land from descendents of the Steele family. The farmland was subdivided into lots and the new homes built there now comprise what is called Applewood Meadows.

The farmhouse stood vacant until 1987 when the McKnights, inspired by Bed and Breakfasts they had visited, restored it. With close attention to original detail, reconstruction began: woodwork was restored, brick fireplaces exposed and original chestnut and poplar flooring refinished; an addition was designed in architectural harmony with the original structure. With the help of a decorator from Zelionople, the McKnights furnished the inn with antiques from eastern PA and Ohio that date back to the 1800s. The parlor has a pie safe with its punched tin doors to cool baked goods. In the corner of the sitting room, rests a Pennsylvania clock.

Each room at the inn has a character and name of its own. The four guest rooms in the original structure (The Christley, Steele, Old Forge and Tightwinder Rooms) are furnished with antique canopy beds, period wall coverings and rag rugs. New rooms in the addition feature a sunroom and seven guest rooms (The Candlewick, Goose Pond, Amish, Quilting Star, Captain's Quarters, School House, and Flower Garden Rooms). All rooms have decorator linens, private baths, color cable TV, telephones, paddle fans, air conditioning and a smoke detector and sprinkler system. First floor rooms are wheelchair accessible with one corner guestroom designed and equipped especially for wheelchairs.

Checkout is 11:00 a.m. and check-in is 3:00-10:00 p.m. Further information may be obtained by writing The Applebutter Inn, 152 Applebutter Lane, Slippery Rock, PA 16057 or by calling (412) 794-1844.

Amenities at the inn include fresh flowers for all check-ins, complimentary beverage and homemade cookies in the evening and a complimentary gift for special occasions. Menus for area restaurants are available in a basket on a table in the sun room where library books and games are available. Smoking, forbidden inside, is allowed on the adjoining brick deck equipped with umbrella tables and landscaped with lovely shrubbery. Future plans are to open a gift shop in the sunroom featuring apple butter, carved wood farm animal planters, mailboxes, and other unique gift items.

Since the Applebutter Inn opened to the public in 1988, visitors have come from Canada, Germany, Africa, England, and Russia. People from Pittsburgh area often come to the inn for get-away weekends; many guests are business contacts, parents of students or alumni affiliated with Slippery Rock University. Betty Hutton and Rosey Greer were celebrity guests at the inn. A guest book and a scrapbook contain signatures, articles on the inn and thank yous from guests.

Innkeepers Gary and Sandra McKnight actively participate in the day-to-day operation and are often on hand to greet guests. Kim Moses, former inn housekeeper who became the manager in April, said that the inn staff tries to maintain a "home away from home" atmosphere and show personal interest in their guests. Staff enjoy return visits from patrons who spent their wedding nights or other celebrations at the inn. Kim remembers fondly the time the oldest living alumnus from Slippery Rock University, also a Syria Mosque clown, stayed with them for Homecoming and inn staff members helped him to dress and don his clown makeup. They were all disappointed this year when he wasn't able to make the trip.

Applebutter Inn guests are served breakfast daily in The Wolf Creek School Cafe, across the driveway from the inn. The one-room schoolhouse, torn down and reconstructed in 1989 on the property adjacent to the inn, was built in 1899 behind the Wolf Creek Church on Route 108, west of Slippery Rock. The school's original wainscotting and slate boards are intact; new flooring was laid, a fireplace (the original schoolhouse was heated with a potbellied stove) and kitchen and restroom facilities were added. Over the mantel hangs a framed horse crayon drawing that was found during the dismantling and believed to be drawn by students of the old schoolhouse.

Small square wooden tables replace the school desks that used to fill the room, antique lunch boxes line shelves and on the chalkboard is a familiar message: "School begins at 7:00 a.m.— We break for lunch at 11:00 a.m.— Recess follows at 2:30 p.m. Welcome to the Wolf Creek School Cafe." The former schoolhouse turned cafe now serves breakfast to not only inn guests, but also to the public. In addition to its cheery greeting, the chalkboard displays the menu for the day. Cafe manager and chief cook Lynda Moore says that the cafe menu offers something for everyone's taste. The cafe offers breakfast a la carte or country inn style -- a three-course breakfast featuring a fruit course such as fresh squeezed juice, poached apple or pear crunch; a grain course such as muffins, homemade cereals, or rolls; and a main course from bacon and eggs to such culinary delights as crepes, granola pancakes or rolled omelets. Lynda offers six choices a day, rotating 38 different recipes.

The cafe is also open to the public for lunch and features a variety of soups, salads, hot and cold sandwiches, including one vegetarian sandwich. For guests who wish to venture to nearby points of interest, Lynda offers a choice of several picnic basket combinations to take along. The cafe is also available for private meetings, parties and receptions after 5:00 p.m.

Whether appreciating the authentic antique furnishings of the 1880s, the country charm of the new rooms or the beauty of the grounds and surrounding hillsides, guests find both the cafe and the inn offer a "window to the past" where one can experience the elegance of a bygone era.

The Old Forge Room on the second floor in the "Old House" features a spectacular antique, carved mahogany Philadelphia four-poster double bed with a valance canopy, gas log fireplace, period wallcoverings, bed furnishings, antique ladder back rocker, "cucumber" popular flooring and rag rugs.

The Applebutter Inn, nestled in the rolling green meadows of Western Pennsylvania, allows guests to experience the elegance of a bygone era while still enjoying the luxury of today's comforts and conveniences.

The tightwinder stairs, now used for decorative purposes, served as a stairway for servants to go to the bedroom and also as a path for heat from the parlor to travel to warm the bedroom above, the only bedroom in the house without a functioning fireplace.

Manager Kim Moses stands at the door of the Applebutter Inn where the atmosphere is warm and welcoming with close attention to detail and personal service.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Have you noticed it?

There's a really strange phenomenon taking place this fall.

At first, I thought it was just coincidence. But then, after spotting about the dozenth identical one, the consistency of it piqued my curiosity. And I began watching them much more closely.

Surely you must have noticed. Or haven't you been paying attention to the Wooly Bear caterpillars?

Those cute little fuzzy brown and black caterpillars that appear every year about this time have long been credited with weather-predicting powers. Upcoming winter weather trends are supposed to follow the pattern of their black-white furry pattern. Black sections meant the super-brrrr-cold kind of stuff, while brown indicated kinder, gentler, temperatures.

Most years, the caterpillar coloring is a mixed bag. Black and brown stripes with no particular pattern seem to appear on the various little furred crawlers which turn up around the farmstead. Occasionally there'll be one completely decked out in fashionable black or another covered head to toe (do caterpillars have toes?) in soft, seasonable brown.

This year -- at least in every Wooly Bear I've seen -- the markings are identical. I don't remember that happening before.

Each caterpillar that has crossed my path bears about a quarter to half-inch section of black at its head end. A fairly wide patch of brown follows in the middle, ending with another section of black about the same size at the front.

The bizarreness of this caterpillar consistency sent me to the 1991 almanac already acquired for my collection. For the Middle Atlantic region, temperatures from November through February are predicted slightly below average, climbing to above average for February through May.

Doesn't fit with the caterpillars. However, if you want to carry it a little farther, May and June are predicted cooler than usual. When is caterpillar-predicted weather supposed to start and stop, anyway?

Other signs of Mother Nature definitely point in the direction of an imminent change to the lovely Indian summer we've been enjoying. A few trees are already coloring in the meadow fencerow, geese have passed on occasion (including a few headed north), and the pond's cattail heads are ripe.

Last week, another sure sign of impending chills turned up in the basement.

"What are you doing in here?" was my surprised question in the direction of the unexpected visitor, who declined to answer, just curled itself a little tighter.

"How'd you like to remove something from the basement for me?" I suggested to the Farmer. When he heard the details on the presence of the small snake on the concrete floor, he didn't seem the least surprised.

"Oh, yeah, there was one in the milk house this morning, too. It had crawled into the wash tub and drowned."

A snake in the wash tub? How? The large, stainless-steel tub is part of the milking equipment automatic wash system and stands on heavy angled-steel legs. A tangle of hoses feeds water, detergents and sanitizers into it for keeping the equipment clean. Nothing for a snake to climb up, however?

So, how that little brother to the basement invader ever got into that wash tub remains a mystery. After its lifeless little eight-inch body on the control box startled me at evening milking, I disposed of it. Our milk inspector will no doubt be grateful.

"Did you take the snake out of the basement?" I asked the Farmer later, having really intended to do so myself. A careful check showed no visible signs of the tiny serpent.

He hadn't moved it either.

Living History Farm Seminar

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The mid-Atlantic region of ALHFAM (Association of Living Historical Farms and Agricultural Museums) has scheduled a conference at Landis Valley Museum, Lancaster, on Saturday, October 27, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. "Fast, Cheap and Easy Museum Programs On A Shoestring," is a multi-faceted event open to any interested individual or group.

The sessions and workshops at Landis Valley will present creative programs that require minimum work for maximum results. A diverse faculty representing four states will offer workshops as varied as broom-making, brewing and corn-husk braiding. Also offered will be sessions on in-house publishing, the history of lighting and program development with volunteers. There will be site reports about children's programs. Informal tours are scheduled for the Hands-On House, Children's Museum of Lancaster, and the historic landscapes of Landis Valley. Daniel Reibel, author of Registration Methods for the Small Museum will present information on collection management. A foodways workshop will prepare part of the evening meal for all participants. Attendees will be entertained by the Lancaster Folksong Society.

On Friday, October 26, the evening before the sessions, an informal gathering is scheduled at Landis Valley. Also, an informal breakfast and special tour are outlined for Sunday the 28th. ALHFAM members may register for the all-Saturday gathering for $25-lunch, supper and breaks included.

Non-members are welcome to all events and their registration costs $35. New memberships are welcomed. Deadline for registration is October 15. For further information or a registration form, call Steve Miller at Landis Valley Museum (717) 569-0401 or write "Fast, Cheap and Easy," Landis Valley Museum, 2451 Kissel Hill Road, Lancaster, PA 17601.

MICROWAVE MINUTES

By JOYCE BATTCHER

Winter squash is as easy to microwave as a potato. And every microwave cook knows how easy a potato micro-bakes!

Just rinse a squash, pierce it in a few spots with a fork, and microwave it on High. Cooking time depends on the size, of course. A small squash to serve two cooks in about six minutes. Standing time of five to 10 minutes is necessary for complete tenderizing.

This time of year is the perfect time to try microwaving squash. The variety found at roadside stands and supermarket produce departments is endless. Any kind -- acorn, buttercup, butternut, hubbard and any of the newer kinds -- is microwaved the same way.

A medium squash (about 1½ to two pounds) takes about eight to 12 minutes. Turn squash over once during cooking. When done, the skin will look glossy and most spots will feel soft. Then let squash stand 10 minutes or until easy to handle -- small undone spots will finish cooking during this time. Prepare it for eating, add seasonings, heat and serve.

A seven- or eight-pound buttercup or hubbard squash microwaves in about 35 minutes. Turn it over and rotate it two or three times during cooking. Then leave it stand 15 to 20 minutes. This may seem like a long time and a lot of extra work, but it's still faster than oven baking, plus squash stays moist and flavorful.

For an even larger squash -- I'm saying "huge" -- microwave it five to 10 minutes to slightly soften it. Then cut it in wedges and remove the seeds. Cover cut edges or each wedge with plastic wrap. Microwave three or four wedges at a time until each wedge is done. Remove wedges when they are almost tender and let them stand in a covered dish until completely tender.

Many recipes call for cubes of uncooked squash, but you know how hard it is to peel and cut up winter squash. To make that job easier, microwave the whole squash a few minutes to slightly soften the outside.

Squash can be enhanced with a variety of herbs and spices. Try basil, rosemary, or thyme, or add a pinch of allspice, cumin or ginger. The classic seasonings are cinnamon or nutmeg, but have you ever tried pumpkin pie spice? Stir seasonings into cooked mashed squash or add them to pieces of partially cooked squash before final cooking.

Squash goes well with fruits -- classic is squash with apples. But squash with pineapple, pears, or canned peaches is also terrific. Add fruits to cooked squash, cover, and microwave until hot.

I've included recipes that show how to microwave various kinds of squash. Winter Squash With Sweet Red Peppers shows how to soften a squash to make it easier to peel and cut. The strips of squash and sweet red pepper then are cooked together quickly and evenly.

Old-Timer's Favorite Squash calls for butternut squash (the pear-shaped squash with pale-yellow skin). Butternut squash gets done faster in the larger seed-filled part. So when that part feels soft, cut it off. Cover the cut edge of the undone meatier part with plastic wrap and return it to the microwave to finish cooking. The seasonings in this recipe lean toward traditional favorites, calling for butter, brown sugar and spices.

Sweet-Sour Acorn Squash and Pineapple calls for dark-green acorn-shaped squash. The squash is cooked whole, allowed to stand until tender, and then halved and seeded. It's filled with fruit and a mild sweet-sour sauce and then microwaved a few minutes until hot. For ease, it can be prepared ahead and heated at the last minute.

Winter Squash With Sweet Red Peppers

1 small buttercup, butternut, or other winter squash (about 2 pounds)

1 small sweet red pepper, cut in 2-inch-long thin strips

1 tablespoon chopped fresh basil leaves or ¾ teaspoon dried basil leaves

2 tablespoons butter

Salt and pepper

Pierce skin of whole squash in several spots. (If using a piece of large squash, cover cut surface with plastic wrap.) Microwave (High) 4 to 5 minutes or until squash feels slightly warm and still undone. Cut in half, remove seeds, and cut squash into 20-inch-long thin slices or strips. (There should be about 4 cups.)

Place squash in a microwavable 2-quart casserole. Stir in red pepper strips and basil. Top with butter. Cover with casserole lid or waxed paper. Microwave (High) 6 to 7 minutes, stirring once, or until squash is tender. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Each serving -- ⅛ of recipe: 156 calories, 4g protein, 4g fat, 32g carbohydrate, 37mg sodium, 9mg cholesterol.

Old-Timer's Favorite Squash

1 small butternut squash (about 2 pounds)

4-6 tablespoons packed brown sugar

¾ teaspoon pumpkin pie spice

2-4 tablespoons butter, cut in pieces

Salt and pepper

Pierce squash with a sharp knife in several spots. Microwave (High) 6 to 7 minutes or until large part is almost tender and glossy-looking. Cut off done part and put in a covered dish. Return remaining squash to microwave. Microwave (High) 4 to 6 minutes, turning squash over halfway through cooking, or until squash feels almost tender and skin looks glossy. Let stand 10 minutes or until cool enough to handle. Remove seeds, peel squash, and cut into cubes; place in a microwavable 2-quart casserole. Sprinkle with brown sugar and pumpkin pie spice; dot with butter. Cover with lid or waxed paper. Microwave (High) 3 to 5 minutes, stirring once, or until squash is hot. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Each serving -- ⅛ of recipe: 181 calories, 4g protein, 4g fat, 39g carbohydrate, 39mg sodium, 9mg cholesterol.

Sweet-Sour Acorn Squash and Pineapple

1 medium acorn squash (1½ -2 pounds)

1 can (8¾ ounces) pineapple chunks

¼ cup whole, well-drained maraschino cherries

2 tablespoons packed brown sugar

1 tablespoon cider vinegar

¼ teaspoon ground ginger

1 tablespoon butter, cut in 2 pieces

Pierce squash with a sharp knife in several spots. Microwave (High) 8 to 11 minutes. When done, squash should feel tender in most spots and the skin looks glossy. Let stand 10 minutes or until cool enough to handle. Meanwhile, stir together undrained pineapple, cherries, brown sugar, vinegar and ginger; set aside.

Cut squash in half and scoop out seeds. Place squash halves upright in a microwavable baking dish or in 2 individual 2-cup casseroles. With a spoon, loosen squash pulp from each shell. Divide fruit mixture evenly between each squash half and stir each gently to combine with squash. Top each with a piece of butter. Cover with waxed paper. Microwave (High) 3 to 4 minutes or until fruit and squash are hot. Makes 2 large servings.

Don't Squash These Pumpkin Recipes

Peter, Peter Pumpkin Eater
Had a spouse and couldn't keep her
So he put her in a shell
There he kept her very well.

That often-repeated ditty is hard to understand unless you've seen a copy of the Pumpkin Recipes Cookbook. If you've read the book, you know one could live well by eating a variety of foods prepared from the pumpkin pulp.

The book has 383 pumpkin recipes for appetizers, soups, breads, cakes muffins, cookies, pies, sauces, icings, main dishes, side dishes, and more.

Did you know?

• To make pumpkin spice, combine 1 teaspoon pumpkin spice, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg and ¼ teaspoon ginger.

• Pumpkins are high in vitamin A and low in calories.

• When buying a pumpkin, look for a pumpkin heavy for its size and free from blemishes. The smaller the pumpkin, the more tender the flesh and less stringy it will be.

The cookbook does not have expensive photographs, artwork or glossy pages. But it does have every imaginable pumpkin recipe, many that are certain to become family favorites. Send $7.75 with your name and address to Sterling Cookbooks, P.O. Box 16, Penndel, PA 19047.

BAKED SUMMER SQUASH WITH CHEESE

1 pound summer squash
1½ cups grated cheese
2 eggs, beaten
1 small can evaporated milk
Salt and pepper to taste
Paprika, dash
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons onion, chopped

Slice summer squash in ½ -inch slices. Parboil in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Grease a 2-quart casserole. Place squash and grated cheese into casserole. Toss gently to combine well.

Beat egg, milk, salt, and pepper together. Pour over squash. Sprinkle with paprika. Melt butter in small skillet, saute onion until limp. Sprinkle onion and butter on top of casserole. Bake at 300 degrees for 40 minutes or until set. Serve 4.

A charming solid brick 1844 farmhouse, restored and added-to in 1987, is now a home away from home for guests. Applebutter Inn in Slippery Rock has retained its original woodwork, chestnut and poplar flooring and five fireplaces. Lovely period antiques, including canopied rope beds are accented by decorated fabrics, wallcoverings, and stenciling.

Turn to Homestead Notes on page B2 to learn more about the 11-room inn. Applebutter sweet rolls are served to guests. The recipe, developed by Lynda Moore, follows.

APPLEBUTTER SWEET ROLLS

1 package dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
1 tablespoon sugar
1¼ cups scalded milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg, beaten
7 cups flour
3 teaspoons shortening, melted
Applebutter for filling

Glaze:

2 cups powdered sugar
4 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Dissolve yeast in ¼ cup warm water with 1 tablespoon sugar, let stand 5 minutes. Let milk cool in mixing bowl. Add sugar, salt and yeast mixture, add well-beaten egg. Sift flour and add ½ of it, beating well. Add melted shortening and mix in remaining flour. Let rise until double in size. Divide dough in half and roll on floured surface into large rectangle ½ -inch thick. Spread with applebutter. Roll up and cut in 1-inch slices. Spacing about 2-inches apart on baking pan, refrigerate overnight. Remove from refrigerator, let rise 1 hour and bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Glaze. Makes 2 dozen rolls.

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — Jeannette Cooper of Upper Black Eddy would like a recipe for light, white fruit bread similar to that sold at Shady Maple. It can be made with strawberry, blueberry, peach and even spinach. If we do not receive an answer to this request within one week, we will drop it.

QUESTION — Mrs. Harry Rauck Sr. of Strasburg would like a recipe to make onion rings that stay good and crisp and do not get soft.

QUESTION — A Bird-in-Hand reader requested a recipe for broccoli soup to can. According to a Lititz reader, the one that was printed in the August 18 issue can be frozen, but is a flop if canned. Do any of our readers have one that can be canned?

QUESTION — A subscriber would like a recipe for smierkase cheese using a gallon of goat milk and rennet tablets.

QUESTION — Mrs. Helene Zeager, Elizabethtown, writes that a few weeks ago a recipe for corn pie using Bisquick in place of pie crust had appeared in this column. She lost the recipe. Will someone send it, please?

QUESTION — Mrs. Ed Snyder, Manheim, asks for a recipe called Rebecca's Rolls.

QUESTION — Carla Lange, Malvern, would like a recipe for lemon poppy muffins and lemon poppy cookies.

QUESTION — A Dauphin County reader would like recipes for canning or freezing salsify (oyster plant), canning peppers and carrots, and canning vegetable soup.

QUESTION — Jean Aurand, New Bloomfield, would like a recipe for diabetic fudge.

QUESTION — Nancy, a Gordonville reader, would like recipes for Slim Jim's made from venison.

QUESTION — M.Myers, Manchester, Md., requests a recipe for peanut butter brownies.

QUESTION — Donald Love, Camp Hill, would like recipes for pumpernickle and banana nut bread. He also wants relish that tastes like the Heinz brand for hot dogs and hamburgers. And, he wants recipes for pickled watermelon rind and rice pudding.

QUESTION — Tracy Moyer, Reading, would like to know how to make cotton candy.

QUESTION — Myah Tielman, Lehighton, would like a recipe for a round loaf of rye bread similar to that which had been sold by Fritzinger's Bakery, Walnutport, which is now out of business.

QUESTION — Dianne from Halifax requests a recipe for yogurt coating used on pretzels, peanuts, and raisins.

QUESTION — Dianne from Halifax would like a recipe for Mexican-type cheese dip to be used with corn and taco chips.

QUESTION — Grace Ikeler, Bloomsburg, would like a recipe for apple fritters with a pastry dough mixture that has a very fine texture.

ANSWER — Betty Jane Morris, Norristown, requested a recipe for cherry pudding. Thanks to Irma Shockley of Wilmington, Del., who sent in an old recipe passed down from her mother.

Cherry Pudding

1 pint milk
3½ cups flour
3 eggs
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon melted butter
2 heaping teaspoons baking powder
1 quart sour cherries, seeded

Beat together eggs, milk, and flour. Beat smooth; add melted butter, salt and baking powder. Dredge cherries with flour and add to the other ingredients. Boil in greased pudding mold or bag by placing bag or pudding mold in top of Dutch oven and inserting steamer top and place pudding in top over water and cover with lid.

ANSWER — A reader asked for a recipe for Davy Crockett cookie bars. Thanks to Marie Horning from Mifflinburg for answering the request.

Davy Crockett Bars

2 cups shortening
2 cups brown sugar
2 cups granulated sugar
6 eggs
4 cups rolled oats
4 cups flour
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups chopped nuts, optional
2 cups chocolate chips

Cream sugar, shortening, and eggs. Add dry ingredients and mix. Stir in vanilla, nuts, and chocolate bits. Put in shallow layers on cake pans. Bake in 350 degree oven for 10 to 15 minutes. Make glaze from confectioners' sugar and milk and put on bars. Makes 48 2½ -inch bars. Do not overbake.

ANSWER — Arletta S. Gregg of Landisburg requested a Pennsylvania Dutch recipe called Stir About. Thanks to Ruth Ruhl, Elizabethtown, for sending a recipe.

Stir About

2 pounds white potatoes
1½ quarts rich chicken broth with potatoes
2 large stems celery, chopped
1 tablespoon parsley, chopped
Pinch saffron
⅛ teaspoon freshly ground pepper
2 eggs
½ cup flour

Peel potatoes and slice one-fourth inch thick. Bring broth to a boil in a large pot. Add potatoes, celery, parsley and seasonings. Add salt if needed. Make the knepp by beating the eggs and flour with a fork to a thin paste. Drop this into the boiling broth with the tip of a spoon, about one-half teaspoon at a time. When all the knepp are in, continue to cook at a full boil for 7 minutes.

ANSWER — Patricia Wax, Newville, sent in a different recipe for the Cumberland County reader who wanted recipes for homemade cake mixes. She said it's a wonderful-tasting recipe from her mother-in-law.

Jessie Wax's Gingerbread Mix

Combine and sift together three times:
8 cups flour
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons baking soda
2 tablespoons ginger
4 teaspoon cinnamon
. teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon salt

Cut in (using pastry blender or 2 knives):
2 cups solid shortening

Store in a covered container, no need to refrigerate.

When ready to make a batch, combine:
3 cups of the gingerbread mixture
1 egg
½ cup molasses

Add:
¾ cup hot water

Stir well and pour into a greased 8-inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

ANSWER — A Dauphin County reader wanted to know if the recipe for tomato jelly submitted by Helen Santak of Newark, Del., can use other flavors of Jell-O. She also asked how to freeze the jelly. Thanks to Donna Merkel who writes that the jelly can be made with any flavor Jell-O. She uses strawberry, cherry, raspberry and concord grape and all the flavors taste great.

Helen Santak of Newark, Del., writes that to freeze jelly, sterilize jars; fill with jelly. Cover with tight lids. Let the jars of jelly set at room temperature for 24 to 48 hours. Place in freezer. She writes that jelly does not freeze solid because it has so much sugar. It is easy to spoon the amount desired on to a serving dish.

ANSWER — Mrs. Ginny Atkinson, Bridgeton, N.J., sent a recipe for liver that was requested by a reader. Ginny wrote that many years ago her minister's wife had four small children who would not eat liver.

"What!" Ginny asked, "You don't eat piggily wiggily liver?"

Ginny fixed them liver by running hot water over the liver to stop the bleeding. She cut it into small strips; dusted the strips with flour and fried it quickly until it was crisp. And claimed the liver turned into pig tails. The children loved it, are now married and serve Piggily Wiggily Liver to their children

IMPOSSIBLE PUMPKIN PIE

1 cup sugar
½ cup buttermilk baking mix
2 tablespoons butter
1 13-ounce can evaporated milk
2 eggs
2 cups pumpkin
2½ teaspoons pumpkin pie spices
2 teaspoons vanilla

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease pie plate. Beat ingredients until smooth, one minute in blender on high or 2 minutes with hand mixer. Pour into pie plate. Bake about 50 to 55 minutes until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

For an unusual dessert, try serving a small chunk of Parmesan cheese (approximately 1 ounce), shelled whole walnuts and red grapes. If a large piece is purchased, the Parmesan cheese will keep for several weeks in the refrigerator. Cut surfaces should be covered tightly with wax paper, foil or plastic wrap to protect the surface from drying out.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

Now that my husband has retired, he likes to go on long fishing trips. I prefer short ones as I have so much to do here at home. A few weeks ago, he got up at 4 a.m. to go fishing with his brother and a friend. They drove to Carbon County to fish and came home at 4 p.m. without catching any fish.

In the meantime, I decided that I could spare an hour before cooking dinner for my son and so I walked behind the barn to a grassy bank along the Conestoga River. At first I got no bites but then I caught four sunfish and a 15-inch small-mouthed bass. It was fun and a bit exciting to pull it in. I hated to stop fishing to cook. But, I had a nice fish for supper without traveling a great distance.

We visited the Bloomsburg Fair again this year. It was a lovely day for a drive and some maple trees had pretty yellow and red leaves. One building contained many, many breeds of dogs and they were quite interesting and also noisy. The afternoon was spent in the crowded bleachers watching horse pulling contests as they moved heavier and heavier loads. We sat beside people from Maryland and New York state.

Last week we spent a few hours fishing at Laurel Lake in Cumberland County. We were the only boat on the lake all day. There was a breeze which turned our boat in a semi-circle as the anchor held it in place. Here I caught four small perch which I threw back. The reflection of the colorful leaves in the lake was quite beautiful, and the whole area was peaceful and quiet.

On the way home we heard a very loud explosion and I thought a tire was flat. Instead we discovered a ripped open muffler and so we came home sounding like a tractor. We did stop at a fruit stand in Adams County and bought McIntosh apples and a different kind of squash — a sweet potato squash. It is also known as a vegetable gourd as it is ornamental and has sweet orange flesh. It was a pleasant day.

Cook's Question

Apple Crisp

Add:
2 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 tablespoon white or whole wheat flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
Mix granulated sugar, flour, and cinnamon; sprinkle over apples.
Crumb topping:
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup white or whole wheat flour
¾ cup oatmeal, minute
¼ cup butter or margarine
Mix together by hand until mixture becomes crumbly. Cover apples with crumb topping.
Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes. May be eaten warm or cooled. Good topped with ice cream.

ANSWER — Jean Aurand, New Bloomfield, asked for a recipe for crisp dill pickles. Thanks to Grace Ikeler, Bloomsburg, and Eva Southard, Glen Rock for sending recipes.

Dill Pickles

1 bay leaf
2 heads fresh dill
Dash garlic
½ teaspoon ground red pepper
Pack small cucumbers in a jar. Heat to boiling and pour over cucumbers:
1 quart vinegar
1 quart water
¾ cup sugar
½ cup pickling salt
Process in open kettle; boiling water for 5 to 10 minutes. Liquid will make 6 to 8 pints.

Children Meet Animals Face To Face

BONNIE BRECHBILL
Franklin Co. Correspondent

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.)— For one bright, sunny October day, the lawn of Lester Martin's farm was turned into a petting zoo. About 100 handicapped children from the Franklin Learning Center visited the farm as an educational project. For a few weeks before the visit, the students studied about animal mothers and babies and learned what foods farm animals produce.

Then, only a short ride away from the school, they met all of those animals "in person!" They got acquainted with a Jersey cow named Faith and her calf; two sheep, a goat, a pony, and a hen and her chicks.

Many of the children had never been on a farm before. They were especially fascinated with Faith, and were thrilled when they could squirt a little milk from her udder.

The sheep and the pony stood quietly for many loving touches. Kelby offered the pony a carrot, but it wasn't hungry.

The hayride turned out to be the most popular event of the day.

"It was fun. It was fast and bumpy," said Diana, one of the students.

Corey, on his first visit to a farm, said, "I like the tractor and the hayride and the baby cows."

Mr. Martin stopped the tractor in the cornfield and let each of the children pick an ear of corn.

Back on the front lawn, the children were treated to a snack of milk and homemade cookies. Then they each chose a pumpkin from a huge pile. Mike said, "I'm going to make pumpkin pie!" Annette plans to decorate hers for Halloween and for art class.

When asked about her favorite part of the trip, Annette said, "Everything!"

Many of the children said the hayride was the best part of the visit. "The hayride was fun. It was fast and bumpy," Diana said.

Top Ten Fashion Revue Winners Named

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Ten Fashion Revue contestants were named to the Honors Group during competition held August 7 at Penn State. Sixty regional finalists modeled outfits constructed as part of a 4-H project.

Judges based their selection on garment construction and fit plus modeling poise. The Fashion Revue was part of Penn State 4-H Achievement Days.

Winners included the following:

Tara Yuhas of Scotrun, Monroe County, who sewed a formal taffetta gown and velvet cape. The 16-year-old winner is the daughter of Dennis and Frances Yuhas.

Daniel Rolls of Warren stitched casual dress slacks and a cotton shirt. The 13-year-old student is the son of Richard and Jean Rolls of Warren County.

Malena Katrina Moore of Selingsgrove, Snyder County, is 16 years old and the daughter of John and Sandra Moore.

The 13-year-old 4-H'er is the daughter of Norma and Michael Hornick.

Mandy Riker, daughter of Ted and Nancy Riker, New Holland, Lancaster County, fashioned a suit from wool blends and a silk blouse. The 14-year-old has participated in 4-H sewing projects for seven years.

Heather Haldeman designed a cotton dress with a lace collar. The 17-year-old lives with her parents Barry and Colleen in Manheim, Lancaster County.

Christy Stepp modeled a dropped waist, full pleated dress make from a cotton floral print. Christy is the daughter of Dale and Carol Myers, Brodbecks, York County.

Jennifer Welch made a formal sequined gown from antron and polyester. The 17-year-old is the daughter of David and Connie Welch of Berlin, Somerset County.

Kathleen Kralik of Export, Westmoreland County made a dressy jumpsuit and jacket.

The daughter of James and Sally Kralik is 17 years old and has participated in 10 years of 4-H sewing.

Christa Gallagher is from Uniontown, Fayette County. She made a casual wool skirt, wool vest, and polyester blouse during her seven years of 4-H sewing. Christa is the daughter of William and Janet Gallagher.

Kids In Need Organization Helps Somerset Families

GAY N. BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

ROCKWOOD (Somerset Co.) — From birth through age 18, kids in Somerset County won't be denied medical treatment if an organization called Kids In Need can help it.

Kids in Need (KIN) was started more than five years ago by a compassionate man called Charles "Bill" Gary of Rockwood. Gary says he wanted to do more for children of Somerset County so that none of them would be denied needed medical treatment from lack of finances.

A devastating event inspired Gary to begin the program. The day had begun innocently enough when two families visited together. The husbands headed for the woods. The wives talked while their three pre-schoolers romped happily in the nearby cemetery.

When the mothers were summoned by the one girl, they rushed to the scene. A tombstone had toppled on the 4-year-old girl. With unbelievable strength of superhuman proportions, the visiting friend raised the massive tombstone high enough so the child's mother could pull her free. Gary says that later, other men returned to the scene, pitting their strength against the grave marker. They failed. The tombstone was reported to weigh more than 600 pounds.

"It was the most pitiful thing I've seen," said Gary who drove the family to the hospital.

Following her arrival at a local hospital by ambulance, the child was life-flighted to a Pittsburgh hospital. Her life was miraculously spared, but months of treatment and therapy depleted family finances.

Gary says there was an outpouring of compassion by the community. "They emptied their pocketbooks," he said. He, himself, coordinated a benefit by convincing deer hunters to donate the deer hides to sell for more money for the child's medical bills, which were soaring.

That experience got Bill Gary moving. He started to organize Kids In Need. The community joined the effort. A lawyer acquaintance contacted Harrisburg and donated his time to learn how to register a new organization like KIN. A local insurance company paid the registration fee.

"Everytime we hit a snag," said Gary, "The Lord moved in and worked it out."

Ultimately, a board of directors was appointed during a public meeting. Kids In Need became an entity. Its fund raising committee works as a separate body.

Jolinda Shaffer of Rockwood is the treasurer. She says that children who are suffering from a wide variety of ills have had medical bills paid through KIN funding. Heart disease, Wilson's Disease, cancer, broken bones, ear infections, and dental work — you name it — KIN will help to fix it.

In screening applicants, KIN allows a 25 percent higher income eligibility than does the government assistance program, says Shaffer. She says that certain cases are given special consideration regardless of income if there is a request for aid. Applicants must provide proof of income by submitting recent paystubs and federal tax forms.

These Kids-In-Need supporters do not want credit for helping raise $20,000 annually to help provide medical treatment for kids in Somerset County.

Shaffer says the children enjoy showing their gratitute after being helped by KIN. "Tonight two little girls called me," she said. "They have never seen a dentist. They called me and said, 'Thank you for letting me see the dentist.'"

There is the matter of accountability. Shaffer says donations are generally made by check but on rare occasions when cash is exchanged, three KIN representatives are present.

KIN fundraisers are popular events in Somerset County. Most are held annually, such as the sale of the deer hides during hunting season and which continues to bring in several thousand dollars. Some years the total has yielded $5,000 for KIN.

More recently, a motorcycle club developed a new benefit for KIN called "Poker Run". It is an all day bike run. This year the course streaked through portions of three states including Southwestern PA. Concluding at Somerset in the evening, the "poker hands" were then drawn for some terrific prizes. Lots of food was available and a band played dance music.

Terry Menear, from the Laurel Mountain Chapter Harley Owners Group, says the club has a reputation. It is called "The Ice Cream Club," so dubbed because it prohibits alcoholic beverages at its functions.

Then there was the KIN benefit bake sale this year at the Somerset County Fair in August which grossed $576. This event was a first timer when the fair's baked entries were sold.

Neighbor eyed neighbor as the caloric fare was auctioned off, each wanting to see who was buying what and for how much. Onlookers strained to see whether bidders were fat, thin, or in between.

Dwight "Butch" Lepley of Meyersdale, a big bear of a man, didn't seem "to give a fig" for the teasing he got. He was off and running in no time. By the end, he was the spender of the day with a total tab to pay of $160 for his baked possessions. He flattered his secretary by unflinchingly spending $29 on her blue ribbon entry, then waited around to bid for the "Best of Show." It was a fully decorated tempting burnt sugar layer cake. Lepley's opponent for it drove on. Lepley stood his ground, matching and raising the bid according to the call of the auctioneer. When the figure reached three digits the opponent surrendered to the relentless Lepley who then owned the $100 cake.

Asked why he was willing to spend so much money on a few little baked goodies, Lepley replied with a laugh, "Basically, for Kids In Need. I don't need the cake."

Butch gave away most of his purchases to the volunteer firemen who were manning a food booth. He donated the prize cake to the fair office where many folks got to sample its goodness.

There are many like Butch Lepley supporting KIN. Some $20,000 is raised annually for this organization, according to Shaffer. Civic groups, churches, and individuals, contribute to the success of the all volunteer organization. In conjuntion with a local resort, an annual chicken barbecue is held for KIN. There is a Kiss-A-Pig contest in which locals show wonderful sportsmanship by getting involved for the cause. These represent only a few of the ideas used to support the KIN ideal.

Bill Gary accepts no praise for his noble efforts that are making life better for so many children.

Teen-Agers Brave Heat In Horse Show

COLLEGE PARK, Md.— More than 70 4-Hers didn't let the sweltering heat stop them and their horses from performing at peak level at the junior and senior English 4-H horse and pony shows held Aug. 26 and 27 at the Maryland State Fair in Timonium.

"It was really hot," said Kim Baile, 15, of Union Bridge, Carroll County.

But, obviously, the heat didn't bother her too much. Baile and her crossbred mare, In the Clouds, placed first in the senior hunter over fences (horses at 3'3") category. They received one fourth-place and three second-place ribbons in other contest classes.

"I just enjoy riding," Baile said. "It's rewarding that my horse does well despite the carnival atmosphere."

Tammy Grieve, 15, of Mount Airy, Frederick County, and Brandy Archambo, 15, of Galesville, Anne Arundel County, dominated the senior events, winning three blue ribbons each.

Grieve took top honors in English Equitation - hunter seat (ponies and horses), English equitation hunter seat-over fences (small ponies at 2', medium ponies at 2'3", large ponies at 2'6", and horses at 3') and, finally, English performance - hunter under saddle not to jump (horses). Credit must also go to her thoroughbred gelding, Blue Ice.

Archambo and her welsh mare, Severn, placed first in English conformation - show in hand - yearling. Archambo and her quarter horse gelding pony, A Touch of Jonathan, won first prize in senior English performance - English pleasure over fences (ponies at 2'), and in senior English pleasure (ponies).

Another big winner of the day was 16-year-old Heather Brown of Street, Harford County. With the help of her welsh pony, Tuckaway's Lily Time; Appaloosa pony, Midnight Lace; and thoroughbred gelding, Spuds, Brown won two first-place ribbons in English conformation - show in hand (2 yr. olds, fillies and geldings) and English pleasure command, as well as second-, third-, and seventh-place ribbons in other classes.

"I'm grateful that Heather is interested in 4-H," said proud grandmother Marilyn Adelsberger. "Kids can get into so much trouble with drugs these days. Horses are her love, and I'm glad."

Other first-prize winners at the 4-H English horse show were:

SENIORS

Grooming & Showmanship: Jennifer Key, Anne Arundel Co

Conformation - Show in Hand (2 yrs. old, fillies & geldings): Heather Brown, Harford Co

This Horse, I Think I'll Keep Him*— Kristin Keeney, 16, of Baldwin, Harford County, does not appear too unhappy after winning first prize and a championship ribbon in the senior 4-H English horse show at the Maryland State Fair on Aug. 26. Keeney and her gelding, Fatal Attraction, placed first in English conformation - show in hand (geldings-ponies-- 3 years old and over).

The champion mare was Shannon Moore's Pralines 'n Cream and the reserve champion was Kim Thomas's Lady Gallagher. The champion gelding was Sarah Millard's Silver Bullet, and the reserve champion was Tammy Trible's Coco

Cedar Crest FFA Participates At The All-American Show

Members working at the show included Jere Lehman, Brian Wallace, Mike Keller, Nathan Seyfert, George Steiner, Brian Nornhold, and Kris Shultz.

The tour included identifying the six different breeds of dairy cattle and showing how a cow is milked. The All-American Show is one of the top three dairy shows in the country.

The elementary students were then treated to milk, and at the conclusion of the tour were given coloring books. The children went home with a new knowledge of the dairy industry and found out that the milk they drink doesn't really come from the store.

Two Cedar Crest FFA members won ribbons with their dairy animals in the junior show. Ammon Peiffer placed second with his intermediate yearling heifer and received a master showman ribbon. Jason Krall placed third with his intermediate heifer calf.

IT'S MORE THAN ONE TRACTOR.

Here's one tractor that does more work than a half dozen tractors combined. Put it to work on any kind of farm chore. Plowing. Cultivating. Loading. Mowing. Backhoeing. Hauling. And, like we said, more.

The L3350 has a strong 4-cylinder diesel engine, rated at 32 PTO horsepower. It also has direct injection for good fuel economy and quick starts. Longer intervals between oil changes, too.

A couple of other features make this Kubota tractor a real workhorse. An 8 x 8 partially synchronized transmission for easy shifting. Position and draft control for more accurate implement placement.

So come in and take a look at the Kubota L3350. You'll think you're seeing double.

Victory For Manheim Sheep Show Exhibitors

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — The Manheim Farm Show on October 11 was a night of victory for both beginner and experienced sheep exhibitors. With 170 entries in the sheep show, keen competition prevailed.

A Manheim brother and sister team captured the top spots in both breeding and market competition. With his Hampshire champion, Wendall Landis topped all breed champions to take the supreme champion title. He also won the intermediate showmanship trophy.

In his five years of showing, the 14-year-old previously won the showmanship award twice at the Elizabethtown Fair. Wendall is the son of Abe and Dottie Landis and raises 45 sheep on their West View Acres farm.

His 10-year-old sister, Regina Landis, showed the grand champion market lamb.

"I didn't expect Shasta would win," Regina said of her heavyweight market lamb. Regina came close to sweeping the sale market lamb title also with Bruno, a home bred heavyweight, that earned the reserve champion sale lamb title.

Tracy Bollinger showed a Dorset named Champ that placed first as the champion sale lamb and was named reserve champion market lamb. At the Ephrata Fair, Champ had placed first.

Thirteen-year-old Tracy is the daughter of Carol and Eugene Bollinger of Manheim. She has three sheep. At last year's Manheim sheep show, Tracy won the champion and reserve market lamb titles. Tracy credits her four years of successful showing to "lots of exercise." She runs and has her sheep jump over hurdles to condition them.

Fifteen-year-old Jessica Hill of Conestoga earned the senior showmanship trophy in her first year of showing. That's quite an accomplishment considering she was competing against 13 older teens, many with nine years of experience. The judge, Ron Miller, manager of Wey Farms in Kutztown, commended Jessica for her calm control.

Miller said, "In the beginning, I placed her in seventh place because I wanted to see if she got discouraged. Instead, she remained calm and in complete control the whole time."

Jessica is the daughter of David and Patricia Hill. She has only one sheep, which she has shown at several fairs this season.

Jill Hoffines walked away with the junior showman award. The 10-year-old daughter of Robert and Linda Hoffines attributes her success to her older brother Peter and sister Amy. The three raise 30 Hampshire and Tunis sheep on their Marietta farm. Jill said the trio works together by walking the sheep and divides the prize money.

Market and sale lamb champions prepared for the judge's final decision on the grand champion market lamb. From left: Tracy Bollinger, Regina Landis, Lisa Reiff, and Michael Fyock.

FFA Team Wins State Contest

Colliton Selected 4-H Ambassador

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — Bucks County 4-H member Lori Colliton, Newtown, has been selected as the 1990-91 Bucks County 4-H ambassador. She was chosen to use her public speaking skills to market the 4-H program in the community for one year.

Colliton was one of 62 4-H teen leaders from 27 counties in Pennsylvania attending the second Penn State 4-H Ambassadors Conference in June. The Ambassadors received training in communications, leadership, and marketing skill areas. The conference was designed to develop participant's speaking skills to interest and encourage youth and adults to become involved in 4-H.

One of the highlights of the conference was a reception held in the ambassadors' honor at the Nittany Lion Inn, Penn State University. Among the guests addressing the 4-H Ambassadors was William W. Asbury, Penn State vice president for student services, who is the honorary chairman of the Penn State 4-H Ambassador Conference. Other guests included Dr. Wayne Schutjer, associate dean/director of cooperative extension; Dr. Samuel Curtis, head of the agricultural and extension department; and several extension regional directors and faculty members.

Colliton was also selected to be a state 4-H ambassador. She is one of a team of 12 chosen for their outstanding presentations and public speaking skills. She will attend both county and state 4-H events to promote the program this year.

Colliton, 15, is a member of the Bucks County Seeing Eye Puppy 4-H Club. A 4-H'er for seven years, she has raised puppies for the blind through the organization, Seeing Eye, Inc., based in New Jersey. She has participated as a host for a 4-H international exchange delegate from Japan. She has recently returned from Japan for a six-week exchange in the country as an International 4-H youth exchange ambassador. She has taken the sewing and leadership 4-H projects. She has also participated in the 4-H Capital Days program in Harrisburg and competed in the Seeing Eye Puppy Bowl at Penn State 4-H Achievement Days.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Society 9

Group Nine of the Berks County Society of Farm Women met on Wednesday, October 3, in the home of Winnie Hayik of Weavertown. Nine members were present to hear Faye Strickler, from the Berks County Extension Service, discuss various aspects of food safety, from shelf or freezer life to types of fats.

Three members will attend the County Convention in Kutztown on Saturday, October 6. A trip is planned to Thayers Weed Barn in Quakertown on Saturday, October 27.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Pat Haas of Weavertown to work on a Christmas craft.

Lancaster Society 20

Lancaster Farm Women #20 met on Thursday, September 6, at the home of Barbara Stone with Helen Tout and Dorothy Shirk cohosting. Following the refreshments, Steve Echternech of Strasburg showed a film and talked on the ritualistic crimes in nontraditional groups and stated there are 5,600 different groups in the United States.

Following the devotions by Helen Tout, the Lord's Prayer and the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag the president, Anna Mary Groff, conducted the business meeting. The treasurer reported a balance of $352.95 in the treasury and Pauline Reinhart gave the Sunshine report - 5 Sympathy and 3 Get Well cards were sent during the month. It was reported that the County selected Habitat for Humanity as their project. Farm Women's Day is October 14, at the Donegal Church when Joanne Hershey will be the speaker and the County Convention is November 3.

A motion was made by Vivian Trout and seconded by Dorothy Crawford that we give $25 each to Meals on Wheels, the Solanco Library and Habitat for Humanity. Jean Ressel reported for the nominating committee nominating Vera Herr for president for two years and Nancy Axe for vice president and there being no further nominations they were approved.

The meeting was closed by singing "Brighten the Corner" to meet in October with Mary Shirk and Lillian Winters as co-hostess.

York Society 21

York Co. Society of Farm Women Group #21 held their September meeting at McKendree Methodist Chruch social hall, Airville. President Nedra Graybeal was in charge of the meeting with devotions by Barbara Wambaugh. A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed by the members and guests present. A white elephant sale was held with Ruth Miller, member of Group 21, serving as auctioneer. A profit of ninety three dollars was made from this project. A donation of $100 was given for medical expenses to a nine-year-old girl from the community. Group #21 will be selling Benson fruit cakes as a ways and means project for the holidays.

The October meeting will be held October 24. It will be in charge of the Social committee. This will be a birthday party where secret pals will be revealed and new ones selected for next year.

Members of Group 21 will attend the Farm Women's Convention of York County at Wisehaven on November 1.

Berks Convention

The 39th Annual Convention of the Society of Farm Women of Berks County was held at the Kutztown Grange Saturday, October 6, with 123 members and guests attending.

It was a day for spreading "Happiness" as the St. John's Lutheran Kitchen Band of Boyertown entertained with "fun and music." Amy Woodell, 11-year-old granddaughter of member Agnes Noll, rendered several piano selections.

Berks County Dairy Princess Suzanne Moyer presented her winning skit, and Jill Neiman, mini princess, recited a poem.

Special recognitions and congratulations were given to 80-year-old members and to several groups celebrating anniversaries this year: Group 1, 50 years; Group 3, 30 years; Group 5, 25 years; and Group 11, 15 years. Also to Janet Schlegel, outgoing president.

Edith Diehl, state president from Cumberland County installed the new officers: President Joan Loeb of Group 3, vice president Fern Phillipp of Group 2, secretary Joyce Shott of Group 10, and Wendy Lingle of Group 11 as treasurer.

PUMPKIN GRANOLA BARS

¾ cup shredded coconut
1 cup chopped walnuts
2 cups rolled oats
1 cup brown sugar
⅓ cup crumbled All Bran or wheat germ
¾ cup pumpkin
½ cup melted butter
1 slightly beaten egg

In mixing bowl, combine coconut, walnuts, oats, sugar and All Bran or wheat germ. Add pumpkin, butter, and egg. Mix only until dry ingredients are moistened. Spread into 15x10-inch jelly roll pan, slightly greased. Bake in 350 degree oven for 40 minutes or until lightly browned. When warm, cut into 2-inch squares. Makes 2 dozen.

Q. How do you melt caramels in the microwave? I tried it and I burned them.

A To melt 1 pound of caramels: unwrap caramels and place them in a microwavable container. Microwave (High 1½ minutes; stir. Then microwave (High) 30 seconds and stir. Repeat this microwaving and stirring until caramels are melted. In a 650- to 700-watt microwave, total time is usually 2 to 3 minutes. In a lower-watt oven, time will be from 3 to 4 minutes. Fresh caramels will melt faster than dried-out ones. Less than a pound will take less time.

FPPF Polar Power

Keeps Your Diesel Running In The Worst Winter Cold!

Fuel filters, separators do nothing to keep diesel fuel from the waxing or gelling that blocks up and clogs fuel lines and filters.

FPPF Polar Power contains FPPF's Fuel Power and FPPF's Polarized Diesel Fuel Flow Improver, the industry's leaders. It will keep your diesel running in the worst winter cold: lowering the pour-point, totally dispersing water, eliminating gum/varnish...outperforming all other additives and at lower cost.

Have You Heard?

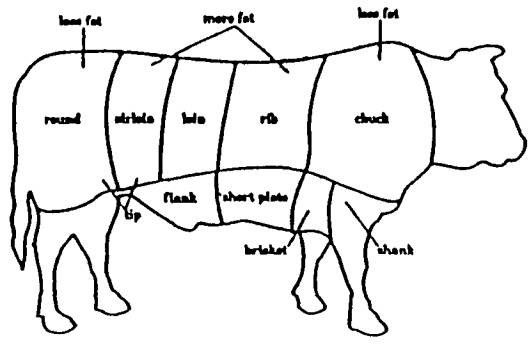
By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Extension Home Economist

Many of you have converted to low-fat, low-cholesterol diets. However, it is not necessary to cut out red meat completely from your menus. In fact, red meat is very nutritious. Beef is an excellent source of high-quality protein, B vitamins (especially niacin, B_6 and B_{12}), iron and zinc. Eating three to four ounce servings of lean cuts of beef a couple of times a week can help you get these necessary nutrients and improve your nutritional status. By selecting lean cuts of beef and consuming only 3 to 4 ounce servings, you should not exceed the recommended 30% limit of calories from fat.

The leanest cuts are the cuts that come from the muscles that get the most exercise. An animal's neck, shoulders, legs and belly muscles work harder than those muscles on the upper back. The leaner cuts also have more protein, vitamins and minerals and less fat. As a general rule, the closer to a hoof or the head, the leaner the meat. These leaner cuts of beef also tend to be less expensive than the more popular higher fat cuts. Meat labels identify which cut the steak or roast comes from.

The cuts of beef and where they are located as as follows:



Another way to check fat content is by carefully checking the appearance of the meat. The fewer flecks of white or yellow marbling throughout the cut the leaner the cut. Marbling is fat that cannot be trimmed. You should always trim the excess fat from the outside of the cut and the seam fat before you cook the meat.

Leaner beef cuts need to be cooked properly to be enjoyed. Because leaner cuts come from the more exercised muscles they are not as tender as those cuts from the back of the animal. Marinating before cooking will tenderize lean meat. One of my favorite marinades is Italian salad dressing. Marinades must include acid ingredients such as lemon juice, wine, vinegar, yogurt or tomato juice. You can also tenderize meat mechanically by pounding or scoring the meat. Cooking at lower temperatures with liquid (braising and stewing) will also help to soften the well exercised muscles.

Enjoy your red meat. Try to select the leaner cuts most of the time. If you are a prime rib or porterhouse steak lover, try to eat these high fat cuts in moderation. We are seeing leaner beef in the markets these days as the beef industry attempts to supply consumers with the leaner beef they are demanding.

Unique Living Gift Fair

Lititz (Lancaster Co.) — It's an annual problem: What gift does one buy for a person who already has most everything? Heifer Project International (HPI) has the solution.

The third annual Heifer Project International "Living Gift Fair" will be held October 27, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Lititz Church of the Brethren. This unique event, sponsored by HPI and an ecumenical group of local volunteers, enables people to deal with two problems at once.

"The unique thing about the Living Gift Fair," says volunteer fair coordinator Dan Fitzkee, of Manheim, "is that you can buy gifts for loved ones and help a needy family at the same time."

Shoppers at the fair will be able to choose from a variety of HPI animals, ranging from the more traditional — cows, goats, pigs, sheep, and rabbits — to the more exotic — yaks, water buffalo, and honeybees.

Shoppers purchase animals or shares of animals in the name of a friend. The friend receives an attractive HPI gift card. A family in need receives the HPI animal that is purchased. Colorfully decorated tables provide information about how the HPI animals benefit poor families in the US and around the world.

In addition to animals, shoppers will also be able to choose from homemade baked goods, donated arts and crafts items, SERRV Self-Help Handcrafts from Third World countries, an antique quilt, and more.

Homemade soups and sandwiches will be on sale for lunch, and a Petting Zoo of live animals, like the ones HPI ships around the world, is sure to please children.

Heifer Project International is a 46-year-old, non-profit development agency that alleviates world hunger and poverty by giving poor families "living gifts" of animals and the training required to care for the animals. "You don't get an animal unless you have the facilities and know-how to care for it," Dan Fitzkee explains. "HPI provides training to make sure people know how to care for the animals properly."

But HPI does more than give handouts, says Dan. "A slogan of HPI," he says, "is that we give a 'hand up,' not a handout." All recipients of HPI animals are required to "pass on the gift" by giving the first offspring of their HPI animal to another carefully selected family in need. This creates a chain of giving that has transformed entire communities in the more than 35 countries assisted annually by HPI, he says.

Last year's Living Gift Fair raised about $8,000 for HPI; enough to send either 400 rabbits, 67 goats, 16 heifer cows, or 80,000 fish to people in need.

Donations of arts and crafts and baked goods will be accepted up to the day of the fair. For more information, contact Dan Fitzkee at 665-5743.

The Lititz Church of the Brethren is located at 300 W. Orange St., in Lititz, directly across from Warwick High School.

ALUMINUM FOIL INSULATION GUARANTEED FOR LIFE

Direct factory to you sale on 1 million square feet of lifetime Radiant Barrier aluminum foil reflective insulation. Designed for poultry & livestock buildings, metal buildings, hog farms, horse barns, cold storage houses, etc... Update & insulate your buildings. Makes a cleaner & healthier environment, lower mortality rate.You will never have to reinsulate again. Buy any amount for 23¢ a square foot while it lasts. Farmers, growers, contractors & dealers inquiries welcome.

10 REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD CONSIDER RADIANT BARRIER REFLECTIVE INSULATION

1) Our reflective insulation has an insulating value equivalent to conventional types of insulation 8 times as thick in certain applications.
2) Completely eliminates condensation, even in metal buildings
3) Controls Heat - Keeps environment considerably cooler in Summer months and warmer in the Winter months. This will result in lower utility costs and healthier livestock.
4) Specially coated outer surfaces can take power washing.
5) Resistant to stains, mildew, chemicals, abrasions and animal waste.
6) Light reflective, provides a brighter work place with less lighting requirements.
7) Tough and durable, structurally very strong while still remaining flexible. Not affected by vermin, birds or any rodents.
8) Ease of installation and maintenance, there are no special clothing requirements needed like gloves, masks or eye protection. all you need is a staple gun and razor knife.
9) Our reflective insulation surpasses all building code requirements Fire resistant NFPA class A. UBC class 1. Flame spread 25. Smoke density 15.
10) Our reflective insulation is not affected by moisture, so you will never have to reinsulate again. Radiant Barrier has been designed to last forever. A smart investment that will pay you forever.

Got Grain? Then get the trailer that is Timpte tough...the Super Hopper. It's not only built to take it...it's also built to cut fuel costs. The Super Hopper is lightweight and aerodynamically designed to reduce wing drag. When there's grain to be hauled, Timpte does the haulin' best and pulls a lot easier than the rest.

INTRODUCING THE REDESIGNED

WRANGLER

OUR BEST VALUE TRAILER JUST GOT BETTER.

The new Wrangler. More aerodynamic. Better looking. And the strongest Wrangler yet. With top-quality components and rugged construction, this Wrangler is the best trailer value you can find.

- LIGHTWEIGHT- Eby stock trailers are 25-35% lighter than comparable steel trailers. Less weight means better fuel mileage or increased payload.
- MAINTENANCE- Eby aluminum trailers won't rust. Welding and painting can cost you dollars in down time and repairs.
- DURABILITY- Eby trailers are built tough. Quality components and 6061 alloy aluminum provide the ruggedness required in a livestock trailer.

CONSTRUCTED FOR YEARS OF MAINTENANCE-FREE SERVICE.

Look over these outstanding features.

- Less weight. Eby aluminum bodies weigh up to 30% less than comparable steel and wood construction.
- Less maintenance. Aluminum construction won't rust or rot - never needs painting.
- Long-life durability. Heavy-duty structural components and hollow-tube frame combine with aluminum floor and sides to stand up to years of hard work.

FORD NEW HOLLAND

Comin' On STRONG

Only on new Ford 8030 Series tractors

Simpler, straight-line shuttling between forward and reverse is only the most obvious advantage of new Ultra-Command™ powershift. The real advantage is this: it's the smoothest, easiest-to-use powershift ever.

With Ultra-Command™, any shifting action takes just a single movement of the lever. You can even pre- select the gears you want to work in before you start— it takes only seconds. And with 18 forward gears and 9 reverse gears, you get more working speeds to choose from.

Four models are available: Model 8530 (105 PTO hp), Model 8630 (121 PTO hp), Model 8730 (140 PTO hp) and Model 8830 (170 PTO hp). Ultra-Command™ is available on the three larger models.

GET THE EXTRA EDGE

Put a Vicon three-bladed disc mower through wet, tangled crops – even fire ant hills – and then compare the difference.

With almost double the number of cuts per minute over two-bladed competitors, and the extra suction created by Vicon's unique triangular discs, it's easy to see why Vicon CM disc mowers are the choice for fast, clean NO-PLUG performance.

Wolff Praises NASDA On Salmonella

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff today praised a Salmonella enteritidis control resolution passed by the National Association of State Departments of Agriculture (NASDA) at the organization's fall meeting.

Wolff helped spearhead passage of the NASDA resolution, which recommends that all states standardize their control measures for Salmonella enteritidis (SE).

"Public health matters and marketing of agricultural products should not be affected by state boundaries," Wolff said. "NASDA's resolution is important to Pennsylvania's poultry industry because it tells all the states they should use the same set of control measures and laboratory procedures."

The NASDA resolution also urges USDA to amend federal rules so that restrictions be imposed only on infected flocks implicated in an SE outbreak, and that only an infected flock be restricted when SE is traced to a multiple flock production facility.

NASDA is a nonprofit, nonpartisan organization comprised of the 50 state departments of agriculture and those from the trust territories of Puerto Rico, Guam, American Samoa and the Virgin Islands. The members of the organization are commissioners, secretaries and directors of the departments of agriculture in the 50 states and four territories.

Wolff, who serves as chairman of NASDA's Dairy Food and Drug Committee, has also been elected chairman of the Northeastern Region (NEASDA) during the organization's fall meeting in Virginia this week.

Is Your Corn Picker Engine In Shape To Handle This Year's Heavy Crop?

This twin 20 hp is becoming very popular for hay balers and other applications traditionally equipped with 2 cylinder Wisc. engines and can also replace the older 4 cylinder engines on some applications.

Works very well to run corn pickers, crimpers and mower crimper units. We can mount your Wisc. clutch reduction for $1495 or sell the engine with used Wisc. reduction for $1995. Price includes picking up your clutch and delivery of completed unit for you. (Lancaster County Only)

We Only Have A Limited Amount Of These Engines Available w/Reduction
Also Available:
20 HP (Same model) With STD Shaft To Run Hay Balers

All weather, all-season productivity is yours with the Case International 275 Compact Tractor. A smooth-shifting 9F/3R speed synchromesh transmission, MFD option, standard differential lock and a series of new four-season implements equip the 275 for heavy duty jobs. The Case IH 3-cylinder diesel engine delivers plenty of fuel-efficient productive power. Standard equipment includes a Category I 3-point hitch that makes implement hook-up fast and easy. Dual-speed 540/1150 rpm rear-mounted live PTO adds to your all-season performance with Case IH implement versatility. A large, improved suspension tractor seat, convenient controls, full instrumentation and flat deck bring a new level of comfort to 275 operation. Maintenance-free battery and easy access hood simplify routine service.

See us today. Find out how a Case International 275 Compact Tractor can speed up big mowing and farm jobs.

GOOD GEHL MOWER CONDITIONERS

Gehl keeps it simple. Gehl products have been responsive to farmers needs for over 130 years. And in that time we've gained a reputation as a leader—introducing innovative products that stress performance and reliability.

Design simplicity translates into less downtime. That means your Gehl equipment will operate at its maximum cost effectiveness well into the future.

ONLY $7,980 9' w/Hydraulic Swing-Eligible For Waiver

With Gehl mower conditioners you get
- High speed cutting. At up to 1640 strokes per minute you'll get through tough cutting conditions with ease.
- Outstanding conditioning. Ultra fast drying times—a result of intermeshing rubber rolls with intermittent ribs that provide more working edges than continuous ribbed rolls.
- Three point flotation support. Lateral and vertical flotation for clean cutting in uneven fields and fast reaction for cutterbar protection from field obstructions.
- Easy serviceability. Simple design, easy adjustments, lower maintenance and less wear. Gehl mower conditioners are available in 7' and 9' foot mounted models or 12' and 14 foot wing frame units.

Pick the Gehl mower conditioner that fits your operation. We're sure you'll agree that the best deals are usually the simplest—like Gehl mower conditioners.

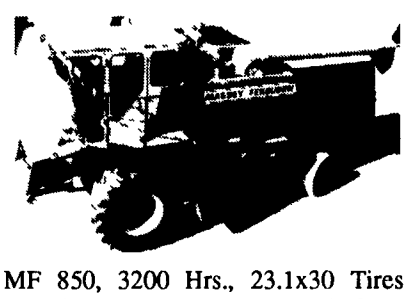
YOU DON'T NEED TO BE A MATHEMATICIAN TO LEARN

THE 3 LAWS
OF HOOBER RECONDITIONED AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES.
YOU ONLY NEED TO TRY ONE.

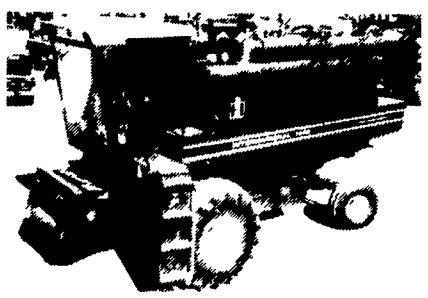
1st LAW OF HOOBER RECONDITIONED AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES

TEN (10) YEARS OLD IS NOT EQUAL TO (≠) WORN OUT

Because of the simple design of the CASE IH Axial Flow Combines, they can be reconditioned by Hoober's expert combine mechanics to like new condition, so they will provide 2nd and 3rd owners years of satisfactory and profitable operation.



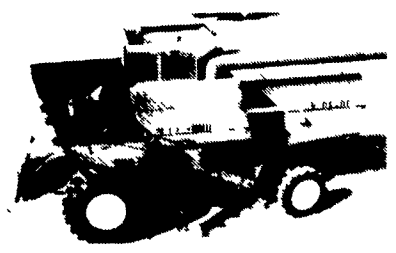
MF 850, 3200 Hrs., 23.1x30 Tires w/1163 Cornhead, 9115 Flex Platform (U5459)



IH 1440, 2760 Hrs., 28Lx26, 11.00x16 Tires, Auto Header Control, AC/Htr (U4817)

2nd LAW OF HOOBER RECONDITIONED AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES

IH 1460, 3000 Hrs., 1981, Diesel, Hydro, 30.5x32 Tires (U4847)



JD 6620, 1800 Hrs., Diesel, 28Lx26 Tires, Cab With A/C, Heat, Auto Header Control (5465)

3rd LAW OF HOOBER RECONDITIONED AXIAL-FLOW COMBINES

3,500 HOURS PLUS (+) HOOBER RECONDITIONING EQUALS (=) YEARS OF DEPENDABLE SERVICE

3,500 hours on a conventional combine usually means too much trouble to be dependable. Axial-Flow Combines with 3,500 hours reconditioned by Hoober's have proven to run for years when bought by farmers in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey and New York.

A CASE-IH AXIAL-FLOW COMBINE SERVICED BY EXPERT HOOBER COMBINE MECHANICS EQUALS (=) LITTLE OR NO DOWN TIME DURING HARVEST.

When Hoober's expert combine mechanics service Axial-Flow Combines in the off-season, they run trouble-free through the season.

LESS FUEL PER ACRE... WITH A CASE IH xpe AXIAL FLOW COMBINE

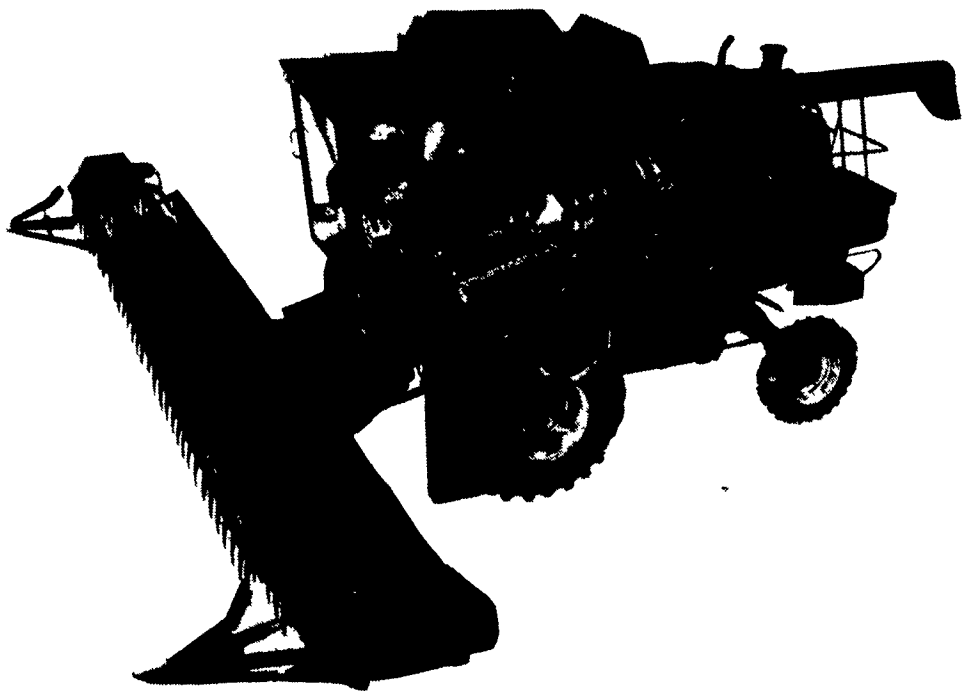
For Over 10 Years the Words AXIAL FLOW have meant two things: BETTER GRAIN & MORE OF IT. But now, you can add something else to that list: EXTRA POWER and ECONOMY



AXIAL FLOW combines are now powered by the CASE IH NCE engines. These all new "state of the art" engines are designed with more torque reserve and even better fuel efficiency. And that spells more acres and more bushels of grain from every gallon of fuel.

There is a model to match your needs...	MODEL	ENGINE
	1640	160 HP, 359 cu. in.
	1660	190 HP, 505 cu. in.
	1680	235 HP, 505 cu. in.

TORQUE AMPLIFIERS & CLUTCHES

★ New Wider Heavy Duty Super Sprag 1-1/32" Wide
★ 5 Yr. Warranty Against Sprag Failure
★ Introductory Price $695.00

We are pleased to announce a major improvement in TA strength & performance backed up by a warranty that is unmatched in the industry. The 5/8" width Dana sprag which we have used over the past 10 years has proven its ability to perform under the most adverse of conditions and has achieved results that have sent our competitors scrambling to keep up. By increasing the width of the sprag to 1-1/32" and caging it in a heavier frame, we now have an unmatched shock load capacity and dramatically raised our load carrying ability. Our studies have shown that 90% of TA problems are directly related to sprag failure We feel that we now have the strongest sprag & best rebuilt TA available and it will be warranted as follows:

*5 yr. - 100% parts & labor against sprag
*2 yr. - 100% parts & labor on remainder of unit
Our standard heavy duty TA is still available at $645 00 and carries a *2 yr. - 100% parts & labor warranty.
*Certain restrictions apply and there will be a maximum labor pay-out of $450.00.
NEW price on ramps & carries - $200 00

MAGNUM 7140

If you'd like to see the difference a MAGNUM tractor makes, try one out in your field. We have models available for demonstration this fall. Just give us a call.

MAGNUM tractors have set new standards for durability, reliability and performance. They still have the best warranty* in the industry —5 years or 5000 Hours. And MAGNUM resale values are higher than ever.

To make MAGNUM tractors even more attractive, we're offering special buyer incentives this fall. Ask us about low-rate financing, waiver-of-financing or cash discounts in lieu of special financing. Offers too good to ignore.

But the real test is in your field. Take a MAGNUM tractor out for a test run. Call us today.

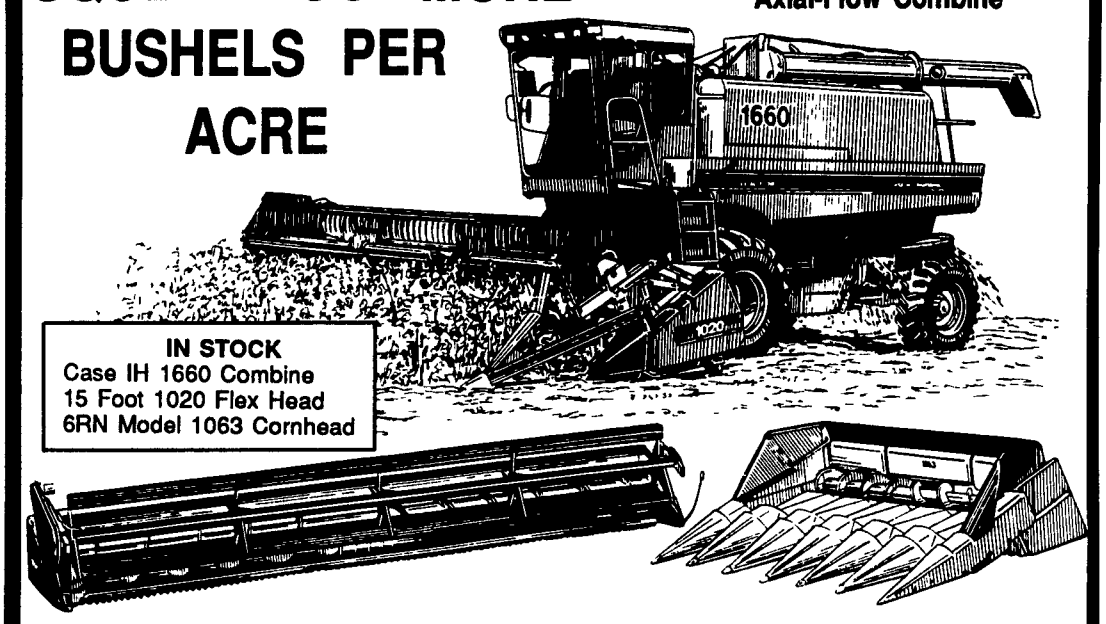
Case International 1660 Axial-Flow Combine



IN STOCK
Case IH 1660 Combine
15 Foot 1020 Flex Head
6RN Model 1063 Cornhead

When it comes to harvesting crops, this big crop-saver can save more grain than other combines in its size class. It has the muscle to "get in and get out" fast to make the most of each day of good harvesting weather. It consistently turns out cleaner grain so you can get top market price. Put a 1660 to work and take advantage of these field-proven features.

- Axial-Flow Design. Uses a single rotor with fewer moving parts and fewer problems than conventional combines using the cylinder-and-concave design. Its more gentle threshing action means less cracked grain and top price for every bushel.
- Human-Engineered Cab. Provides day-long comfort for increased operator productivity.
- 190 hp Turbocharged Diesel and 3-Speed Hydrostatic Transmission. Plenty of power to handle soft soils and hilly terrain.
- 1015 Pickup Header. Available in 11- and 13-foot widths. Hydraulic variable speed drive lets you match crop pickup to ground speed for smooth delivery with minimum shattering.
- 1010 Rigid and 1020 Flexible Cutterbar Direct Cut Headers also available in several widths from 15 to 30 feet depending on model.
- 1000 Series Corn Heads in four to eight row sizes.

The 1660 Axial-Flow Combine...a generation ahead.

Introducing the M-F 8450 and M-F 8460.

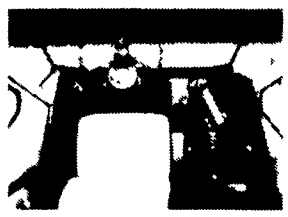
THE NEWEST NUMBERS IN COMBINING. FROM THE OLDEST NAME IN COMBINES.

The people who invented self propelled combines now bring you two new high-capacity, conventional combines that lead the field in performance features and peace-of mind

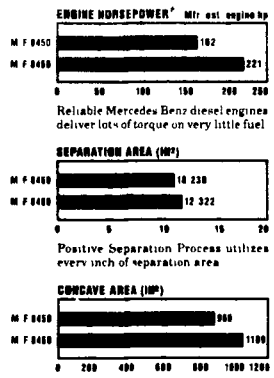
Look to a name you know and trust for the quality and features you need

- Hydrostatic drive simplifies operation
- Wide-view cab gives an unobstructed view of the cutterbar
- Electronic harvest monitor displays how every stage of the combine is performing
- Choose 6-row corn head rigid or flexible bottom grain headers and a windrow pickup header
- Trained M F dealer service people and the M-F parts network

We've even arranged low rate M F financing or a lease or rental plan to meet your needs. See us soon to learn more about the best values around in M-F tractors, combines and implements



Spacious, center-mounted cab is damped and insulated for less than 80-dB sound levels



Reliable Mercedes-Benz diesel engines deliver lots of torque on very little fuel

An Economical Efficient Method Of Making Silage

This is the Agripac System:
- The lift-arm places the bale on the turn table.
- Film is then attached to one of the bale strings.
- As the turn table is rotating, the rollers will slowly turn the bale.
- The film is cut, film end secured and bale tipped off.

PLY-FOIL is a very efficient form of insulation. In application after application it has proven to be extremely effective at controlling heat gain/loss, thus significantly reducing heating and cooling costs. PLY-FOIL Insulation uses an aluminum foil to reflect up to 97% of the radiant heat.

PLY-FOIL BENEFITS

PLY-FOIL products are clean, lightweight, and non-toxic; are unaffected by changes in humidity; do not shrink; and once installed require no maintenance. They do not promote the growth of fungi or bacteria, and provide no nesting support for rodent or insect pests. PLY-FOIL, which has a Class A/Class 1 fire rating, meets the fire and smoke safety requirements of most federal, state and local building codes.

COMPOSTING DAILY POULTRY MORTALITY

John H. Schwartz
Multi-County
Poultry Agent

Several years ago, poultry researchers at the University of Maryland and University of Delaware began looking for a new method for disposing of daily poultry mortality on farms.

This new method had to be environmentally safe, inexpensive, fit into daily management chores of the farm, be simple to operate, produce no offensive odors, pose no health problems for poultry or people, and produce a useable product. As a result, a composting system was developed.

Composting is an old organic gardening practice to transform organic wastes into a useful end product — compost. It is a controlled natural process using beneficial microorganisms — bacteria and fungi. Since aerobic bacteria (bacteria requiring oxygen) are involved, very little odor is produced.

Heat and time are the essential processes for composting. To work properly, temperatures in excess of 130 degrees F. have to be achieved and maintained for 15 to 20 days.

Exposure of all bird tissue to these conditions requires a minimum of two 10-day cycles of composting. Thus, a two stage composter was designed. The primary stage consists of bins not exceeding 8 feet wide, 6 feet deep, and 5 feet high. The secondary stage may be one large bin not exceeding 5 feet high.

It requires 1 cubic foot of primary and secondary capacity for each pound of daily poultry mortality. To calculate daily poultry mortality weight, multiply farm capacity times market weight times percent daily mortality. Percent daily mortality is the number of dead birds per day divided by the number in the house.

The compost mixture is 1 pound dead poultry, 1.5 pounds poultry manure, and 0.1 pound straw. The three materials are layered in the bin. Once the temperature drops (usually after 7 to 10 days), the compost is turned and transferred to the secondary phase bin. It takes an average of 20 minutes per day to load and manage the composter. Most of this work is performed from the tractor seat.

When constructing a composter, make sure you place a roof over the bins, have a concrete floor, and use rot-resistant building materials. The concrete floor is essential to protect the composter from rodents and dogs while allowing year-round operation.

As with any dead animal disposal system, strict biosecurity needs to be followed. This includes not transporting dead poultry from one farm to another, not taking shortcuts in loading the composter, and daily monitoring the temperature of the bins.

These composters have been in operation for several years in at least five different states. Everyone involved with this method has been pleased with the results. Based on these experiences, government cost-sharing funds are available for construction costs.

If you are looking for a better way to dispose of daily mortality on your farm, this composting procedure may be the solution you are seeking. For more information on composting poultry carcasses, please contact me at Penn State Cooperative Extension, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601, (717) 394-6851.

Ag Dept. Calls For Alternative Projects

DOVER, Del. — The Delaware Department of Agriculture is calling for new proposals for its Alternative Crops/Marketing Research Program, a program that began as an experiment to encourage agricultural diversification in Delaware but now is heading into its third year.

The program was launched in 1988 with a $50,000 allocation from the General Assembly. The money is used to help fund selected projects that meet program criteria. In most cases, project sponsors match state funding in kind or cash.

"The program has been successful beyond our expectations," said Secretary of Agriculture William B. Chandler Jr. "We've been able to continue the program for the past two years because of previous year success stories, and we'll continue to support the program objectives as long as funds are available."

Program successes include introduction of Honey Sips, honey snacks in a straw marketed by Lewes beekeeper Brooke Freeman; the explosive riese of aquaculture in part because of information gained in projects funded by this program that studied aquaculture technology, production, and marketing; studies on sorghum which have paid off in cash for farmers who already have converted over to the drought-resistant crop; and the beginnings of promotional programs for commodity groups that have never before attempted marketing campaigns.

Project proposals for this year are due in to the Department of Agriculture office by Nov. 2 at 4:30 p.m. Semi-finalists will be notified by Nov. 21. Complete proposals of semi-finalists are due by Dec. 7, and final selections will be made not later than Dec. 28. Programs may begin immediately thereafter.

Agribusinesses, food and agricultural product processors, nonprofit institutions, commodity associations, and individuals are all eligible to submit proposals.

Proposals will be judged on the following criteria: 1) discovers new and/or better uses for existing products; 2) identifies alternative food or fiber commodities which have positive market potential for Delaware producers, including commodities with industrial uses; 3) reduces production and or marketing costs; and 4) explores innovations in packaging.

Questions regarding the alternative crops/marketing research program should be referred to the marketing and product development section, Department of Agriculture, (302) 739-4811 or (800) 282-8685.

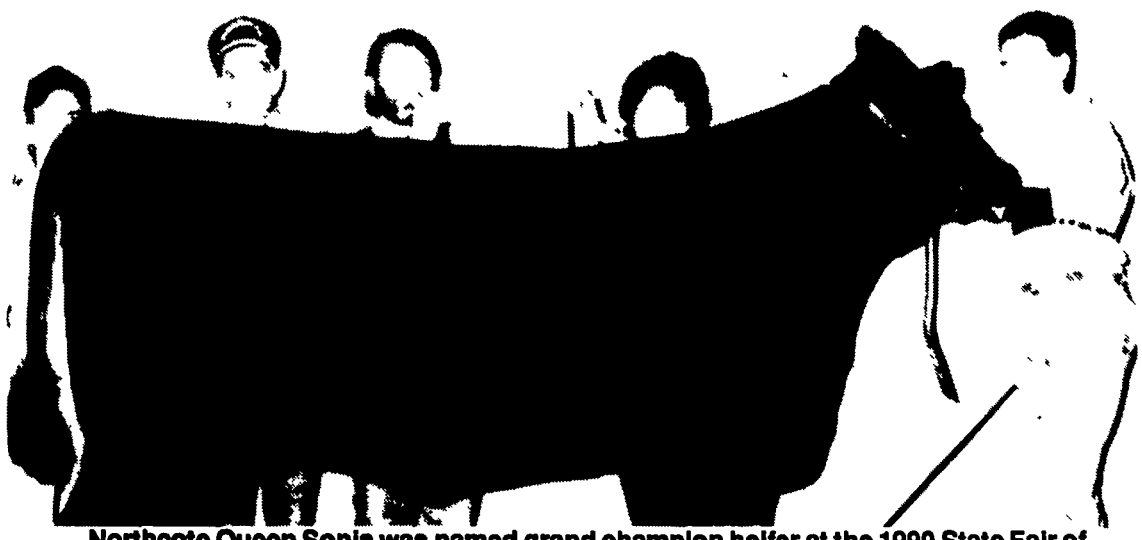
This February 1989 son of Brost Power Drive First won the junior championship.



Northcote Queen Sonja was named grand champion heifer at the 1990 State Fair of Virginia Angus Show in Richmond. Northcote Farm and Elk Creek Angus, both of Forest, own the grand winner. This April 1989 daughter of Waldeck Shocker first won the junior championship.

Judge Selects Virginia Fair Angus Champs

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — Angus exhibitors from throughout the United States brought cattle to compete for championship honors at the 1990 State Fair of Virginia Angus Show in Richmond. Dee Woody of Carbondale, Illinois, evaluated the 88 entries in the heifer, bull, and cow-calf pair categories.

Northcote Queen Sonja was selected the grand champion heifer after winning the junior championship. She was an April 1989 daughter of Waldeck Shocker and was owned by Northcote Farm & Elk Creek Angus, both of Forest, Virginia.

Kruegers Bellona walked away the reserve grand champion heifer. Owned by Whitney Dalton, Altavista, the heifer first won the intermediate division and was a May 1989 daughter of Grubbs Mac Kenzie.

The grand champion bull was WK Classified owned by Yadkin River Angus Farm, Clemmons, North Carolina, and Whitestone & Krebs, Gordon, Nebraska. The bull was first selected the junior champion and was a February 1989 son of Brost Power Drive.

The reserve grand champion bull was an October 1989 son of B&L Stitch named White Hall Superman ES6. Danwell Farms, Earlysville, led out the reserve grand entry. The bull was first picked as judge Woody's senior champion.

In other heifer competition, Genito ACF Sunshine Gal won the senior championship for owner Andrew Federspiel of Powhatan.

The reserve junior champion entry was K W Coral 9100. The heifer is owned by Bradley Watts, Bowling Green, Kentucky; Goshen Farm, Paris, Kentucky; and W.P. Watts, Hiseville, Kentucky.

Northcote Norita won the senior heifer calf championship for Northcote Farm. The reserve senior heifer calf champion was Whitestone Kinannie 960, exhibited by Yadkin River Angus Farm.

B H Miss Canada Charlie E9C won the junior heifer calf championship for owner Andrew Aitcheson. The reserve junior heifer calf winner was J P Karamo 8100 owned by Evie and John Pyne Jr. of Culpeper.

Entre 29 won the reserve junior championship for Andrew Aitcheson and Carroll Grove, both of Waynesboro.

Manx O Mac Henry walked away the intermediate champion bull. He is owned by Manx Farms of Newark, Ohio. The reserve intermediate winner was Zeuswyn Mac Bo 039 owned by Carlton Clore and William Graves, both of Culpeper.

Holsteins Dominate Manheim Dairy Show

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — The acorn apparently doesn't fall far from the tree in the Brubaker family of Manheim.

Of the four breeds shown at the Manheim Farm Show dairy show, the Holstein breed entries far outnumbered representative entries from other breeds. And of the Holstein entries, the number of animals from the Brubaker clan ran heavy.

Lowell Brubaker and his father Harold, though showing animals from different herds, captured a number of the top Holstein titles in the senior division and the top titles of the breed show. Harold's animals took grand champion and Lowell captured reserve grand champion.

In the Jersey breed, Robyn Groff and Rodney Sweigart fought it out in the limited competition with Robyn's entry taking grand champion and Rodney's taking reserve.

Delaware Valley College Promotes Brown

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — Ms. Susan Brown, has been recently appointed assistant superintendent of the dairy at Delaware Valley College in Doylestown.

In this capacity, Brown will work with the college's dairy major students advising on independent projects and will coach the Dairy Cattle Judging Team this fall.

Brown, formerly of Falmouth, Maine received a bachelor's degree from the University of Maine and for the past 6 years has worked for Wauregan Farms Inc., in Turner, Maine where she was responsible for the health of a herd of 600 cows.

A Trip To Rodale Farm

Every now and then I feel compelled to write about topics other than pigs. Sometimes there are more far-reaching issues that affect all of us in agriculture. Today I want to tell you about my experiences on a recent trip to the Rodale Experimental Farm.

Rodale is a name connected with quite a bit of research in the organic production of crops. Along with other cooperative extension colleagues, I toured the Rodale Experimental Farm, which is located just outside of Allentown, Pennsylvania. Some of what I saw was exciting. Other things scared me.

First, the good news. One part of the tour was viewing small-scale vegetable production using organic methods. We talked with the researcher who is looking into the applications of organic production for vegetable crops. He was objective in his perspective, which engendered confidence in what his results may offer. He explained the different techniques that they plan to evaluate in small-scale demonstrations and in large-scale, commercial trials.

These trials are a way to establish which of the organic techniques could prove effective for commercial use. While the researcher was hopeful that many of the methods would work, he was convinced that only objective, properly designed research trials could prove the effectiveness. Here was an objective scientist who was seeking methods to reduce the use of pesticides and fertilizers in vegetable crop production — not a bad goal for all of agriculture if it proves to be cost-effective and proven by properly designed research.

Now, the bad news. We also toured some of the commercial agronomic crop plots where comparisons were being made between conventionally grown corn, soybeans, and hay crops and that which was organically grown. My major concern about the research trials I viewed was the poor weed control in the conventional plots. Usually, we would call the resulting weed control poor. This control was purportedly an example of "conventional" farming practices.

My colleagues and I told the researcher this was a poor example and asked her what the herbicide program on the soybean plot was. She said she didn't know but claimed it was a standard recommendation from the land-grant institution. She added that no post-emergent chemical had been put on the field. When asked about insect scouting of the field, the researcher indicated that the only pest insects she knew to affect soybeans that were present in the plots were Japanese beetles. When asked about corn earworm in beans, she seemed not to know what we were talkiing about!

We pressed this researcher further, asking again about herbicides, to which she replied she didn't know much about herbicides and had no desire to learn anything about them. Keep in mind, this person conducts research comparing conventionally and organically grown field crops.

Don't get me wrong. We need more research in the areas of reducing or even eliminating our agricultural inputs. All farmers would love to reduce input costs and maintain or improve the net profit from their crop production. But research done in these areas has to be done by professionals who know and understand both conventional and organic growing methods. At the very least, researchers must be objective about the results. Valid trials cannot be carried out by people who have no desire to learn about alternatives to producers they are studying.

We in the American agricultural sector have done an excellent job of producing an abundant and safe source of food for our population. Trends reveal that consumers want fewer chemicals used in the production of their food. Because farmers realize this, they would be willing to adapt to never methods of crop production, especially if it is lower in inputs.

We can't tolerate, however, researchers who are not willing to give the alternatives an objective evaluation. It is commendable that Rodale has initiated a major push into evaluating these alternative methods of production, but at the same time, we must be critical of any research that is not conducted within the parameters of good science.

Livestock Notes

Proper Forage Sampling Techniques

An essential component of formulating balanced rations is knowing the quality of the forages to be used in the ration. Accurately knowing forage quality is the result of accurate forage sampling and testing.

Often forage testing is neglected or forgotten. However, returns from a good forage testing program can average $65/cow/year. Obtaining accurate forage reports depends, to a large extent, on using correct sampling methods on the farm.

The following guidelines have been established for sampling forages. These guidelines will help ensure that your sample is representative of what you are actually feeding.

• Silage - Upright Silos: 1. Sample during filling so that the forage analysis is available for ration balancing when the silo is opened.

2. Take several handfuls from each load as it is being unloaded. Make note of changes from field to field. NOTE: Colored plastic squares can be blown in between loads from different fields or when changes occur within a field. When feeding, the colored plastic will denote a forage change, allowing for ration adjustments if necessary.

3. Composite samples by field (or by parts of field if differences occur within a field). Mix well, subsample, and refrigerate in air-tight plastic bags.

4. Fermented silage should also be tested, occasionally, as it is fed out. Take several grab samples, composite, and refrigerate in an airtight plastic bag.

• Silage Horizontal Silos: 1. Rake the entire surface that is currently being used.

2. Take several grab samples from the raked material. (Enough samples should be taken to get a complete representation).

3. Mix thoroughly and subsample. Seal in airtight plastic bag and refrigerate.

4. In a horizontal silo, determine drymatter biweekly as the moisture content can fluctuate by 5-7 percent.

• Hay: 1. Obtain core samples or pull a handful from center of bale.

2. Sample many bales, to obtain a good cross section.

3. Accurately identify sample as either legume, grass, or mixed hay.

4. Take samples that represent different fields, cuttings, etc.

5. Samples can be taken both when hay is put in and when it is taken out of storage.

• TMR (Total Mixed Rations): 1. TMRs should be sampled once each month.

2. Obtain fresh samples from several feedings.

3. Composite and mix well, place sample in airtight bag, and refrigerate.

4. TMR testing can show errors that may occur during mixing.

How often should forages be tested? To keep rations well balanced, sample and test whenever a change in forages occur. Test a minimum of four times per year. Sample and test haylage more often to check for heat-damaged protein. Test forages anytime a nutritional problem arises.

New Snowblowers From Kubota

COMPTON, Calif. — Kubota Tractor Corporation recently added several new snowblower models to its fleet of snow removal equipment, expanding its already diverse line of consumer and commercial products.

With a wide range of snowblowers, rotary broom attachments, and front dozer blades, Kubota has the equipment to handle anything from light flurries to major squalls.

At the vanguard of Kubota's snow removal equipment are the newest snowblowers, designed to work in conjunction with T-, G-, and B- and L-Series tractors. Two-stage snowblowers come with cutting blades ranging in width from 40-inch - 63-inch. In stage one, the auger grabs snow and ice, feeding it to the high-speed second stage impeller, which then throws it out of the way. A number of safety features are incorporated into the snowblowers as well.

Front-mount heavy duty snowblowers with 51-inch and 63-inch cutting widths are available for several B-Series tractors. Additionally, a commercial rear-mount snowblower is available for the B2150 and the L-Series lineup.

Rotary broom attachments can be used on many of the Kubota tractors for light snow removal. The Kubota PTO shaft-driven rotary broom features 47-inch - 60-inch widths and five different positions. The polypropylene brushes have a two-way angle adjustment. Options include front thatching wheels and wire or poly wire combination bristles.

When it comes to the tougher snow removal jobs, Kubota's front dozer blades can cut it. Manually adjustable to five different angles, front blades range from 42-inch to 60-inch to suit the size of your Kubota tractor as well as the job at hand.

Used individually or as a team, Kubota's snow removal equipment delivers the high dependability and performance that the winter season demands.

Kubota Tractor Corporation markets a complete line of tractors from 10 to 85 PTO horsepower, along with a variety of lawn and garden implements, compact construction equipment, a comprehensive line of consumer power products, and a complete line of turf equipment. For more information about Kubota products, contact Kubota Tractor Corporation, 550 W. Artesia Boulevard, Compton, CA 90220.

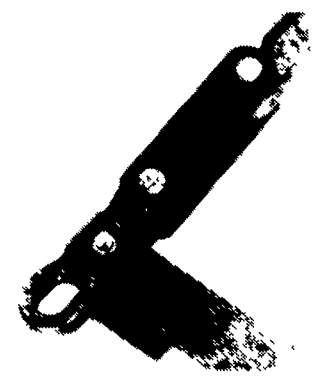
Badger's Barn Cleaner Chain Features Strong Wear

KAUKAUNA, Wis. — A new barn cleaner chain, featuring more strength in critical wear areas for increased durability, is available from Badger Northland Inc.

The "Colossal" barn cleaner chain is designed with heat-treated 1045 steel forgings. The Colossal chain is reinforced with a substantially thicker end section, where chain wear and stress are concentrated. This high-carbon chain also features a longer, straight-trimmed pin bearing area for less resistance and smoother operation when pulling an operation's heaviest loads.

The chain's alloy steel pins are 7/8-inch diameter and feature straight sides for maximum bearing area and a longer heading area for greater riveting strength. In addition, these double swedged pins solidly place rivet shanks in the holes, assuring a full, tight grip and a large capped head when assembled.



The "Colossal" barn cleaner chain is designed with heat-treated 1045 steel forgings. The Colossal chain is reinforced with a substantially thicker end section, where chain wear and stress are concentrated.

For added convenience, wear heels and paddles feature bolt-on attachment and can be replaced simply and economically. The durable wear heels are available in standard, 1-3/4-inch widths or extra large, 3-1/4-inch widths for longer life and reduced wear on gutter bottoms. Paddles are available in two or three inch heights and a variety of lengths depending on the needs of the operation. Side bars are 5/16 inch thick and 1-3/4 inch wide.

The Colossal chain is designed for use with Badger Northland's heavy-duty barn cleaner elevators. For more information, contact Chet Gibbons, Badger Northland Inc., 1215 Hyland Avenue, P.O. Box 1215, Kaukauna, WI 54130-9986, (414) 766-4603.

Gehl Purchases Land In Lebanon Co.

WEST BEND, Wis. — Gehl Company, a leading niche capital goods manufacturer of agricultural and light industrial/construction equipment distributed worldwide, has finalized the purchase of 25 acres of land in Lebanon, Pennsylvania, and secured financing for a new agricultural equipment manufacturing facility.

The company expects to break ground for the facility in mid-November, pending the issuance of a variety of permits, and complete the project in the spring of 1991. The proposed facility would contain approximately 170,000 square feet, compared to the 15,000 square-foot facility it currently leases in Myerstown, Pennsylvania. Gehl Company anticipates that the new plant will generate at least 140 new jobs in addition to retaining the Myerstown work force of 50 people.

The project will be financed with $8.4 million in private placement industrial development bonds issued by the Pennsylvania Economic Development Financing Authority and underwritten by Blunt Ellis & Loewi. The bonds have a 9 percent interest rate and a final maturity of 20 years with repayments commencing in the year 2005.

"Our proposed facility will give us the increased capacity and manufacturing efficiences we need to meet the growing worldwide demand for our agricultural equipment," said Gary L. Blinka, vice president and general manager of Gehl's agricultural division.

He said that Gehl Company evaluated hundreds of sites before selecting the Lebanon County area. "In the final analysis, we chose to keep our new facility in Pennsylvania, just a few miles from our current plant," said Blinka. "Locating in Lebanon allows us to retain our present capable work force in the new facility."

"It has been a long and complex process," said Bernard L. Nielsen, president and chief executive officer, "but we are pleased it is complete, and look forward to a bright future for our new operations in Pennsylvania."

When the plant is completed, it will initially produce Scavenger(R) II manure spreaders, traditional box manure spreaders, running gears, and forage box components. It will operate as a focused factory, which means it will produce products having similar configuration or using common manufacturing processes.

Gehl Company (NASDAQ: GEHL) is headquartered in West Bend, WI, with manufacturing facilities in West Bend, WI; Yankton and Madison, SD; and Myerstown, PA.

Silo Unloader Has 10-Inch Auger

FORT ATKINSON, Wis. — Under a large blue and white tent in the parking lot of J-STAR Industries, Inc. here, the company's Starline Farmstead Equipment dealers got their first look at the new Star-trac SX-10 silo unloader.

The new unloader includes a hefty 10-inch diameter auger, a 26 inch impeller/blower with stainless steel paddles, and a stainless steel wearguard rim sheet. The unloader also has a new collector ring that increases the discharge opening by 47 percent and a new remote override safety equipment control (ROSE switch) as standard equipment.

According to the product literature distributed at the unveiling, the SX-10 units provide more capacity, longer wear, and no increase in price. All Star-trac unloaders feature a big 9-foot diameter drive ring, high-capacity offset tri-arms, and unibody mainframe construction.

Among accessories available are a hexipod that provides secure three-point suspension, an easy-to-operate hand winch with a 52:1 gear ratio, and an automatic winch with a unique "fast raise" capability that moves the unloader up the silo twice as fast as the lowering speed.

For more details, contact Dean Hanke, sales development manager, J-STAR Industries, Inc., 801 Janesville Avenue, Fort Atkinson, WI 53538, (414) 563-5521.

Manheim Dairy Goat Show Continues To Grow

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Although small compared to other shows of other types of livestock at community fairs in southern Pennsylvania, the 2-year-old Manheim Fair Goat Show has continued to attract a dedicated core of enthusiasts.

Tim Grube, chairman of the show, said that despite a lack of a 4-H group to promote and educate young and old about the small milk and meat ruminants, five families in northern and eastern Lancaster County have stayed with the fledgling program and have improved the quality of animals greatly in just one year.

Show judge Richard Stoneback, a veterinarian and goat enthusiast from New Oxford in Chester County, constantly supported Grube's observation about the quality of animals at the Manheim Fair while giving his reasons for placing the animals in their respective orders.

The reserve senior champion doe and reserve best doe of show was an aged doe, Cheri, owned by Mike Hawthorne of Mt. Joy.

PFU Says Floor Needed On Milk Prices

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — After carefully analyzing the declining milk prices being paid to area dairy farmers, the Pennsylvania Farmers Union (PFU) is urging the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) to place a floor under manufacturing milk prices across the United States.

At the National Milk Hearing held in Syracuse, New York on October 5, 1990, PFU urged the USDA to place a $14.00 per cwt floor under the manufactured milk price in all federal milk marketing orders.

PFU had originally submitted four different proposals for consideration at the hearing. The proposals dealt mainly with restructuring the pricing mechanism on Class I and Class II milk.

After observing that prices being paid to dairy were falling way short of expectations, and with the recent news of the declining price level of the M and W price series, PFU believes that immediate action must be taken to prevent further chaotic conditions on dairy farms.

With the announcement on October 5 of the severe drop in the M and W price of 59¢ per cwt, the September M & W is $12.60 per cwt. Also on October 5 the cheese prices dropped 8¢ a pound, which certainly means severe declines in the M & W series price will be forth coming in October and November.

Estimates now are that the manufactured milk prices could go under $12.00 per cwt for the rest of 1990. PFU believes this kind of news clearly illustrates the need for immediate action to "shore-up" milk prices to area dairy farmers. To continue to price milk at the Farm Level in this manner is suicidal at best, according to PFU.

PFU Proposal

1. Establish a $14.00 per cwt price on manufactured milk which would become the basic formula price for all milk regulated by our federal milk marketing orders. (Replace the M & W Series)

2. Adjust the $14.00 price twice a year in relationship with the rate of inflation. We recommend - January 1 and July 1.

3. Immediately increase the transportation differentials in all markets to cover the cost of transportation. Adjust the differentials twice a year.

4. As soon as possible develop a milk pricing formula that reflects the actual average cost of production at the farm level.

5. Urge the USDA to implement the supply-management provisions of the new Farm Bill when it becomes law.

Everyone realizes by now that predicting milk prices is very difficult, according to PFU. They believe the unorthodox prices are unrealistic for dairy farmers, milk handlers and consumers.

Blend Prices Versus Cost Of Production

Blend prices paid to dairy farmers for September, October, and November will fall short of expectations. December blend price could go below $12.50 per cwt or nearly $3.00 per cwt. Under 1989's December price using USDA's cost of production figures for the Northeast during 1988, and applying a 4 percent inflation factor for 1989 and a 6 percent factor for 1990, PFU finds the following:

North East Cost of Production

1988 — $12.92
1989 — $13.44
1990 — $14.24

Federal Order #2 Average Blend Price

1988 —	$11.87	$1.05
1989 —	$13.10	$ .34
1990 —	$13.75	$ .49

These cost of production figures do not allow anything for management and/or profit. As dairy farmers enter 1991, the cost of production factor versus the actual paid blend price will widen even further and by May of 1991 actual blend prices could be down to the 1979 level.

Immediate action must be taken to prevent any further erosion of milk prices said PFU. They believe premiums in many areas are declining dramatically, when in fact these premiums should be escalating to help compensate dairy farmers for the drop in actual market order prices.

Stanford Forms HYTEST Seeds

BUFFALO, N.Y.— Stanford Holdings, Ltd, formerly The Stanford Seed Co., Buffalo, NY, proudly announces the formation of HYTEST SEEDS, INC.

Joe Butwin, newly appointed President of HYTEST SEEDS, INC., said that although the company is new, the name HYTEST has been a brand name sold by Stanford Seed for the past 10 years. HYTEST products include NCGA-winning corn hybrids and naturally recognized alfalfa varieties such as Allstar, Victory, and Eclipse.

Previously the farm seed division of Stanford Seed, HYTEST personnel and ownership remain the same. Butwin said, "It's the same company the farmer has known since 1912, selling products specifically bred for the eastern United States."

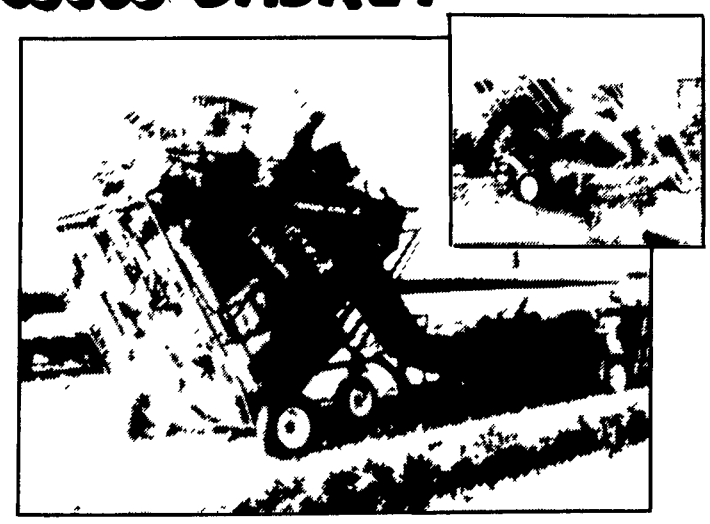
ONE OF A KIND IN ITS FIELD

HAY BASKET

THE PRACTICAL WAY TO HANDLE SQUARE BALES FROM THE FIELD TO THE BARN.



ADVANTAGES OF "HAYBASKET"

- Reduces baling time by up to one-half since you can unload at the barn with the flip of a lever.
- Reduce the number of broken bales caused by a bale thrower.
- Eliminate maintenance cost of a kick/thrower.
- If you presently are not using a kicker or need a new baler, eliminate the entire cost of a kicker.
- Eliminate the aggravation and back breaking labor of unloading tangled, wedged bales from a slippery floor three feet off the ground.
- Replace three hay wagons with two haybaskets since unloading time is so fast.
- Eliminate the "Swaying" problem with 4 wheel wagons on the road. Increase transport speed
- The Haybasket acts like a "Two-Wheel" Trailer. Since the front wheel casters, it is easy to maneuver.
- The Haybasket is priced close enough to a new kicker wagon that it is very affordable.

QUESTIONS MOST FREQUENTLY ASKED.

• HOW MANY BALES DOES IT HOLD?
The Haybasket will hold from 95-100 full size bales.

• WHAT ABOUT CORNERS?
Owners report that they can follow average raked corners with no problem. One owner said he can make a 90 degree turn.

• WHAT ABOUT HILLS?
With a 10' Wheelbase and a very low center of gravity the haybasket is much more stable on hillsides than a wagon with a 72" treadwidth and high center of gravity.

Hey! Folks

If your cows are slipping and falling, it ain't my fault because I have a machine called a Scabbler that will fix that concrete so your cows won't keep slipping all the time.

We've got service all around this section of the country, and I have a fellow just jumping to do your job mighty fast.

And that ain't all, our prices are right reasonable, and if you're a tightwad we'll let you do the job yourself if you've got over 500 square feet. It can save you right smart a money.

So call me on my nickel at 800-692-0123. If I'm not by the phone, some real live person will take your number, and I'll try to get back to you real soon. Usually somebody is awake in this outfit, so you just call any time day or night. But, please mind the Lord, and don't call on Sunday.

Just one more thing. We fellows make our living doing this kind of work, and we've got children to feed and bills. That's our side of it, but you've got such things too. A lot of people tell us that this Scabbling saves a whole lot more than it costs. So go ahead and do it. It'll put shoes on everybody's feet.

Beaver Community Fair Livestock Show, Sale Benefits Youth

Of the additional animals sold, a 72-pound market lamb was donated by county youth Matt, Jenny and Luke Zerby to raise money for a Beaver Fair Building Fund.

The lamb sold six times among the buyers and was eventually donated back to the youth. The animal multuple selling lamb raised $496.80 for the building fund.

The county youth livestock program also got a boost of support from Mifflinburg radio station WWBE, whose owners donated the proceeds from the sale of a mascot lamb B-98 Bee for $50. Etzler's Butcher Shop bought the mascot.

The reserve champion lamb was shown by Jenny Zerby, weighed 100 pounds and sold for $1.75 per pound.

The grand champion market hog was shown by Terri Tucker and weighed 235 pounds. It sold for $1.80 per pound. The reserve champion hog, also shown by Tucker, weighed 240 pounds and brought $1.45 per pound.

In the open and junior breeding sheep show, the Zerby family made a name for itself by showing animals that captured most of the champion and reserve champion titles. A yearling Dorset shown by Jenny Zerby was named supreme champion ewe.

The sheep and livestock shows were judged by Darlene and Bob Livingston from South Branch Farm in Seven Valleys, York County.

There were 27 buyers for the livestock sale.

From the left, Dr. Grant Stuff and his son, of Kish Vet Service, buy the reserve champion market lamb of the Beaver Community Fair from exhibitor Jenny Zerby

Shepherds Compete In Special Events

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

YORK (York Co.) — In addition to the usual competition of market lambs and breeding sheep, 4-H members at the York Fair turned out for a variety of events testing their shepherding skills, showmanship, fitting and even their imagination.

The blocking and grooming contest saw 39 head of off-the-pasture sheep matched with 4-H members who had one hour to fit them to show readiness. Amy Dutrey, Dallastown, finished with champion honors, after taking first place in the senior age group. Second in the seniors was Jean Sherry, Thomasville, while R.J. Sherry, thomasville, placed third.

Matt Sellers won the intermediate age grouping, then earned the judge's nod for reserve champion overall. Second intermediate was Cindy Dehoff, Glen Rock, with Dave Olson, East Berlin, third. First place junior group award went to Holly Gohn, Thomasville, with Julie Kern, York, second, and Rebecca Emmett, Wellsville, taking third honors.

Amy Dturey repeated her winning ways in the shepherd's bred and owned class, claiming senior division and grand champion honors. In the second senior and reserve champion place was Mike Klinedinst, Stewartstown. Third in the senior age group was David Myers, Wellsville.

Amy Dutrey repeated her winning ways in the shepherd's bred and owned class, claining senior division and grand champion honors. In the second senior and reserve champion place was Mike Klinedinst, Stewartstown. Third in the senior age group was David Myers, Wellsville.

Intermediate age group was topped by Lisa Dehoff, Glen rock. Second place went to Amy Shaffer, East Berlin, and third to Angie Shaffer, East Berlin.

Topping a junior age group of ten entries was Matt Trostle, Red Lion, with Tabitha Ebersole, York, second, and Drew Bankert, Red Lion, third.

Seniors Greg Bankert, Hanover, and Amy Dutrey shared champion and reserve wins in the fitting-showmanship runoffs. Amy was champion fitter and reserve showman, while Greg claimed champion showman honors and reserve fitter. Mike Klinedinst claimed third in both fitting and showmanship senior division.

Showmanship honors in the intermediate group went to Lisa Dehoff, Glen Rock, first, Amy Shaffer, East Berlin, second, and Vanessa Debnam, Hanover, third. Intermediate fitter winner was Matt Sellers, Thomasville, with Vanessa Debnam, second, and Lisa Dehoff, third.

Junior showmanship went to Matt Trostle, Red Lion, first, Julie Kern, York, second, and Tabitha Ebersole, York, third. In the junior fitting division, Janelle Mancuso, Felton, finished first, over Julie Kern, second, and Matt Trostle, third.

Lead line competition combined stylish wool garments with fine-fit sheep in a lamb-and-owner fashion show. Top sports in the senior age division went to Wendy Debnam, Hanover, first, Jean Sherry, Thomasville, second, and Amy Dutrey, Dallastown, third.

Heather Moyer, Hanover, was first intermediate, over Dave Olson, East Berlin, second, and Drew Bankert, Red Lion, third. Junior division honors were claimed by Meghan Hayes, Red Lion, first, Melissa Mancuso, Felton, second, and Rebecca Emmett, Wellsville, third.

Drawing a standing-room-only crowd was the popular sheep decorator class, with more than 30 lambs and owners putting on a colorful costume parade. Matt Trostle's mutant teenage ninja sheep took the judge's eye as the funniest entry. Second was Jody Dutrey, Dallastown, with a third place to Jamie Reid, Dallastown.

Joshua Stavis, Felton, was named first-place winner in the most unusual category, over Meghan Hayes, Red Lion, second, and Clay McKinney, York, third. Most attractive was Vanessa Debnam, Hanover, topping second-place Heather Bankert, Red Lion, and Julie Kern, York, in third.

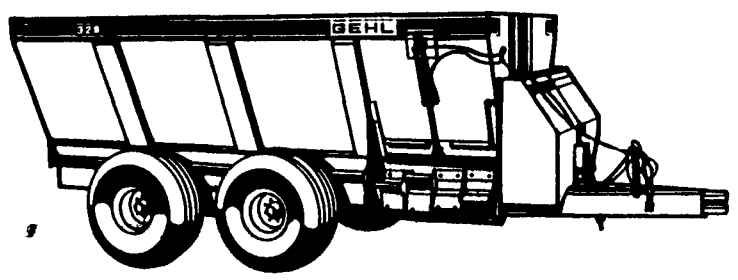
GEHL®



The one spreader for the two spreader farm

Spead liquids, semi-solids, solids, pen-packed, even frozen manure. A Gehl Scavenger® II manure spreader does the work of two spreaders for the price of one. It's built for efficiency, with a heavy-duty square-tube auger that works harder than conventional round augers. The auger powers up and down hydraulically to prevent bridging and cut through winter freeze-ups. Variflo front, right-hand discharge gives you complete application control.

Unbeatable . . . priced right

If you handle mostly solid manure, a Gehl box spreader has the performance features you want at a price you'll appreciate. Features include special Gehl-Tuff flooring that prevents the apron from freezing to the floor and lets manure slide out with little resistance; 12-gauge, corrosion-resistant GEHL STEEL sides for strength and endurance; wide-spread beater paddles for wide, even spreads; constant velocity pto; and a standard two-speed worm drive transmission. Add a 10-year warranty on the floor and sides and you have an unbeatable package available only from your Gehl dealer.

SPECIAL FINANCING OPTIONS ON GEHL MANURE SPREADERS

For a limited time only, Gehl Finance is offering special Waiver of Finance Charge AND/OR Low APR programs. Choose from one of these options only:

Md. 4-H Judging Puts Skills To Use

EVA MARTIN
Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, Md.— The Maryland 4-H Judging Contest Awards Program is an exciting time.

The 4-Hers work hard from 8 p.m. until 3 p.m. in judging the classes of animals. During the contest, they are not permitted to communicate with each other or anyone but the superintendent.

Concentrating on each class, they put to use the knowledge their coaches have taught them during several months in practice. Then the waiting as individual placings are computed.

Emotions run high as the announcer says, "We're ready." There is clapping, cheers, cow bells ringing, cameras flashing, and parents beaming with pride as each individual or team is called to the platform to receive their award for a job well done.

The 10 individuals scoring highest in the senior divisions remain at the fair for two days of coaching and practice. From these 10, four individuals are chosen according to their five highest average scores to represent Maryland at the national contests.

The four contestants chosen to represent Maryland at the National Dairy Judging Contest in Madison, WI are Amy Brown, Mike Conner, Blair Hill, and Chip Long.

In addition, four other contestants, Chip Savage, Tanya Iager, Shannon Harrison, and Lenny Pieper, were chosen to represent Maryland at the North American International Livestock Expo in Louisville, KY. Dr. and Mrs. Lee Majeskie and William Schnebly will be their coaches.

Following is a list of show placings.

Penn State Extension Sheep Specialist

FORAGE- OR GRAIN-FED LAMBS FOR THE MARKETPLACE?

Finding an answer to this question might be the highlight for many sheep producers attending the upcoming Shepherds' Symposium, December 7, 8, and 9, in Lancaster, Pennsylvania.

To address this important topic as panel members we have Dr. Paul Lynch, ruminant research scientist at USDA/ARS, Beltsville, Maryland; Dr. Curt Terry, director, lamb marketing, American Sheep Industry Council, Denver; and Michelle Davia, Vermont Country Lamb, Inc., Orwell, Vermont.

Sheep health, breeding, and management sessions will focus on the latest strategies for making a more profitable sheep enterprise. Updated research and treatment information on mastitis in ewes and the BSE/Scrapie issue will be discussed by Dr. Robert Smith, Penn State University veterinarian.

"How to Earn a Living Entirely From Sheep" will be a topic presented by a fellow sheep producer, Peter Wood of Blanchardville, Wisconsin. Wood and his family have developed specific forage/animal production systems and successful marketing skills that make a small farm/flock sheep enterprise a paying proposition.

The Penn State University forage analysis van will be at the symposium again this year on December 7 and 8. To supplement this year's forage analysis program, we will have a workshop session on how to interpret and use the feed analysis report in your lamb and/or winter ewe feeding program.

Plan now to bring your forage and/or grain supplement for analysis. Cost will be $8/sample — an investment that may save you many, many times that in winter feed costs.

Symposium brochures are available by calling your local county extension office or the Penn State Conference and Short Course Office at (814) 865-8301. Registration deadline for price reductions is November 7, 1990.

Buy Another Antifreeze And You'll Pay For It Later.

PARTS VALUE OF THE MONTH

When you get right down to it, price has little to do with how much an antifreeze will actually cost you. When you use one that hasn't been specifically formulated for heavy duty diesel engines, you can cause expensive engine problems. For example, modern diesel engines contain cast iron replacement cylinders that are susceptible to an accelerated form of corrosion/erosion called liner pitting. When this occurs, small holes form in the liner, weakening it and allowing coolant to flood the cylinder, which is an expensive and time-consuming repair. Fortunately, Compleat™ Premixed contains DCA4, which creates a protective coating on the liner that prevents pitting. It's also premixed, so there's no guessing about quantities, levels or water quality.

With Compleat,™ you'll get the exact balance of chemicals — with no duplications or omissions — for maximum protection against corrosions, scale, solder bloom and other cooling system problems.

Available in bulk quantities.

PUBLIC AUCTION
OF 8 ACRE FARMETTE
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1990
- 1:00 P.M.

LOCATION: In South Annville Township. Take Route 422 west in Annville to Mt. Pleasant Road, turn south on Mt. Pleasant Road and drive .6 of a mile to auction. First farm on the left on the corner of Mt. Pleasant Road and Reigert's Lane. Watch for signs.

Real Estate consists of a beautiful 1853-2½ story brick farm house restored by noted Reading Architect, Miles K. Dechant. Attached to the house is a remodeled summer house with a large fireplace that burns up to a 6' log. The summer house with its ample book shelves and storage spaces would make a very nice study.

The downstairs consists of a kitchen-dining room, large living room with fireplace with glass doors and a half bath. The living room and summer house both have exposed beams in the ceiling.

The house is heated by oil hot water with summer/winter hook up with 2 zone heating. The furnace is only one year old. The home also has a 200 amp service system and has its own well and septic system. Other features of the house are, a stone patio off of the summer house, cement patio off of the kitchen, a nice back porch, a good slate roof, storm windows throughout and all the outside wood was repainted this year.

The 2 story frame and log barn with a 2 car garage is in good condition.

The well manicured yard has beautiful flower gardens and mature shrubbery. This property has an added feature with an orchard of peach, pear, apple and apricot trees. There is a garden which has asparagus, strawberries and raspberries growing in it at the present time.

Terms of the auction is 10% down on day of auction by certified check or letter of credit from your bank. Balance due in 60 days. For inspection of the property phone (717) 867-2084.

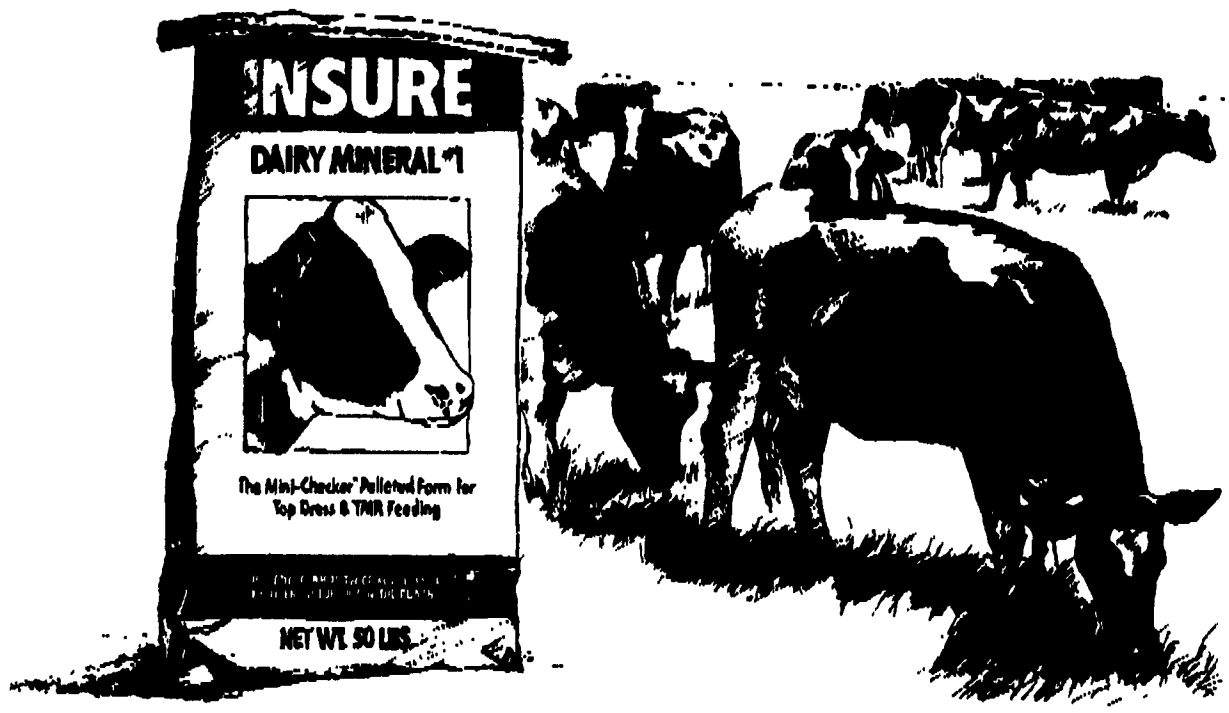
Registered & Grades - All Sizes



If you've been looking everywhere for a completely uniform and consistent dairy mineral, look no further. We've got it. It's called INSURE® Dairy Mineral and it's from your friends at Purina Mills.

- Each Mini-Checker® pellet of INSURE contains the same ratio of dairy minerals.
- Every cow in your herd gets the same mineral dose — in every bite and in every bag.
- INSURE eliminates most ingredient separation problems.
- INSURE is easier to use.
- INSURE is twice as palatable as other dairy minerals, so palatable, we recommend against feeding it free-choice.
- INSURE is designed for top dress & TMR feeding.

INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Stop by and ask us about INSURE® Dairy Mineral. And for a limited time, when you buy four bags of INSURE, we'll give you the fifth bag FREE! Just fill out the attached coupon. But don't wait too long. The offer expires Nov. 30, 1990
